GHOUSE DRIVES LIES BATTLE TO APOLOGIES JAM

Telegram to Fess Orders Recantation on Threat of Publicity.

OHIOAN GIVES REPLY IN PRESS MESSAGE

Democrat Is Called Upon to Make Humble Amends for False Statements.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

The word battle between Senator Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, chairman of the Republican national committee, and Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, went into the third round last night. And, as they say in pugilistic circles, the third round ended with both men dancing in the middle of the ring.

Mr. Shouse, indignant because Senator Fess, citing an article in a San Francisco newspaper, misquoted him, and because Fess accused him of trying to inject the religious issue into the 1932 campaign, demanded that the Ohioan make an apology.

Senator Fess last night countered by demanding that Mr. Shouse make a "very humble apology to the country at large for your contemptible methods and your utterly false statements.'

Battle Confuses Public.

To the public at large, this battle by now must be very confusing indeed. So far as Washington itself is concerned, it began last Wednesday when Senator Fess issued a statement in which he charged that Mr. Shouse, in a speech at San Francisco, had told a "deliberate lie."

Quoting the San Francisco Chronicle, Senator Fess alleged that Mr. Shouse, not knowing that the radio had been cut off, told his audience that the Republican national committee, for purposes of propaganda, had bought 10,000,000 copies of a magazine containing an article by Robert Cruise McManus—an article which attacked Chairman Raskob "on religious, political and other grounds." This, as has been said, Senator Fess branded as a "deliberate lie."

The next day (Thursday) Mr. Shouse assailed Senator Fess for his use of the "short and ugly word," and said that the Ohioan's allegation was "wholly without foundation of fact." As for Robert Cruise McManus, he said, he had never even heard of him.

Apology Is Demanded.

On top of this, it was revealed last night, Mr. Shouse sent a telegram to Senator Fess demanding an apology. Unless he got one, he said, he would make his telegram public on the night of April 27, which was last night.

Senator Fess forestalled Mr. Shouse by making public not only his telegram, but one he had sent in reply thereto.

Mr. Shouse in his telegram denied that he was making a "confidential" statement when he talked to the San Francisco audience, as had been alleged by Senator Fess, and pointed out that the San Francisco Chronicle had admitted that a mistake was made when it quoted him as saying that the Republican national committee had bought copies of a magazine article by Robert Cruise McManus. The name, so the Chronicle stated, according to Mr. Shouse, should have been Frank Kent.

News Letter Cited.

Mr. Shouse called attention to a news letter that had been sent out by the Republican national committee, the headline of which read as follows:

"Shouse Trapped in Lie by Radio—Democratic Chief Exposed in Plot to Encourage Prejudice—Shouse at

Tilson Offers Self As Speaker in House

Expects to Be Considered for Post; to Confer With Hoover.

(Associated Press.)

Representative Tilson said yesterday he expected to be considered for Speaker of the House to succeed Nicholas Longworth.

The Connecticut Republican withheld formal announcement of his candidacy, but said:

"Having served in the House for twenty years, I know that its members will exercise their fair and honest judgment with regard to the Speakership. Having been elected majority leader four times, I should naturally expect that I should be considered."

His statement was received by his colleagues as tantamount to an announcement. Chairman Snell, of the rules committee, also is considered a candidate. Mr. Tilson expressed the opinion Republicans would organize the next House.

Mr. Tilson and Mr. Snell have stood out prominently among possible contenders for the Speakership because of their positions in past organizations. With Speaker Longworth they composed the powerful "triumvirate" that ruled the House from the date Mr. Longworth took the chair.

REPRESENTATIVE JOHN Q. TILSON.

Mr. Tilson made it plain he would not make an active campaign and did not intend to establish "headquarters." Before returning home within a few days he will confer with President Hoover.

Mr. Tilson already has been renominated for floor leader of the next Congress by the Republicans.

POPE DECLARES FASCISTS MUST BOW TO CHURCH

INTERFERENCE WITH RELIGION CRITICIZED

Asserts Youth Are Exposed to Hate and Irreverence; Hits Girl Athletes.

Vatican City, April 7 (A.P.).—Pope Pius XI in a letter made public today declares Fascism must "obey the church and its head" if it wishes to be truly Catholic.

Writing to Cardinal Schuster, Archbishop of Milan, in direct reply to an address made by Giovanni Giurati, secretary of the Fascist party, in Milan last Tuesday, the pontiff said:

"Fascism says it is Catholic and wishes to be Catholic. Now in order to be Catholic, not in name only but in deed also; in order to be true, good Catholics, not Catholics of false name and Catholics who in the great family of the church wound the heart of mother church by their manner of speaking and acting and give such a bad example as to drive others away, there is only one indispensable means—to obey the church and its head and to think with the church and its head."

Pope Defended Organization.

The Pope said he felt called upon to reply directly to Signor Giurati because the latter referred to those who had cited the Italo-Vatican concordat in order to justify politically the Azione Cattolica, a church organization with tens of thousands of Italian members.

He was among the first to defend the organization against charges of political activity in that manner, he said, but he had emphasized it was carrying on spiritual and not political work in line with the treaty.

Answering Signor Giuriati's statement that the Azione Cattolica was encroaching on the Fascist state by forming similar groups of employers, employes and professional men, the Pope declared the corporative activity of the body was designed simply to advance its spiritual ends.

This activity necessarily will conflict with the State's corporative meas-

BUTLER HAITIAN INCIDENT NEARS ITS CONCLUSION

Marine Officer's Record Cleared by Pounds of U. S. Evidence.

NO APOLOGY SOUGHT IN NOTE OF PROTEST

Everybody Believed Satisfied That Fort Riviere Was Really Captured.

The Butler-Bellegarde "incident" is just about over, it appeared last night. This is why:

In protesting against a statement attributed to Minister Dantes Bellegarde, of Haiti, to the effect that Fort Riviere never existed, Gen. Butler did not demand an apology. He merely asked that his record with regard to Fort Riviere be cleared.

This has been done. The Navy Department and the Marine Corps have produced pounds and pounds of evidence to show that there was a Fort Riviere and that Gen. Butler (then Maj. Butler) did, in fact, capture it.

All Doubt Is Removed.

Nobody doubts it now—not even Dantes Bellegarde, the Minister from Haiti.

In a statement Saturday, Minister Bellegarde said that a reporter of the Washington Herald had misrepresented him. In his statement of Saturday, the minister declared that he did not mean to say that there never was such a fort as Fort Riviere. All that he meant to convey to the reporter, he said, was that he had never seen such a fort; that he had never hear of such a fort from a Haitian, and that he had never read about it or had ever known of any other Haitian who had ever read about it in a Haitian publication.

That, it can be said on the authority of the minister himself, is what he will tell the State Department in the event he is asked for an explanation.

Butler Captured Fort.

Taking that explanation into consideration, and taking into consideration the fact that every newspaper in the country has shown conclusively that Smedley Butler did capture Fort Riviere, and taking into consideration the further fact that all that Gen. Butler wanted was a clear-

GRAND JURY WILL GET GRAFT CHARGE BARED BY DOUTHITT ASSAULT

Realty Man Ends Life By Gas as Wife Shops

E. G. Perry Is Found Asphyxiated in Home; Cause Unknown.

Leaving a note warning that there was gas in the house, dward Godey Perry, 47 years old, former manager of the rental department of the F. H. Smith Co. and partner in a real estate firm, yesterday committed suicide in his home on Lowell street near Thirty-sixth street northwest.

He was found in the kitchen of the house by his wife, Mrs. Anna Perry, when she returned from a shopping expedition. Burners on a gas stove were open. On the front door was pinned a note, "Look out for gas. Break glass in back door and window before coming in here." Disregarding the warning, she entered and traced the odor of gas to the kitchen, where the man was found.

Police and the fire rescue squad were called, but the man was pronounced dead by Dr. V. A. Ainone, of Mount Alto Hospital. After an investigation the coroner issued a certificate of suicide, although he left no explanation and his office said he was in good spirits this morning.

A daughter of the couple had returned home from school earlier and found the door locked, but failed to see the note. She went to the home of a friend.

After the failure of the Smith company, the rental department continued under the name of King, Perry & Cummings, Inc., Perry being the vice president. About a month ago he resigned and set up his own office. Mr. Perry was also secretary of the W. H. West Co. for a time after the failure of the Smith company.

$3,000 Monthly 'Ice Bill' in First Precinct Is Alleged.

GAMING PROTECTION HEARSAY IS PROBED

Victim Denies He Blamed Attack on Thugs Hired by Policemen.

The District grand jury will be asked to investigate the reputed existence of an "ice bill" in the First Precinct, which Harry N. Douthitt, self-delegated vice crusader, says is used to "keep things cool" for the gamblers who, he believes, are responsible for an assault upon him.

Under an interrogation by Inspector William S. Shelby, Douthitt, who is in Casualty Hospital suffering from a possible fracture of the skull, denied that he had attributed the attack to thugs imported by police.

Douthitt blames his injuries as penalty for his "scathing denunciation of conditions in the First Precinct." He disclaims knowledge of the identity of his assailants.

District Attorney Leo A. Rover entered the case yesterday when he heard of reports that Douthitt claimed the police engineered the assault upon him. Assistant District Attorney William H. Collins questioned Douthitt, and he denied the accusation.

Information Is Hearsay.

All the information that Inspector Shelby and Capt. Edward J. Kelly could elicit from Douthitt was a mass of hearsay, innuendoes and insinuations, without any tangible lead from which they could proceed.

In spite of the variance of Douthitt's stories he has not convinced the detectives that he does not know the names of his assailants or why he was assaulted.

Douthitt, the publisher of the magazine Juecoat, unofficial organ of the Police Department, gave Inspector Shelby and Capt. Kelly the name "Andrews," which he said is the name of a man who assaulted him Saturday night when he refused to become interested in an insurance agency.

"Do you believe that this man Andrews attacked you at the instance of police?" asked Inspector Shelby.

Foes in First Precinct.

"Why do you think you were attacked?"

"I have only a few enemies, all of whom are in the First Precinct." Here Douthitt named two ranking officers of the precinct and three gamblers.

"Have you any evidence of these officers having obtained 'hush' money?"

"No."

"Do you confirm published reports that you believe that cop thugs provoked this attack, that the attack was engineered by police in connivance with 'big shots' of the gambling fraternity, that you were 'put on the spot' by gunmen imported here, that there are 60 gambling places in the First Precinct that pay $5,000 hush money, and that the police officials are 'in' on it?"

"No."

Gambler Is Quoted.

"Douthitt," Inspector Shelby emphasized, "if you have any evidence that any policemen of the First Precinct or any other man in the Department have been receiving hush money, we want to know it, no matter whom it hurts."

"All I know is what I heard. I was at Police Headquarters when I saw a gambler, who told me that Lieut. —— and Sergt. —— came into his place and shook him down for $50."

Records at Police Headquarters show that the man named by Douthitt was arrested on a charge of permitting gaming and about $30 was confiscated in the raid.

"What else did he say?"

"He said that the gamblers could run as long as they paid the 'ice bill.'"

"How much is this 'ice bill?'"

"About $3,000 a month."

"What is an 'ice bill?'"

"A bill for keeping things cool."

No Names Given.

"Did he give you the names of any one who was contributing to this 'ice bill?'"

"No, he said that a fellow wanted to open a handbook on I street and he paid $50 a week to a gambler for the ice bill. Then he opened a place

COL. ROBERT EWING, PUBLISHER, DIES

Heart Attack Is Fatal to Prominent Democrat in New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., April 27 (A.P.).—Col. Robert Ewing, publisher of the New Orleans States and three other Louisiana newspapers and Democratic national committeeman from Louisiana, died here tonight of heart disease.

Col. Ewing was 73 years old. Death came just before 8 p. m. at his residence, where he had been attended for the past few days by a physician and a nurse. The publisher had spent much time lately at his summer home at Pass Christian, Miss., recuperating from an illness of several years. He had just returned from New York City, where he attended meetings of the American Publishers Association and the Associated Press.

Col. Ewing was publisher of the States, the Shreveport Times, the Monroe Morning World and the Monroe News-Star.

Downtown Capital Is Rocked by Blast

One Person Is Hurt When Tops of 7 Man Holes Are Brown Off.

Downtown Washington was rocked by a blast resembling an earthquake last night when the tops of seven manholes were blown off, ostensibly by collected gases, in the neighborhood of the White House and the Treasury.

The explosion occurred at the intersection of Pennsylvania avenue and Fifteenth street, and on Executive avenue by the lower east gate of the White House grounds. The sidewalk at the southeast corner of the Treasury Building was blown out of place.

Marjorie L. Long, 705 Eighteenth street northwest, was hurt when a missile hit her on the cheek as she sat in a parked car. Pedestrians who were passing had miraculous escapes from serious injury. The tops of several of the mains were blown 25 feet in the air.

PATMAN WILL MOVE TO IMPEACH MELLON

Texas Representative Says Treasury Secretary Holds Office Illegally.

Austin, Tex., April 27 (A.P.).—Wright Patman, (Democratic), Texas representative, said today he would ask the impeachment of Andrew Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, on the first day of the new Congress which will convene in December. A resolution calling for impeachment would be predicated on the allegation Mr. Mellon was holding office in violation of the law, Representative Patman said.

Mr Patman charged Mr. Mellon was interested in the "business of trade or commerce," and was a part owner of one or more seagoing vessels. The law forbids such a person from serving as Secretary of the Treasury and makes him subject to impeachment, Mr. Patman said.

"Mr. Mellon has admitted over his signature that he and his brothers own the Gulf Oil Co., the Aluminum Co., the Standard Steel Co. and their subsidiaries," Mr. Patman charged. "He therefore is interested in trade or commerce and the first two of these companies own seagoing vessels."

The representative stated impeachment would be the only way to oust Mr. Mellon, because President Hoover intended to refuse to submit his name to the Senate again for confirmation. President Hoover was declared to have cited precedent to show Mr. Mellon can continue to hold office without additional confirmation.

Mr. Patman predicted he would get considerable support for his resolution "from the friends of the war veterans and from those who want to see prosperity restored."

At the time of consideration of soldiers' bonus legislation, enacted by the last Congress over the President's veto, Mr. Mellon cited figures to show the act would seriously impair the financial condition of the Treasury.

Mr. Patman was active in support of that legislation. He also charged that the Treasury Secretary contributed to the depression through withdrawal of money from circulation.

In addition to his activities in securing the recent soldiers' bonus loan legislation, the Texan anounced several days ago that he would introduce a bill at the next session of Congress providing for the payment of veterans' insurance policies at face value.

Letter Threatens To Blow Up Home

Mrs. Fred Leiter Receives Demand for Money in Hagerstown.

Special to The Washington Post.

Hagerstown, Md., April 27.—A letter demanding $1,500 in cash was received by Mrs. Fred L. Leiter, wife of a member of the firm of Leiter Brothers. An effort to trap the letter writer failed last night, the machine which police believe carried the writer outdistancing the cars of the police.

The letter addressed to Mrs. Leiter, follows in part: "We are sorry to disturb you but we need the money. Will you bring $1,500 out the Cearfoss pike from Salem avenue. We will follow you in an automobile and when we toot the signal, throw the money in a paper bag to your left and keep on going. Come by yourself and don't tell any one. If you don't come we will blow your house all to hell. Signed, The Three Unemployed."

Cumberland Girl And Boy Kidnaped

Woman Aiding Is Believed Mother of Minors She Once Abandoned.

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., April 27.—State, county and city officers have spread a net in the hope of catching kidnapers who took away two school pupils, a boy, 9, and a girl, 7, foster children of Mrs. Chester F. Woy, at noon here today. A man and woman, occupying a coupe with Ohio license, forced the children into a car while they were on their way to school and, despite protests and screams, drove away.

The woman who aided in the abduction, police believe, was Mrs. C. K. Fitch, of Elyria, Ohio, mother of the children. Mrs. Fitch has been away from Cumberland for some years and Mrs. Woy said she had raised the children from infancy after Mrs. Fitch had abandoned them at the Woy home.

BERENGUER JAILED BY SPANISH REGIME

Former Premier Accused of Abuse of Authority and Rebels' Execution.

Madrid, April 27 (U.P.).—Gen. Damaso Berenguer, former premier and war minister in the last monarchical cabinet, was confined in the military prison tonight.

The order for his imprisonment was issued by the supreme council of war and marine affairs. Gen. Berenguer went to jail at 9 p. m. He is charged with abuse of authority and of connection with executions of rebels against the monarchy at Huesca.

On being notified that the order for his arrest had been issued, Gen. Berenguer immediately presented himself at the military prison and was received by Col. Segundo Garcia. He was assigned to cell No. 1, which had been occupied by other generals arrested during dictatorships of the monarchy. No special vigilance was exercised and the door of his cell was not locked. His relatives and friends are allowed to visit him.

Gen. Francisco Franco, counsel for Berenguer, is expected to ask for the provisional release of his client.

The former premier served in the dictatorship under the late Gen Primo de Rivera. When de Rivera's regime fell, a year ago last January, Berenguer succeeded him as premier, and conducted a dictatorial regime until early this year.

He was succeeded by another monarchical cabinet and accepted the portfolio as minister of war in that ministry. It was removed when Spain, in municipal elections last month, voted overwhelmingly for Republican candidates, and Alfonso XIII went into exile.

The republican government headed by Niceto Alcala Zamora has indicated that it intends to investigate the dictatorships which have ruled the country since 1923 and to hold

SNOWDEN PRESENTS BUDGET, IS CHEERED

Chancellor Applauded on Proposal to Finance by Taxing Lands.

London, April 27 (A.P.).—A deep-throated Laborite shouting "God gave the land to the people," a line from an old English political song, sounded the keynote of the British national budget which Chancellor Philip Snowden introduced in Parliament today.

Pale and wan from his recetn illness and operation, but with a tired smile on his face, Mr. Snowden received tumultuous cheers from all parties as he hobbled into the House of Commons. Leaning heavily on his canes, necessitated by an accident during his youth, he made his way along the narrow aisle to a seat next to Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald. His appearance added a touch of pathos to the theatrical atmosphere of the densely packed chamber.

The unfolding of the budget's secrets in the chancellor's incisive manner proved to be in the nature of an anticlimax as far as new taxation was concerned, but were of far-reaching importance in relation to the future taxation on British land values.

"The Snowden plan is to tax British land values on the basis of a penny to the pound on capital valuation. It calls for two years of preliminary preparation in revaluation of the nation's acreage, and so could not be put in effect for at least two years."

Chancellor Snowden sudgeted for the financial year 1931-132 an estimated expenditure of £803,366,000 (about $4,016,830,000), and calculated the revenue at £803,500,000 (about $4,017,500,000). He imposed only one increase in taxation on the British public—an additional two pence a gallon on gasoline, making a total tax

Funds for Campaigns To Enter in Hearing

Senate Group on Corrupt Practices Act to Ask Witnesses if U. S. Should Provide Sums for Federal Office Races.

(Associated Press.)

Whether the Government should provide all or part of campaign funds of candidates or political organizations backing nominees for Federal office will be one of a series of nine questions put to witnesses before the Senate campaign funds committee at hearings May 4 and 5 on proposed revisino of the corrupt practices act.

Another question will be whether the Government should issue an election bulletin in which candidates or political organizations may be accorded equal space to present their claims for support.

Chairman Nye made pubic the list yesterday along with the names of eight witnesse, mostly college professors.

Those who will appear are Profs. Charles E. Merriam, University of Chicago; James K. Pollick, jr., Michigan; Charles A. Beard, formerly of Columbia; Earl A. Sikes, Dartmouth; Louise Overacker, Wellesley; William Draper Lewis, American Law Institute, and Albert S. Bard, vice president of the Honest Ballot Association, of New York; Thomas J. Walker, Pennsylvania Election Association, and Perry Belmont, financier, of New York and Washington.

Other questions to be asked the witnesses are:

"Should the Congress undertake the enactment of a comprehensive corrupt practices act or should it limit itself to the control of campaign contributions and expenditures?

"In view of the devision of the Supreme Court in the Newberry case, has Congress the power to legislate with reference to primary elections? If so, in what form and under what constitutional authority should such legislation preferably be drafted?

"Has Congress the power to legislate with reference to the election of the President and Vice President of the United States? If so, in what form and under what constitutional authority should such legislation preferably be drafted?

"If a definite limitation is to be placed upon campaign expenditures, whta formula should be applied to give due weight to differences among the States as regards area and population?

"Should the limitation of campaign expenditures be inclusive of all items, or should such expenditures as printing, postage, traveling expenses, &c., be unrestricted?

"By what method may the expenditures alleged to have been made on

Daughters of 1812 Pay Off Mortgage on Headquarters

President and Mrs. Hoover Receive Delegates; Society Tonight Will Present Gold Medals to Mothers of Byrd and MacArthur.

The second day of the thirty-ninth annual associate council of the National Society of the Daughters of 1812 proved to be a red-letter day in the history of the national organization.

Announcement was made at last night's session, held at the Willard Hotel that the mortgage on the national headquarters building, 1416 Rhode Island avenue northwest, was paid off "to the last cent" yesterday by the Robert Fulton Chapter of the Daughters, of Lancaster, Pa., the transaction being handled by the president of that State's organization, Mrs. Harper D. Sheppard.

Late yesterday afternoon the President and Mrs. Hoover received the delegates in a formal reception in the blue room at the White House, the reception following a tea at the national headquarters building, where the mortgage announcement was made.

Impressive and significant ceremonies will take place tonight, when the daughters present gold medals "in recognition of motherhood" to Mrs. Eleanor Bolling Flood Byrd and Mrs. Mary P. Hardy MacArthut, the moth-

Calvin Coolidge Says:

It will do no harm to emphasize the duty of the United States to protect its citizens in Nicaragua or any foreign country. The practical question is always how that duty can best be discharged. Those who know Col. Henry L. Stimson and his book on American policy in Nicaragua know he would not remain Secretary of State if he felt he was being restrained in giving suitable protection.

Perhaps some of his expressions have not been happily phrased nor correctly expressed his intentions. But what he does is important. In the present season it may not be bad judgment nor dereliction of duty to ask a few people to come to the shore where they can be protected while native forces attempt to rid the interior of banditry.

We have helped Nicaragua establish government, hold two elections and organize a military force. We want her to walk alone, not always lean on us. Her government should deal with bandits. We have not set up a protectorate, but in a neighborly way tried to help Nicaragua provide her own law and order. Meantime the demand for the protection of our citizens abroad is a wholesome expression of public opinion.

Gridiron Fete Depicts Fight To Rescue Leaking Dry Ship

Mirth Holds Reins as Wickersham, Pess, Robinson, Raskob and Others Are Placed on Boat; Coolidge Wins Nobel Prize as Writer.

A demand for a smile was made the keynote of the spring dinner at the Willard of the Gridiron Club last night, as the Glee Club showed President Hoover and his Cabinet how it would deal with the issues harassing the administration.

The club refused to take a serious or pessimistic view of the business and economic future, but President Hoover, however, was not permitted to labor under any illusions concerning the political outlook. The newly elected president of the club, Jay G. Hayden, said:

"The relative calm we are now experiencing may be only the sultry stillness that precedes the storm. Not later than next December the tom-toms will resume their beating on the national ear drums and their din will make the turmoil of recent months seem as but a passing zephyr."

Drought relief, economic conditions, the Russian problem, the Farm Board's vicissitudes, chain newspapers, prohibition, what to do with the Virgin Islands, indiscreet speeches of Marine officers, party irregularity, Democratic dissension and the political hurdles ahead of the administration all came in for their share of attention in pointed skits by Gridiron members.

The good ship Prohibition was depicted as driven by fierce gales and plunging through heavy seas attempting to make port in 1932. The Ancient Mariner, George W. Wickersham was at the wheel.

All of the lights were suddenly extinguished in the banquet hall. "It's a dirty night on the political deep," a voice from the darkness recited. "That battered and belabored ship, the Eighteenth Amendment, is swept by gales and racked by storms. What will be her fate as she plunges through the heavy political seas, trying to make harbor in 1932 with the on Fourteenth street. One day two policemen came there and told him to put his coat on and bring $50 with him. He told them that he was paying into the gambler and they let him go."

"Have you the name of any policeman who took any hush money?"

"No."

"Have you any personal knowledge of any policeman taking money?"

"No."

Inspector Shelby and Capt. Kelly sought ineffectually to get some definite information from Douthitt of any instance where policemen had taken money, but he denied knowledge of any direct evidence.

Gambler Is Questioned.

The man who was alluded to by Douthitt as the source of his information of the reputed graft was brought to headquarters. He characterized Douthitt's statements as untrue.

Under interrogation by detectives he said he had met Douthitt at headquarters and mentioned to him that he had ben raided and some money had ben confiscated in the raid. "Douthitt said, 'You'll be lucky if you get it,'" he added.

He also denied that he had ever paid any money to policemen, or that he had ever told Douthitt of any payoff to policemen.

In his interview with Inspector Shelby and Capt. Kelly, Douthitt reiterated his story of the insurance man who tried to interest him in opening an agency. He said the man claimed to represent the United States Fidelity Insurance Co., of Baltimore and St. Louis.

Attacked With Pipe.

When first interviewed by the reputed agent, Douthitt said, he told the agent he was not interested, but gave him permission to call on Saturday night. It was then that Douthitt was attacked with a pipe. He lives at the Portner Apartments at Fifteenth and U streets northwest.

Detectives learned that there is a U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Insurance Co. in Baltimore. Officials there said that no men are sent out by them soliciting policies as described by Douthitt. This company has no St. Louis office.

Commissioner Herbert Crosby said that Douthitt had made charges to him several weeks ago that there was collusion between policemen and gamblers in the First Precinct and that he made a personal inquiry and found the charges were baseless.

of six pence a gallon, and bringing the retail price to 32 cents a gallon.

The chancellor resorted to two financial transactions, not affecting taxpayers, to enable hi mto balance his budget. He said he planned to use £20,000,00 (about $100,000,000) from the dollar exchange fund in New York. The remainder of the total deficit of £37,366,00 (about $286,830,000) was wiped out, not by inereasing the income tax, but by requiring all income taxpayers except wage earners to pay three-quarters of their tax on January 1, 1932.

Sidelights on Problems.

Sidelights on British national problems sparkled in Mr. Snowden's address. Noting that the consumption of liquor had decreased and estimated taxes from that source would be less in the coming years, he said:

"The decrease in the consumption of alcohol seems to be a permanent tendency of national social life, and from the viewpoint of the nation's well-being this is heartily welcomed, no matter how inconvenient to the exchequer."

Unable to resist the opportunity to criticize British tariff enthusiasts, he not only turned down the suggestion of a general revenue tariff, but was bitter in his denunciation of the proposal, declaring it would be a return to the pernicious taxation methods of a century ago.

Is there validity to the claims sometimes advanced that such pooled expenditures should be allocated by a division among the candidates or should consideration be given to the opposing contention that pooled expenditures benefit every candidate upon such a ticket and are more effective because of the joint effort of all such candidates?

"Should the proposed legislation provide for permanent committees or commissions empowered to investigate charges relating to excessive expenditures or corrupt practices during the course of a campaign? Fund Body to Decide Today on Cannon Quiz

(Associated Press.)

The Senate campaign funds committee will meet toda yto decide what further steps, if any, will be taken in its investigation of 1928 anti-Smith campaign expenditures in Virginia by Bishop James Cannon, jr.

The Southern Methodist churchman has challenged the authority of the committee to make the investigation.

Chairman Nye believes the committee has authority, but he wants a majority of the committee of five to decide the issue.

A majority was in Washington yesterday for the first time in weeks, but Senator Dale (Republican), Vermont, had a prior engagement and the committee could not get together.

Eugene M. Bookwalter, 26, of Randle place, near Savannah southeast, yesterday was charged with committing a statutory offense. The complainant is a 17-year-old girl whom Bookwalter allegedly brought to Washington from Lewistown, Pa. He is said to have a wife and child there.

Pickpocket Gets Doctor's $180.

Dr. Edward H. Reede, who has offices in the Medical Science Building, reported to police yesterday that a wallet containing $180 was picked from his pocket on Sunday night near Fifteenth and G streets northwest. The wallet was later found in a nearby alley.

GIRL, 11, MAN, 40, MARRIED

The marriage in Council Bluffs, Iowa, of Rosetta Copling, 11-year-old grammar school girl, to Albert Bryan, 29 years her senior, was investigated by juvenile authorities. The girl's mother was married at a double wedding with her daughter, mother and daughter being bridesmaids to each other.

Hurley, 'Bad-Boy' Wisconsin Town, Raided Second Time

Government Clamps Down on "Last Frontier" With 63 Warrants in Effort to Clear Famous Silver Street of Saloons and Gambling Dens.

Hurley, Wis., April 27 (A.P.).—The Government clamped down toady on Hurley, "bad boy" town of the Midwest. Federal authorities swept from one end to the other of Silver street, sporting rendezvous of lumberjacks and miners.

They bore 63 warrants naming saloon operators and bartenders. It was the second time within a month an attempt had been made to curb abullient spirits of the town, sometimes described as "Wisconsin's last frontier."

On April 1 owners of 39 establishments were served with notices of injunction proceedings. Evidence gathered at that time formed the basis for today's drive.

In the concerted move some persons saw a determination to curb once for all Hurley's unlawful activities which hitherto have carried on despite frequent attempts at clean-ups.

A year ago it was estimated the city had one saloon for every 68 persons—and most of them on Silver street, which was in its heydey when the lumbering industry held sway in northern Wisconsin and the Michigan peninsula.

The first raid was in December, 1920, and netted 67 prisoners. Govs. Zimmerman and Kohler, of Wisconsin, subsequently issued stern orders for a "clean-up," but invariably the saloons pulled up their shades again, the gambling halls went back to business as usual.

The saying was that lumberjacks could arrive in Hurley with money-bulged pockets—and invariably leave without a dime.

HOOVER JOB GROUP MEMBERS RETIRE

Chairman Announces Seven Return to Other Work as He Plans Trip.

(Associated Press.)

A reduction in personnel of the President's emergency employment committee was announced yesterday by Chairman Woods in a statement saying there had been a "perceptible improvement" in conditions.

At the same time Mr. Woods said he would sail next week for England and Germany to study employment conditions in Europe. He left this afternoon for New York.

Meanwhile, President Hoover issued an executive order establishing a council of personnel administration "for the purpose of developing in the Federal Government a more effective and economical system of employment and personnel management."

Seven Members Retire.

Thomas E. Campbell, president of the Civil Service Commission, was named chairman. Department and bureau heads will serve with him.

Mr. Woods announced seven members of the employment committee would retire from active service but would continue in an advisory capacity. Rowland Haynes, secretary of the University of Chicago, has been added to the staff to take charge of relief work.

The chairman said the improvement in conditions was "not enough to justify discontinuance" of the committee. While he is gone Fred O. Croxton, the vice chairman, will be in charge.

In response to a question regarding his plans when he returns, Mr. Woods said his connection with the committee would "depend on conditions."

Reviews Committee's Work.

Those retiring, who had been loaned to the committee, are Porter Lee, of New York; Douglas Brown, of Princeton University; James C. Lawrence, of Minnesota; Frank Bane, of Richmond, Va.; Mrs. Alice M. Dickson, of New York; Mrs. Lillian Gilbreath, of New Jersey, and Bryce Stewart, of New York. They will return to their regular occupations.

Throughout the present depression, Mr. Woods said, all possible employes have been kept on pay rolls, wage rates maintained and only such men those able to obtain new places as were without responsibilities or quickly have been dropped.

When men have been dropped, he added, employers have kept in touch with them, helped them get other jobs if possible, and in many cases made loans and donations to help tide them over periods of idleness.

Man Who Climbed Window To Work Nabbed by Police

Eugene H. Copenhaver, of Takoma Park, Md., is so conscientious about his duties as an engraver in the W. F. Roberts Co. printing plant at 1318 Massachusetts avenue northwest that he got himself arrested last night.

It was after working hours, but Mr. Copenhaver simply had to get into the shop and fix an engraving machine which was "out of whack." Lacking a key, he opened a rear window and jumped inside. Some one saw him and called police.

Two autos filled with headquarters and Second Precinct policemen responded and guns were drawn. Detective Sergt. Thomas Nally brought Copenhaver out at pistol point and, despite the latter's protests, hauled him to the station.

Notified of his employe's predicament, Mr. Roberts assured police that their man was telling the truth. Mr. Copenhaver then was freed. It was not learned whether he returned to fix that machine.

MAN HELD IN WIFE'S DEATH

Franklin C. Simmons, 32, employe of Armour & Co., Chicago, was held for further investigation into the death of his wife, Hazel, 32, who, shot through the head, was found dying in the arms of her husband. Simmons was ordered held when police and medical witnesses declared his statement that his wife committed suicide was, in view of facts, impossible.

GANGSTER DIAMOND MAY DIE OF WOUNDS

Doctor Finds Shot Punctured Lung; Attorney General Directing Inquiry.

Albany, N. Y., April 27 (A.P.).—With Jack ("Legs") Diamond, gangster chief, in a hospital from gunshot wounds his physicians feared would cause his death, the State moved today to conduct an investigation of Diamond and his followers in Greene County, where the leader was ambushed.

Diamond was shot down shortly after midnight as he stepped out of the Aratoga Inn onto a brightly lighted porch. The roadhouse is near Catskill, not far from the Acra country home of Diamond. His wounds were at first believed to be only superficially inflicted by buckshot, but subsequent examination revealed to Dr. T. M. Holmes that a lung had been punctured and that other wounds were equally serious.

Governor Takes Hand.

Gov. Roosevelt superseded District Attorney Harrison I. Gardner and instructed Attorney General John J. Bennett, jr., to direct the Greene County inquiry. Mr. Bennett hurried to Catskill, followed by a detachment of State troopers, who will aid the attorney general and provide protection for those who will be summoned before a grand jury. The governor's decision to displace Gardner followed upon complaints of Catskill citizens that any inquiry into the Diamond gang was nullified because witnesses were afraid to testify.

Diamond was in jail in Catskill last wek, accused of an attack upon Grover Parks, a truckman, who claimed to have been tortured and beaten because he would not tell to whom he was delivering a load of cider. The gangster was released on 25,000 bond.

After an examination of X-ray pictures of Diamond's wounds, Dr. Holmes said he is "very, very bod."

Is ni Extreme Pain.

"I doubt that he will come out of it. He is in extreme pain. There is one wound in his back I am convinced was not made by buckshot. It is my opinion he was shot down with a machine gun. His left arm is badly fractured and there is a pellet in the liver."

Nine shotgun shells, however, were found outside the Aratoga Inn, and the splintered door and torn walls of the roadhouse indicated to officers that two automatic shotguns were trained on the gangster.

District Attorney Gardner questioned Diamond in the hospital, but the lanky gangster said he had no reason to believe he had enemies who might try to take his life.

This rural episode, however, had its counterpart in another attack upon Diamond which had a metropolitan setting. Last fall two men entered his hotel roo min New York and fired upon him. For weks his life was endangered. The present lung wound is a reopening of an injury he suffered during the New York attack.

Diamond had ben classified as a former bodyguard to Arnold Rothstein, who was shot to death in a hotel several months before the Diamond attack.

SIAM'S ROYAL PAIR IS DUE LATE TODAY

King and Queen to Be Greeted at Railway Station by U. S. Officials.

(Associated Press.)

For the first time in history, the American Capital will welcome today an absolute ruler of the East. With ceremony and display accorded only to ruling royalty, King Prajadhipok and Queen Rambai Barni, of Siam, will be received by America's highest officials.

The king and queen will be the first received officially since the king and queen of the Belgians visited the United States in 1919.

The program for the visit was submitted to them by cable more than a month ago through the Siamese Legation. State Department records showed it to be very similar to that of Queen Marie, of Roumania, on her visit to the capital in 1926.

To Arrive This Evening.

Arriving at Union Station at 6 p. m., with high American officials, who will come with them from New York, they will be welcomed by a group of officials headed by Vice President Curtis and Secretary Stimson.

As is customary hen a visiting dignitary arrives late in the day, their program will be confined to an exchange of greetings at Union Station, after which the party will pass through a double line of United States Marines forming an honor guard to the entrance of the President's reception room.

Before taking automobiles to their royal residence for the stay in Washington the king and queen will pause at the street entrance of the station, where the United States Army Band will play the Siamese national anthem.

Potorcycle Police Escort.

The procession from the station to the royal residence will be headed by an escort of motorcycle police.

Their majesties and the royal party will spend the evening privately at the home of Larz Anderson, placed at th edisposal of the king and queen for their stay in Washington by the former diplomat.

Because of the late hour of the arrival the official call on President and Mrs. Hoover—decreed for visiting chiefs of state as necessary since time immemorial—will not take place until tomorrow at 10:15 a. m. Highly formal in character, this call will be returned immediately by the President and Mrs. Hoover, after hte king and queen reach the royal residnece from the White House.

Bank Crash Defendants Lose Tilt

Newark, N. J., April 27. (A.P.)—Dean Smith, Air Mail Pilot, set a record for the Cleveland-Newark run today, flying the 418 miles in two hours and 27 minutes, an average of 171 miles an hour. The previous record of two hours 30 minutes was held by S. J. Samson.

GRANT IS HONORED AT BIRTHDAY RITES

Sons of Union Veterans and Auxiliary Put Wreaths at Foot of Statue.

Members of the William B. Cushing Camp, No. 30, Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War, and the Cushing Auxiliary of that organization yesterday held exercises commemorating Gen. U. S. Grant's birthday at the foot of the Grant statue in the Botanical Gardens. The White House was officially represented by the placing of a wreath from President Hoover by an aid.

John L. Bateman, patriotic instructor of the camp, acted as master of ceremonies. Music was furnished by the United States Marine Band. The presentation of colors and the pledge of allegiance were led by Mrs. Sophie J. Bergner, with Hazard Wheeler and Percy Parker as color bearer. Color guards were from Cushing Auxiliary and the Women's Relief Corps.

The principal address, one of tribute to the leader of the Union forces during the Civil War, was made by the Rev. Harvey Baker Smith, pastor of the Columbia Heights Christian Church. Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, grandson of the general, in a brief address immediately following the talk by Mr. Smith, thanked the camp on behalf of the family and the country.

The White House wreath was placed by Lieut. D. E. Lowry. Mrs. Lillian G. Wood, president of the Cushing Auxiliary, and Mrs. Addie W. Hickman, departmental president of the Women's Relief Corps, placed those from the representative organizations. The Military Order of the Loyal Legion, of which Col. Grant is commander, also sent a wreath.

Ancient Mariner, George W. Wickersham, at the wheel?"

The wind howled through the banquet hall, lightning flashed and thunder roared. Then a faint light illuminated the scene as the coming of the dawn revealed the good ship rocking in the heavy seas.

Wickersham at Helm.

Dr. Wickersham was clinging to the helmsman's wheel. Senator Fess, the "Flying Dutchman," Senator Robinson, as Jonah, John J. Raskob, as Capt. Kidd, and Representative La Guardia, were grouped on deck, and hidden in the background were Al Capone and Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt.

La Guardia rushed forward excitedly and exclaimed: "Capt. Wickersham, the ship's sprung another leak!"

"More water coming in?" asked Wickersham.

"No, more Scotch," La Guardia replied.

When asked what he intended to do about the storm, Capt. Wickersham replied:

"I intend to do exactly what my commission recommended—look both ways at once, trust in Herbert Hoover, hope for the best and expect the worst."

"Here's one Republican who won't," cried LaGuardia, "I've seen enough shipwrecks in my time. Come on, boys, let's put on life preservers and jump overboard while there is time.

Senator Fess tried to halt the desertions. "Why all this talk of storm?" he asked. "Look, it is perfectly calm."

Fess' Hat Blown Off.

Just then the storm increased in fury, blowing Senator Fess' hat from his head.

"Did somebody send my S O S to the White House?" asked Capt. Wickersham.

"Yes, Capt. Wickersham," replied Fess. "Here is your radiogram to the White House: 'We are all wet. I don't know what to do.' Here is the answer: 'Glad to hear you are all dry. I don't know what to do.'"

As the storm continued in violence, Senator Joseph Robinson called for volunteers to stick with the ship. Al Capone emerged from hiding and was joined by Mrs. Willebrandt. Capt. Wickersham put the question of sticking to the ship to a vote. Only Robinson, Mrs. Willebrandt and Capone voted "aye" against a thunder of noes, but Wickersham declared "the ayes have it."

Senator George Norris, progressive leader, disguised as a sorcerer of the days of King Arthur, undertook to teach Franklin Roosevelt some political tricks. He showed him how to mix electricity, power dams, lame ducks and White House vetoes in a hat and pull out millions of votes—but he was not certain for whom the votes were intended.

The trend toward chain newspaper ownership, as exemplified in the recent sale of the New York World, was pictured in a skit showing the reporters in uniform, in lockstep, marching by and pulling their copy out of a clothes wringer on long rolls of yellow paper.

Roy W. Howard, who engineered the World deal, was described as the man "who overturned 400 years of geographical science." It was explained that "in 1491, Columbus cracked an egg and behold, the world was round! In 1931, Mr. Howard cracked the Pulitzer will, and behold—the World is flat!"

The Nobel literary prize for 1931 was awarded Calvin Coolidge. He was given a check for $44,000 because his writings combine the "best features of Aesop, the Farmer's Almanac and Ella Wheeler Wilcox," and he was granted permission to slap Theodore Dreiser in the face.

Those present included:

The President of the United States, the Ambassador of Germany, the Ambassador of Poland, the Secretary of the Treasury, the Secretary of War, the Attorney General, the Postmaster General, the Secretary of the Navy, the Secretary of Commerce, the Secretary of Labor, the Minister of Hungary, the Minister of China.

BERENGUER JAILED BY SPANISH REGIME

for trial any persons connected with them suspected of being guilty of misconduct in office.

Madrid, April 27 (A.P.).—The government today took steps to insure for future public benefit two kinds of property hitherto little used by the masses of the people. The first consists of the great tracts of land formerly reserved as royal estates and the second the waters suitable for producing hydroelectric power for industrial development.

A special government commission was appointed to study the hydroelectric possibilities, all of which were declared national property, and an order was issued to grant no concessions to private industrial corporations for hydroelectric development until adequate measures are taken to insure that the nation retains ownership of the resources.

Formulation of plans for the building of many workmen's cottages in the great "Pardo" one of the former royal estates near Madrid was also begun today. It was planned to rent these cottages as cheaply as possible and to make their construction serve both to reduce unemployment at present and to reduce the cost of living afterward.

FASCISM MUST OBEY CHURCH, SAYS POPE

ures, he said, but the meeting should result in a greater good for individuals and society.

The pontiff took occasion in the latter part of his letter to criticise sharply the Fascist party for what he considered interference with religion.

"In the field of education," he wrote, "the church has full confidence and authority and the regime has the duty not only of following her guidance, but also assisting her.

"Certainly not this, but the contrary is in evidence. The youth are exposed to the inspiration of hate and irreverence, rendering difficult and almost impossible the practice of religious duties because of other contemporaneous exercises, permitting publicly women's athletic meets, of whose dangers and inconveniences even paganism was aware."

Treatment Is Started For Tropical Disease

Cleveland, April 27 (A.P.).—Treatment of the Rev. Ralph Thurber at the City Hospital for a tropical disease, distomiasis, which he said he contracted while a missionary in Korea, began today.

He was given intravenous injections of emetine hydrochloride, a drug which acts as an antiseptic in the blood, Dr. A. J. Sullivan, medical superintendent at the hospital, said the disease had not yet been positively identified, although eggs believed to be of the parasite which caused it, have been isolated.

END NEAR IN PROTEST BY BUTLER OVER FORT

ing of his record with regard to Fort Riviere—well, there wouldn't seem to be much else left in order to write "finis" to the incident.

While there has been much in the public prints about the case, the State Department is going on the theory that Minister Bellegarde knows nothing whatever about it. This is in accordance with diplomatic custom.

Consequently, Secretary Stimson is now preparing to sen dto Minister Bellegarde the letter of protest which Gen. Butler sent to the Navy Department and which the Navy Department subsequently sent to the State Department. If Secretary of State Stimson does not send the letter through the mails, he probably will have one of his assistants show it to Minister Bellgarde and then get the latters comment.

Will Probably End Incident.

As has been said, this probably will end the incident.

Gesn. Butler, on his way back to his command at Quantico, Va., from Philadelphia, where he had the radio cut off on him when he used the word "hell," had this to say about his protest against the purported remarks of Minister Bellegarde:

"I didn't ask for an apology; I asked that my record be cleared. That's up to the State Department."

Secretary Stimson, at his press conference yesterday, had Will Rogers, the cowboy humorist, on hand.

Sewer Episode, Says Rogers.

"It is a sewer episode," Rogers said. "Gen. Butler crawled through it, I think."

Secretary Stimson accorded his guest's words a broad smile and proffered his own explanation, "I should say it was a Philadelphia episode. He said he had been playing "hooky" and had not time to take it up seriously. "But I will take it up very seriously," he declared, adding, "just as seriously as it deserves."

He informed his interrogators that he was unable at that time to state if he would send a formal ote to the Haitian Minister or to have a personal talk with him "until I give painful thought to it."

It was in the later afternoon that the announcement was made that a note would be forwarded to Dr. Bellegarde with all the circumstances of the incident as they were contained in Gen. Butler's letter forwarded from the office of Secretary of Navy Adams.

Said He Saw Fort.

"I have been in Haiti, too," Rogers interjected ni answer to a question. "I took up the whoel thing. I saw the fort. They pointed it out from the air."

Mr. Stimson said he had no doubt that the fort had existed and that there was no question of Gen. Butler's gallantry while he was in Haiti.

"I have no doubt that there is a fort," he declared, "and that Gen. Butler's congressiona medal of honor was well bestowed."

SHOUSE-FESS LIE BATTLE IN DEADLOCK

Secret Meeting Claims G. O. P. Spread Anti-Catholic Literature, But Whispering Campaign Falls as Radio Tripa Democratic Chairman.

The first sentence of the article in the Republican news letter, Shouse said, read: "An unprecedented attempt to inject religion into national politics by means of a brazen lie has been exposed through the agency of the radio."

Fess' Apology Demanded.

After denying that he had been "trapped" by the radio, and that he had ever mentioned Robert Cruise McManus, Mr. Shouse demanded that Senator Fess apologize to him.

In his telegram to Mr. Shouse, made public last night along with that of Mr. Shouse, Senator Fess referred to the Democratic spokesman's demand as "amazing."

Senator Fess retracted to the extent of admitting that Mr. Shouse had not mentioned Robert Cruise McManus, but he insisted that "you thought you were no longer heard by your radio audience."

Cites His Speech.

Senator Fess told Mr. Shouse that he had obtained a stenographic transcript of his speech in San Francisco. This he quoted as follows:

"I have already talked too long and I have quit talking over the radio, but I want to talk just a moment, if I may, about one or two other things that I think are very pertinent to the present political situation. • • •

"It happens that John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee, is perhaps the most prominent lay Catholic in America. Starting with an article written by Frank Kent, an alleged Democrat, in Scribner's Magazine for August, and reproduced to the extent of ten million copies by the Republican national committee, and sent all over the United States, the Republican high command endeavored, because of Raskob's connection with the Catholic Church, to hold him up as a 'boogeyman' before the American people.

Speech Is Assailed.

" 'Smearing,' they say. I saw, and many of you heard, the form of canned speech that was sent out by the Republican National committee to be used from one end of this country to the other, and half of it was devoted to the condemnation of John J. Raskob, and I say to you that if John J. Raskob had been a member of the Methodist Church, if you please, instead of the Catholic Church, his name would not have been mentioned during the campaign."

After chiding Mr. Shouse for calling Frank Kent, of the arch-Democratic Baltimore Sun an "alleged Democrat", and after denying that Mr. Kent's article in Scribner's contained one word regarding Mr. Raskob's religion, Senator Fess, in his telegram to Mr. Shouse, said:

"Under these circumstances, Mr. Shouse, you can readily see the futility of your amazing demand that I apologize to you and I suggest that if apologies are in order you should make a very humble one to the country at large for your contemptible methods and your utterly false statements.

"I am sending this reply to your telegram by special messenger and at the same time making it public along with your telegram to me.

"SIMEON D. FESS."

TOURNAMENT PLAY BEST BRIDGE TEST

Manager of Post's Contest Outlines Objects; Three Days Left to Enter.

Why are bridge tournaments held? What do they accomplish?

These questions are answered by R. E. Needham, who will manage the first annual bridge tournament of Washington players, sponsored by The Washington Post.

Bridge tournaments are held for two purposes: To settle championships and, what is more important, to furnish instruction and enjoyment for the people who take part in them. They are recognized as providing the best means for people to improve their game, and are so fascinating that enthusiastic players sometimes travel hundreds of miles to participate in them.

Best Players May Not Win.

True enough the best players do not always win. Neither are the best football teams, the best baseball teams or the best golf players invariably the winners. There are many "breaks" and "upsets" at the championship bridge table, just as there are in all lines of sport. But it should be understood that these "upsets" are not caused by the better players holding poor cards, for in tournament play all contestants hold exactly the same hands.

Obviously, it is absurd for any one to claim that any particular bridge player is the best in the country, or the best in Washington. Just what constitutes the best bridge player? Is it the man or woman who can perform the best in the quiet of his own home or club when little is at stake? Or is it the one who can "come through" in the final session of a big tournament after three or four days of strenuous play, when he knows that the slightest mistake may cost him a championship?

Best Means to Determine.

It is not to be understood that the winners of a tournament are necessarily the best players, but tournament play, where the advantage of holding cards is eliminated and where one meets all comers, is the best means that we have to determine a player's real ability, and, no matter how excellent a player may be considered by his friends and himself, he has no convincing proof of his ability until he has demonstrated it in a tournament. There are many players all over the country who are all right so far as playing the cards are concerned, but few who can measure up to our most successful tournament players in the the matter of cooperative bidding.

The teams and the pairs who win in the various events at the tournament to be held in Washington May 14, 15 and 16 will be the recognized champions of Washington for 1931, and will have definite proof of their ability. The numerous players who play and do not win will have had an interesting and enjoyable experience and will be the better prepared to prove their worth on another occasion.

Remember, there are three more days in which to file your application and that the place is the new Shoreham Hotel.

HEARING SET TODAY ON WEIGHTS OF COAL

Arguments for and Against Long Ton to Be Aired Before Bride.

Arguments for and against the practice of Washington coal dealers in selling their products by the 2,000-pound-unit measure, instead of the long ton of 2,240 pounds, will be heard today by Corporation Counsel William W. Bride before submitting his opinion on the legality of the change in standard to the District Commissioners.

Representative Robert Crosser, of Cleveland, Ohio, a member of the House District committee when the dealers made their first attempt to specify the short ton in the weights and measures law, and Mark Lansburgh, president of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association, have asked to present their respective views.

The opinion, which the Commissioners requested in connection with the inquiry being conducted by George M. Roberts, superintendent of weights, measures and markets, was completed Saturday, Mr. Bride said, but was withheld so that Mr. Crosser and Mr. Lansburgh might be heard. The Ohio representative has issued several statements denouncing the coal dealers for the shift in measurement.

While there has been no official announcement, it is believed the corporation counsel will advise the Commissioners that the weights and measures law does not prevent coal dealers from selling 2,000-pound units even though it specifies that coal shall be sold by the long ton. The loophole appears to be that the act permits coal dealers to sell less than a ton so long as the weight is specified.

Though Supt. Roberts holds the opposite view, the corporation counsel believes sponsors of the law intended primarily to insist upon weight rather than size measurements. The act provides, however, that smaller portions of coal than a ton may be sold, so long as the weight is stated.

Final decision in the case may be passed to the court, though, upon recommendation of the corporation counsel in a test case.

P. U. C. Confers Today On Cut in Power Rate

The Public Utilities Commission will hold another conference today with Corporation Counsel William W. Bride and William A. Roberts, special assistant corporation counsel, regarding procedure to be followed in lowering the rates of the Potomac Electric Power Co.

People's counsel Richmond B. Keech has been invited to the conference also. An announcement by the commission that new rates will be established and that the consent decree is to be discarded is expected to follow. Action was scheduled to be taken the latter part of last week, but Mr. Bride was called out of the city.

How to be sure of picking the RIGHT automatic refrigerator

A WOMAN is quick to sense the hidden value in the things she buys.

That is why women are eager for information. And that is why we offer these few points of information to the woman who is interested in having an automatic refrigerator.

She knows the advantages of an automatic refrigerator. What she wants to know is, "which one will give me the most for my money"?

In the first place, the Gas Refrigerator, Electrolux, costs less to use than any other kind. Less, by far, than using an old-fashioned ice box. An average of 6 cents a day covers the entire operating cost. But low operating cost alone is not reason enough for buying a particular make.

So let us tell you why a Gas refrigerator is so extremely dependable. The way it works is unique. It's automatic, but non-mechanical. It has no machinery to get out of order. A tiny gas flame and a trickle of water take the place of all moving parts. Therefore this refrigerator never makes a sound, even after years of use. It has nothing to wear or vibrate.

The refrigerant (merely 3½ pints of ordinary ammonia, little stronger than household ammonia) is hermetically sealed in rigid steel, and will never need renewal. The gas flame is completely protected by an automatic shut-off.

Electrolux doesn't alternately stop and start. The chilling process goes on all the time, and so the cold is constant, steady, you have no noises in your radio.

The best buy? There is no better than Electrolux, and that statement includes purchase prices, too. For despite the many advantages of this refrigerator, it sells at reasonable prices, $235 to $775, installed in your home.

2 Years to Pay—Free Lifetime Service—No Finance Charges

You can buy Electrolux for a small sum down, and have 2 whole years in which to pay. These extra low terms remain in force until June 1 only. More than that, you pay no finance charges. Nothing but the price of the refrigerator, which brings the payments down as low as $10 a month.

Free lifetime service goes with each Electrolux. Service by your gas company, handled by a special refrigeration department.

You can see Electrolux at any of our showrooms. There are ten household models, ranging in size from 3 cu. ft. to 20 cu. ft. capacity. A size for any home or apartment, large or small.

A tiny gas flame takes the place of all moving parts.

RIVERDALE STATION QUESTION UP TODAY

Senator Schall and Oliver Metzerott Join Protest Against Closing.

Both United States Senator Thomas D. Schall, a resident of Riverdale, and Oliver Metzerott, a member of the House of Delegates, have protested to the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad against proposed change of the Riverdale station to a nonagent depot. A hearing on the railroad's petition will be held today in Baltimore before the Public Service Commission.

Senator Schall's letter points out that to remove the agent at this point would increase the hazard to school children and other pedestrians, as well as to all vehicles using this crossing. He stresses the fact that one of the main links between the Baltimore boulevard and the Edmonston road crosses the railroad at this point.

Mr. Metzerott's letter stated that he wrote at the request of friends and neighbors who use the Riverdale station. He points out that this station is one of the oldest agencies on the line, and "it would, indeed, be unfortunate should necessity require its closing at this time."

A warrant has been issued for Walter Nicholson, of Queen Anne, Md., on charges that he fired a shotgun at a car, mangling the hand of the driver so badly that it may have to be amputated.

The driver of the car was Robert Walker, 17, of Mitchellville, whose hand was injured. He is at Sibley Hospital. Others in the car were Clement Tydings, 19, and Roddy Loveless, both of Mitchellville. Tydings, who swore out the warrant against Nicholson, was struck in the face by several of the leaden pellets.

Nicholson, who is a storekeeper at Queen Anne, is said to have been waiting at his store for bootleggers who had been annoying him. The three youths drove up in their car, which is said to have backfired, whereupon Nicholson is alleged to have shot. The warrant sworn out against him charges him with discharging firearms on the highway.

At the hospital it was said that Walker's condition was good, but that he may lose his hand.

Two alleged chicken thieves, one white and one colored, were freed yesterday by juries in Prince Georges County circuit court, and a case against a third was nolle prossed.

Although Howard Severe, complainant against Arthur White, colored, testified that he followed a trail of feathers from his chicken house in Hyattsville to White's home, the jury found White not guilty. Attorney J Frank Parran, who appeared for White, contended that positive identification of the stolen chickens was never made, as some of those found in White's house had been cooked and others had been picked.

This case was tried last week and resulted in a hung jury.

James McKenney, of Greater Capitol Heights, was freed on charges of larceny and receiving stolen goods by a jury, whereupon the State nolle prossed the case against William Talbert, who had been indicted in connection with the same case.

McKenney was alleged to have taken four chickens worth $5 from his sister, Mrs. Anne Hudson, also of Greater Capitol Heights. He pleaded not guilty, and contended that he had paid her for the fowls.

A jury, however, found Clarence Walters guilty of stealing a quantity of furniture from Charles M. Gilpin, of Takoma Park. The goods are alleged to have been found in Walters' house in Princess Gardens. He will probably be sentenced before the end of the week.

Cheverly's first town elections will be held May 16, when residents of the newly-incorporated town will select their mayor and four councilmen. Notices of election were only posted yesterday, and so far no candidates have announced. The town's act of incorporation was passed by the last Legislature.

Various government activities in Prince Georges County will be explained by men and women directing such work when the Community Council meets in Hyattsville May 23. The meeting will be in the Masonic Hall.

Feature of the meeting will be an outline of the county's participation in the George Washington Bicentennial celebration in 1932. A representative of the Park and Planning Commission will tell what that body plans to do, while Mark Shoemaker will sketch plans for the county's share in the festival. It is also hoped to have a man from the State Roads Commission to tell of this body's plans. These talks will be given ni the afternoo.

Oliver Metzerott, Republican member of the House of Delegates, will deliver an address on "Laws Affecting our County Passed at the Recent Session of the Legislature," and J. Enos Ray, chairman of the Red Cross drive which raised $8,000 on a quota of only $3,000, will tell of that campaign. Mrs. Herbert Roby and Mrs. James Severe will tell of therelief campaign carried on by the Red Cross with this money.

Other county officials who will explain their work are Nicholas Orem, superintendent of schools; Miss Kathleen Shears, attendance officer; Miss Maude Gibbs, supervisor of music teaching; Dr. A. B. Hooton, county health officer; Miss Ruth Tighe, public health nurse, and Miss Jennie Hartman, public health nurse.

Committees of the council who have studied the almshouse situation, the police bill, and other county problems will also report.

Accidentally shot in the leg by Ray Rutherford, of Cottage City, Donald Braunen, 11 years old, of that town, was yesterday taken to Emergency Hospital. While his condition is not serious he was admitted to the hospital. Doceors plan to take the bullet from the wound today.

The two boys were hunting in the rear of Colmar Manor, according to H. L. McCormick, chief bailiff of Cottage City, when the shooting occurred. They were firing at turtles when the Braunen boy stepped in front of the gun, a .22-caliber rifle.

The Braunen boy was treated by Dr. Bernard Gerwyn, of Cottage City, who then took him to the hospital.

Lionel B. Howland, president of the Laurel Library Association, has called a special meeting of the body tonight to discuss plans for increasing membership.

Enforcement Officers Not Needed by Town

Ravenden, Ark., April 27 (U.P.).—This farming community believes that in having no police officers, marshals, city government or courts it is setting a record.

Even State and county government is lacking here, chiefly because there has been no lawlessness for several years.

Justice of Peace Bart Manning held his office ten years before closing his office two years ago. He said that his court was not needed.

College, Given $10,000 Rug, Must Keep It in Glass Case

Unusual directions for the care of a "peacock rug" were given in the will of Hagop Bogigian, who died February 7, his will, filed for probate yesterday, showed.

The rug is given to Wilson College at Chambersburg, Pa., and is to be kept in a glass case, for observation uses only. If the college should desire to sell it, a price of not less than $10,000 must be obtained.

The value of the estate is not disclosed, but a number of bequests are provided for. Hagop M. Déranian, of Worcester, Mass., is given $10,000 and some jewelry; two grandnephews, Paul M. and Bagdasar M. Deranian, are given $3,000 each; Adrian and Lucy M. Deranian will receive $1,000 each, as will Lieta T. Beecher and Cecile A. Insley. The remaining estate is to be held in trust by the Farmers Loan & Trust Co. of New York for the benefit of the widow Helen J. C. Bogigian.

Upon her death the estate goes to Wilson College, where it will be loaned to students at small rates, for ten years. The college is to operate the fund for 100 years, whereupon one-half the principal is to be used for the erection of a building to be known as the Bogigian Building, with the other half to be used for student loans. Girls of Armenian extraction are to be given preference in the matter of obtaining loans.

OUTWITTED BY THE REDS.

For the second time in recent months the so-called embargo against commodities produced by convict labor has proved ineffective in barring out lumber from Soviet Russia. The shipload of lumber which arrived at Providence, R. I., last week for a test of the new regulations has been admitted. Undersecretary Mills wants it understood that the decision applies only to this particular shipment, but apparently there is nothing to prevent the Soviet from shipping any quantity of lumber here under similar conditions.

Last summer the Treasury detained shipments of lumber from Russia on the ground that they had been produced by convict labor. But the Treasury was unable to prove that charge and the cargoes were admitted. The department recently adopted a stricter policy, placing the burden of proof upon the importers. Conclusive evidence that convicts were forced to work in the forests of northern Russia caused the department to announce that any lumber coming from that area would be barred unless the importers could prove that convicts had nothing to do with its production.

In the case just decided the Soviet's commercial agency claims that the lumber did not come from the restricted area. Documentary evidence to that effect was presented at the hearing. The Treasury accepted that evidence in the absence of proof to the contrary. In effect, the situation is about the same as it was last summer, when the shipments of Soviet lumber were admitted because proof of their illegality was lacking. The Treasury has no means of finding out whether convict labor is used in the production of each specific cargo, and in the absence of such investigation its regulation is ineffective.

This case is particularly interesting because it foreshadows the difficulties the Government will have in enforcing that provision in the tariff law excluding the products of forced labor, which becomes effective next January 1. It is well known that the Communist regime is capable of any kind of duplicity to accomplish its ends. No system based on "proof" by Soviet officials can be expected to protect American industry and agriculture from the products of convict and forced labor. Sooner or later Congress must recognize the true nature and purpose of the Soviet export program and deal with the problem accordingly. Dumping of goods made by Russia's half-starved convict labor will continue until this country and others become bold enough to enforce airtight embargoes against them.

SOUTHERN EDUCATION.

The University of North Carolina publishes two magazines of a high order. They are Social Forces and Studies in Philology. The prestige which these publications enjoy calls attention to the great strides in education made in the South. The Virginia Quarterly Review, fostered by the University of Virginia, is better known throughout the country, due to its more general character, dealing as it does with a wide variety of subjects—literary, scientific, national and foreign. It has a high place among American publications.

It is surprising to read the observation of the Quarterly's former editor to the effect that the region which he most wished to interest, the part of the South lying below Virginia, he found least responsive. In the Yale Review a Southern essayist, Clarence E. Cason, discusses this subject. There is not as yet a public in the South for magazines of the order of the Virginia Quarterly proportionate to other sections of the country, but the important point, he finds, is that this public is growing steadily. New secondary schools are being established everywhere, and well-trained teachers are being sent into the most isolated districts, where they are overcoming illiteracy as rapidly as can be expected. The universities of Texas, North Carolina, Alabama and Oklahoma have advanced so materially in the last ten years that they can not fail to elicit commendation, and the list of privately owned institutions that rank high among colleges is most creditable. These forces combine to spread modern points of view even to remotest parts, and create a growing demand for books covering all branches of literature.

These advances are based, primarily, Mr. Cason says, on the improved health conditions as well as a changing point of view. Departments of health have drained stagnant water and covered the breeding places of mosquitoes with oil, and caused dense growths of weeds to be cut out, thereby decreasing malaria steadily in the South. This terrible drain on the vitality of the people is being arrested.

As health conditions improve the native intelligence and physical vigor of the splendid Anglo-Saxon stock that makes up the backwoods sections of the South is asserted. It is conquering the handicaps of isolated environment and manifesting a rapidly growing demand for books, comforts and all the better things of life.

FARM LOAN PROGRESS.

Organizations to facilitate distribution of seed loans under the relief appropriations authorized by the last Congress are functioning throughout the areas that were hard hit by the drought last year. Twenty-two States are included in the official drought list, and in addition loans are also being made in parts of Michigan, Kansas, New Mexico, South Dakota and Wyoming. Of the $45,000,000 authorized for this purpose the National Advisory Loan Committee, that is functioning in active cooperation with the Department of Agriculture, estimates that $35,000,000 will be used.

The various agencies under the Secretary of Agriculture that are handling this widespread distribution of funds are issuing printed matter and providing lecturers so that the purposes of recent legislation may be more generally understood. One of the principal aims is to aid in the capitalization of agricultural credit corporations and live stock loan companies. This work already is actively under way.

Information is now available explaining how Federal funds may be secured to supplement the permanent credit facilities and long-term mortgage credits. The functions of the Federal intermediate credit banks, their relation to local commercial banks and the procedure by which commercial bankers may establish agricultural credit corporations for the benefit of local communities and their own institutions are questions now fully explained by the Agricultural Department experts.

A vast amount of organization has been necessary to take care of the demands over such a wide area from borrowers under the various allocations of funds for seed loans, farm rehabilitation and capitalization of credit corporations, but the work has progressed as rapidly as possible. A more permanent feature of present efforts is the encouragement that will be given the formation of strong credit organizations that will continue through normal times. Such institutions with sufficient capital and efficient management can be made a most important part of the rural credit system, supplementing for all time the needs of agricultural borrowers in local districts.

AUSTRALIA IS MAD.

Australia is holding the United States as a club over the mother country. The remote dominion colony in the Pacific is threatening England with refusal to pay any more interest on bonds until rates are adjusted on as favorable a basis as Great Britain secured from the United States in the final adjustment of war debts. It is not quite a fair comparison, as financial authorities point out, but nevertheless the Australians are quite worked up about it.

Premier Lang himself, in New South Wales, proposes "that the governments of Australia decide to pay no further interest to British bondholders until Britain has dealt with the Australia overseas debts in the same manner as she settled her own foreign debt with America." The further point is raised that the United States has given Australia better terms than it has secured in England.

The discussion has reached such a point that it has been reported to the State Department by Roger C. Treadwell, American Consul General in Sydney. The injustice of the repudiation threat is said to be shown in the varying character of the major portion of the two classes of indebtedness, that of Australia's to Great Britain and Britain's to the United States.

The latter is a war debt incurred largely while the United States was preparing to enter the war, while of Australia's total debt of £1,100,597,198 the war debt payable in London amounts to only £92,742. The British debt is due from the government to the Government of the United States, and its refunding was a matter of conference and mutual agreement. The Australian bonds were subscribed for and are held by many thousands of British investors. Notwithstanding these patent facts, Australia is quite insistent upon the equally evident point that England is enjoying lower rates than she or her investors give to Australia.

It may not be a very friendly way for a dominion to act—starting out with threats of repudiation—but Australia nevertheless demands to know what is going to be done about it.

AMERICAN SHIPS.

A comprehensive view of the progress made by the American merchant marine is presented by the Shipping Board's bureau of research. For the United States the last decade has been one of remarkable achievement in this field. In 1914 American vessels were carrying less than 10 per cent of this country's overseas commerce. But from 1922 to 1930 the annual average rose to 41 per cent. During that period American ships carried a greater percentage of this country's water-borne foreign commerce than in any similar period for 60 years. In view of the phenomenal development of American exports and imports during that period this is a remarkable record.

The Government has been criticized in some quarters for encouraging the development of a merchant marine when the world has a large surplus of shipping. A glance at the facts as presented by the Shipping Board is sufficient to put that criticism in reverse. When active measures were taken to reestablish the American flag on the seas in 1922 the merchant fleets of the world had surplus tonnage amounting to 13,000,000. At the present time, even with commerce at a low ebb, only about 8,000,000 tons of shipping are laid up. When international trade returns to normal the surplus tonnage of modern construction may entirely disappear.

Since the war the United States has led the world in scrapping obsolete ships. The Government alone has scrapped nearly 1,500,000 tons, including only steel ocean-going vessels of 2,000 tons or more. This means a net reduction of the American fleet by 900,000 tons. Of course, the general effect of this program has been to strengthen the merchant marine, for only obsolete ships have been scrapped, and some new vessels have been built.

In spite of the large surplus tonnage on hand immediately after the war the great commercial nations set to work building ships at a rapid rate. In all 2,067 ships of more than 13,000,000 tons have been constructed in the last eight years. Great Britain built 8,380,000 tons; Germany, 1,850,000; France, 933,000; Italy, 809,000; Japan, 706,000, and the United States only about 600,000 tons. Japan built two ships for every one constructed in this country, and Great Britain built 21 to America's 1. Obviously, the United States is not responsible for the existing surplus tonnage. The American building program was small and its scrapping program was enormous.

In view of this fact the progress of the merchant fleet under the American flag is doubly significant. The American fleet, consisting largely of ships built during the war, has had to compete with foreign vessels of postwar construction. Nevertheless, American flag shipping services are open to all parts of the world. Eighty-two American lines are operating 700 ships of 2,500,000 tons on foreign and noncontiguous trade routes. Private industry now controls 88 per cent of this shipping. Transportation of passengers and goods across the high seas has once more become a great American industry.

Only a modest construction program is outlined for the next eight years. It calls for about 70 ships of approximately 800,000 tons. Certainly that is not excessive for the greatest exporting nation in the world. Steady, consistent growth is a wise policy. If the American merchant marine can duplicate in the next decade its progress of the last ten years this country will take its proper place on the high seas.

How can critics of the State Department demand that American marines be sent into Nicaragua to wipe out the insurgents when our own insurgents are allowed to run at large?

It's all right for the police to count the automobiles which carry people to see the cherry blossoms, but why do they have to stop each car so long to get it counted?

The extent of crime in the United States is unknown, says Chairman Wickersham. That's what Legs Diamond is beginning to think.

AUTOMOBILE OUTLOOK

By PHIL S. HANNA,
In Detroit Dispatch to the Wall Street Journal.

While actual production thus far in April has vindicated all previous optimistic forecasts, it is only within the last three weeks, and curiously coincident with the decline in the market, that anybody in the industry has begun to be sanguine about 1931 profits. When March retail sales began to climb the motor people were elated, because they said, "business has reached the point where we have stopped losing money." Now, with April going better than March, and in some companies dealers asking for increased allotments for May over April, a few executives are talking quite optimistically about second quarter profit prospects.

However, it seems unlikely that shipments in second quarter will come up to the 1,000,000 mark, unless Ford operations are soon advanced. The Ford people are determined to diminish field stocks further, and doubtless for a perfectly sound reason other than lack of current sales. Counting Ford at 105,000, General Motors at 127,900, Chrysler at 32,000 and allotting liberal estimates for the few companies whose April shipment schedules have not been made public, the likely total for April as estimated by Dow, Jones & Co., Inc., will be 312,100 cars and trucks. This figure does not include a number of trucks and taxicab companies whose total for March as revealed by N. A. C. C. figures was 5,000 units. Hence, the original Dow-Jones prediction of 320,000 production in April appears likely to be fulfilled.

Few May schedules have been established, but the known increases just about offset the expected decreases. If Ford produces 105,000 cars in May, the indication for that month on present figures is for 320,000 units. With a few model changes to come in May this estimate may have to be revised slightly, but what interests the motor people most is the prospect, even though still dim, of six to eight months' steady operation at or near the April rate.

In the first quarter reports coming to hand is found a key to profits which should be available if the April rate of operations holds. Electric Auto-Lite in March earned 58 cents of its earnings of $1.21 a share before taxes for the quarter. Packard in March earned 88% of its first quarter's earnings, and, although the dollar total was small, Packard's experience emphasizes the principle involved. General Motors is understood to have earned 30 cents a share in March. With April showing from 15% to 18% improvement over March, it is likely that profits for April were relatively higher because of the advantages which accrue from larger volume.

April's contribution to the motor picture can be summarized as follows:

1. Total production for April will be about 30,000 cars greater than in March.

2. Field stocks of cars priced below $1,000 have diminished.

3. The April increase in retail sales has been predominately in the low-priced field and in the low-priced commercial car units.

4. Credit for financing car sales is easing. There are a growing number of isolated instances where banks catering to other fields of time payment financing are refinancing car sales.

5. During April several companies made further reductions in overhead and in direct manufacturing costs; at the same time volume of operations has swelled to a point which further absorbs overhead.

6. Total sales have increased in spite of the stock market slump.

7. Of interest to railroad officials is the disposition of a number of motor executives to curtail shipment of cars by motor truck in view of lower rates effected on new cars.

Or So It Seems.

POST HASTE.

We have with us today the King and Queen of Siam. They will be entertained at the White House. Unfortunately the Capitol white elephant will not be on display until December.

Prosperity: "Hold the wage scale, for I am coming!"

Yes, and there is the overproduction of March winds in April.

The Labor Federation's modification committee believes the next Congress will vote for light wines and beer. And what a battle there will be on how light is light!

Joney Shouse is worried over the division of sentiment within the Republican party.

Rival racketeers keep pouring futile slugs into the body of "Legs" Diamond, when his nickname shows the real target.

The Wickersham Commission finds crime data inadequate and abused. That would also have been a better alibi for the prohibition report.

Secretary Hurley is in Arkansas trying out how it feels to be in hot water for a week. It looks suspiciously like an endurance test for political activity.

Before the next campaign is over some one will be offering to prove that the President was once a member of a wet party in Virginia.

Salvador, feeling neglected in the Central American news, now wants to tell the Marines about a new volcanic eruption.

A thousand Woodmen are in town, probably to get Sol Bloom to spare that cherry tree.

It is fitting that the progressive King of Siam should be the first oriental potentate to visit Washington. The United States signed its first treaty with a Far Eastern power at Bangkok nearly 100 years ago.

Siam's ruler will be served on the White House gold plate. It will not choke the king of a country with a balanced budget and a currency at par.

How the economic doctors can diagnose these days! But it's easy to look back and say: A boom is a boomerang; business must lead a life of moderation; a speculative debauch is followed by a hard-times headache. Pass the bromo! P. H.

JUST FOLKS

CUSTOMERS

Customers are people who
Come to buy their needs from you.
They are fair to see or plain,
Not like links within a chain,
All alike, but different very,
Some are solemn, some are merry,
Some with sorrows great are freighted,
Some are quickly irritated,
But the cross ones and the sunny
Come to you to spend their money.

Looking at them as they come,
Happy face or visage glum,
As before your wares they tarry
You can't tell what hurts they carry,
What makes this one seem so swanky,
Or why that one is so cranky,
Or from cut of coat or tie
Just how much they want to buy.
Sometimes those who look the poorest
Are the ones that pay the surest.

Customers are people who
Long remember what you do.
If a sneer your face has crossed,
As a salesman you have lost.
If you think you have a right to Pick the ones you'll be polite to,
Soon you'll find to your dismay
You've let business get away.
Never mind your whims and fancies,
Give your best and take no chances.

To Keep Rogues From Profaning the Temple, Close the Temple Door

By ROBERT QUILLEN

WHETHER the divorce system now tolerated in America is right or wrong depends wholly on the kind of creature man is.

Man is either a brute or a god.

He is a mere animal, differing from other animals only in the degree of his intelligence, or he is a superior creature endowed with an immortal soul.

If he is a brute, without a God or hope of immortality, his conduct should be ruled only by expediency.

The laws that govern his mating should impose no restrictions except those required to protect society.

He should be required to care for his children lest they become a burden and a nuisance to his neighbors, and he should be required to care for a helpless mate lest she become a burden or a menace.

There his responsibility should end. In all other particulars he should be as free as his brethren in the barn.

He should mate at his convenience and pleasure and discard mates without formality or explanation.

But if he is an immortal soul, accountable to his God as well as his neighbors, then by his mating he collaborates with the Creator of all things to bring other immortal souls into existence, and thus his mating becomes sublime and sacred.

The normal mating of man and woman is a voluntary union prompted by mutual love and admiration. If in its normal and ideal form it is a sacred union, then any practice or custom that degrades it is a blasphemy and an indecency.

The woman who marries to win allmony is merely a kept woman, serving her time to win a pension.

The man who marries lightly and often is using a convenient law to make his mistresses respectable.

These are not true marriages. They are sacred in neither intent nor practice. The legal formality that ends them does not in fact dissolve a marriage, for there was no marriage to dissolve.

The fault in such cases is not in the separation, but in the blasphemous use of the word "marriage" to make lust and blackmail respectable.

It is not in truth a divorce evil that degrades America, but the abuse of a sacred institution to provide a cloak of decency for unions neither sacred nor right.

Bro. Howell's Snappy Version.

Boils on the neck are symptoms of poverty of the blood and indicate a need for cleansing and stimulation. We are reminded of that by the sudden determination of Republican managers at Washington to go out West at once and "sell" the tariff and the Farm Board to the agrarians in that region.

The G. O. P. elephant has evidently developed angry carbuncles, manifesting a diminishing blood stream in the western part of his political anatomy. So his keepers are going to his relief where he is ailing most. As they are experienced and adept hoodooers and have succeeded for half a century nearly, in hoodwinking the Western Republican farmers, leading them thus blinded into the Eastern shearing-pens, they may be expected to play their hypnotic arts successfully again in the forthcoming campaign round-up.

The Democrats have fewer hopeful prospects in the Western States than anywhere else in the Union. The only safe hope to win that they can work on is the combination of the larger Eastern and Midwestern States with those in the South that can be depended upon to maintain their stalwart Democratic integrity.

Borah on the changed Central America policy; Nye on a new corrupt practices act, applicable in 1932; Senator Wagner on the administration's appropriation as its own of the Wagner plan, vetoed in the Wagner bill, for a network of Federal employment agencies—oh! the things that would be said if Congress were in session!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Auto Speed Should Be Mechanically Limited, Says Reader, Because Drivers Will Be Reckless.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Nearly every Monday morning there is apt to be a column in the daily papers devoted to week-end automobile accidents. The sensible reader has reason to be thankful if one or more deaths are not recorded in an appalling list of serious injuries.

It is a common thing to refer to these accidents as due to carelessness. But probably the cause in most cases is high speed in situations where high speed may properly be called reckless.

Strangely enough traffic experts have up to this time failed to give speed the attention it deserves as a factor in the death-by-auto problem. Most motorists, timid and self-confident alike, have come to accept it as a necessary evil.

Looking to its abatement, John B. Dickman, treasurer of the National Association of Retired Federal Employes, in an article in The Annuitant, suggests a plan whose adoption may become necessary in the future. He would have the gear of automobiles fixed by law. He says:

"To curb the brainless speeder, a law, national in scope, should be enacted that would restrict the manufacturers of automobiles to a gear of not over a possible maximum of 35 miles per hour for general public-used automobiles. Such a limitation would protect the driver and passengers in automobiles."

As a very important feature, the plan would limit the use of light-speed machines to law-enforcement officers only.

"With such a law," says Mr. Dickman, "it is obvious that the criminal element would be seriously handicapped. Smoke screens would avail them nothing, and they would go out of business or could be put out of business, because all could be overtaken and arrested."

Certainly it has already been made pretty evident that we can not depend on the discretion of the individual motorist for the safe regulation of speed. So that the possibility of traffic safety by means of a mechanical inhibition is, it seems to me, well worth considering. SAFETY.

Teaching of History by Object Lessons in Washington Would Instill Patriotism in Children.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I agree with C. A. J. as to the importance of the course of study in the public schools designed to make our children familiar with points of interest in the National Capital. It should be considered not merely one of the most important, but, in my opinion, the most important next to the three R's.

It is worth considering that, when the children become full-fledged citizens, the acquaintance with their city gained through a thorough course of study, such as that suggested, would be of practical benefit in the workaday world. It would at the same time be a source of local pride and of inspiration in the field of civic affairs. Young children being quick to stow away knowledge in the concrete, there can be no better means of giving them a live start in American history than by arousing their interest in the outward show of national growth and greatness in Washington. By a systematic consideration of merely a few epochal memorials a distinct outline of our political progress might be fixed in the minds of the school children. Thus might be developed early in their lives the spirit of patriotism upon which good citizenship depends.

Certainly, in view of the tolerance which many academic thinkers and some of our political leaders now entertain for socialistic, un-American ideas, the school authorities should make a special effort to instill patriotism in Young America lest we forget that the primary object of the public schools is to make patriotic citizens. Gen. Smedley Butler Not the Only Holder of Two Congressional Medals of Honor.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Articles have appeared in the daily press from time to time during the past two or three months in each of which is stated that Gen. Smedley Butler of the United States Marine Corps is the only member of the U. S. armed forces who was ever awaarded two Congressional Medals of Honor Such a statement appeared in a first-page article of The Washington Post of this date. Mr. Ripley in his "Believe It Or Not" daily feature of a few weeks ago made a similar statement.

Two Army officers and two enlisted men of the Army were each awarded two Congressional Medals of Honor, namely:

Baldwin, Frank D., Captain, Company D, Nineteenth Michigan Infantry, (1864), subsequently First Lieutenant, Fifth U. S. Infantry (1874).

Custer, Thomas W., Second Lieutenant, Company B, Sixth Michigan Cavalry (1865).

Hogan, Henry, First Sergeant, Company G, Fifth U. S. Infantry, (1876) and (1877).

Wilson, William, Sergeant, Company I, Fourth U. S. Cavalry (1872).

For confirmation of the above, reference is made to War Department document No. 18-a, Office of The Adjutant General, entitled "American Decorations, 1862—1926". "ARMY"

KENSINGTON TO ASK LOWER GAS RATES

Commerce Group Empowers Protest on Alleged Discrimination.

The Maryland State Legislature passed all of the measures asked by the Kensington Chamber of Commerce, it was reported at a meeting of the chamber last night in the Kensington School, by Harry L. Martin, chairman of the legislation and legal action committee. Principal of these was appropriation of $20,000 for a high school site, the speeding of the Rock Creek Park extension program and improvement of the Garrett Park road.

H. D. Appleby, chairman of the roads, streets and bridge committee, was empowered to write to the Georgetown Gas Light Co., protesting against alleged discrimination in rates between Kensington and Rockville. Mayor Frederick Brown, of Kensington, who had written to them in protest, had received a reply which stated that Kensington rates were fixed before the new schedule was presented to the Public Service Commission, and Rockville rates afterward.

Maj. E. Brooke Lee, county Democratic organiation leader; Chief Engineer Irving C. Root, of the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission, and Lacy Shaw, president of the Montgomery County commissioners, will be invited to speak before a joint meeting of the chamber, the Kensington Women's Club, the Woman's Community Club and the Kensington Parent-Teacher Association, to explain park development plans.

W. I. Cleveland, delegate to the Montgomery County Civic Federation, urged that the chamber ask the civic federation to oppose a resolution introduced at the last meeting of the county body which would ask the Legislature to empower the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission to install water and sewer connections when health conditions demanded it and assess the cost against property involved unless judicial proceedings are provided for at which the property owner can have a hearing.

A letter of thanks to Commissioner Lacy Shaw and members of the State Roads Commission for the widening and straightening of Connecticut avenue from Chevy Chase Lake to Kensington, was authorized.

Hosmer Hartshorn was elected a director and chairman of the public utilities committee.

Tuition Charge Is Cut By Better Scholarship

Jackson, Miss., April 27 (U.P.).—It pays to be smart at Millsaps College here. Recently the college inaugurated a sliding scale of tuition in direct ratio to scholarship. Students averaging grades of 90 or better pay $75 a year, those averaging between 75 and 90 pay $100, and if the average is below 75 the cost is $125. Averages are determined on the previous year's work.

75 Per Cent of Schools In Arkansas Seek Relief

Little Rock, Ark., April 27 (A.P.).—A special Arkansas Educational Commission was told here today by Governor Parnell that, unless some form of financial relief is provided, 75 per cent of the schools in the state would not be able to open next fall.

The Governor advised the commission, which was set up by the last legislature to sek a solution of the schools' financial problem, that he would not call a special session of the legislature unless the commission recommended a plan of relief acceptable to Claud Hirst, State Commissioner of Education, and to a majority of legislators.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

LIN BONNER, a writer in the April 25 issue of the Motion Picture Herald, is quite justly incensed—unless, of course, what seems to be a majority opinion in the motion pictures industry is wrong—that John C. Flinn, at one time one of the foremost executives in the industry, should be left "on the spot" to which he was relegated to "take the rap" for a tragic misfortune for which it appears he was in no way to blame.

At the time Paramount made "The Covered Wagon," Flinn was high in the company's councils. Then he joined the P. D. C. organization and finally became affiliated with Pathe through the Pathe-P. D. C. merger. When the later R. K. O.-Pathe consolidation was effected, Flinn was left out in the cold entirely and now, broken in health and a nervous wreck, according to all report, he is without a post.

By an odd quirk of fate, John C. Flinn, as Mr. Bonner points out, was in the Pathe Sound Studios in New York City on that tragic December day in 1929 when four dancing girls and six men were burned to death in a disastrous fire. On May 6 he is docketed to go on trial charged with second degree manslaughter. If found guilty he may be sentenced to 15 years in prison.

Flinn entered the motion picture game from the New York Herald and a newspaper career of capable performance. He bids fair to leave it under conditions not at all of his own making and everyone is vastly sorry, but, as is usually the case, nobody seems to be doing anything about it.

When the West End Players put on "The Patsy," May 8 and 9, for the benefit of unemployed members of the Plasterers' Union, the principal feminine role will be played by Thelma Parker. Miss Parker will be remembered as the most popular member of Charles Emerson Cooke's Savoy Musical Comedy Co., at the Belasco Theater a few summers ago, and the talented dancer who later appeared with Wesley Eddy at the Palace for a week.

Roger Pryor, who appears at the Belasco this week in "Up Pops the Devil," sixth and last of the Professional Players' offerings for the current season, in case it had slipped your mind and I have my memory on straight, is the son of Arthur Pryor, formerly Sousa's solo trombonist and latterly conductor of his own band, broadcasting regularly on the Cremo Hour. Thus, as you might say, he appears before the public by Pryor right!

It is not entirely clear why they want that "Fashion Review" on the screen at the Earle this week with Maxine Doyle, the mellifluous mistress of ceremonies, changing her frock after every vaudeville act, each successive costume being a little more what-ho than the last. Miss Doyle's idea probably is that if they won't let her do a number, she will establish herself as a protean artiste, at least, and let it go at that.

That was a pretty swell piece of characterization William Faversham achieved wholly with his voice over the air Sunday night in Henry Arthur Jones' playlet, "The Goal." Paradoxically, he was the dying septuagenarian to the life.

So many excellent actors idling around Broadway only confirm me in my conviction that all that ails the stage is the stage—not any biased viewpoint of the public, unless you count its disinclination to be cheated.

Alarmed by the physical stagnation entailed by pursuit of the sedentary duties devolving upon the house manager and treasurer of the Rialto Theater, Rhinehold Wallach, the present incumbent of those important posts, has gone in heavily for horseback riding.

Having recently acquired a complete riding outfit—breeches, boots, stocks, crop, &c., &c.—Mr. Wallach will unquestionably dress the best horsemanship to be found on the bridle paths. If, perchance, you happen to see an unoccupied charger galloping past, it will probably be the one Mr. Wallach was riding up to a moment ago!

My horse doesn't start running until Glen Echo opens, and then I never catch the brass ring!

Dobie Will Review Pershing's Book

Virginia Law Professor to Broadcast Estimate of Work on Radio.

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., April 27.—Prof. Armistead M. Dobie, of the law faculty of the University of Virginia, will review Gen. Pershing's "My Experiences in the World War" over Station WRVA, Richmond, at 6:15 tomorrow evening as the 125th of the weekly Pater Quince book talks, conducted by thhe Virginia Quarterly Review.

Prof. Dobie's discussion of Pershing's book, just published in complete form, will be the more interesting and authoritative in view of his World War record.

A native of Norfolk and a graduate of the University of Virginia and Harvard, he was first commanding captain, U. S. R. Infantry section, and aid to Maj. Gen. Cronkhite at Camp Lee. Overseas he was Chief of Intelligence Publications Section, General Headquarters, A. E. F., and later was made assistant chief of staff, G2, Eightieth Division. He received his discharge on June 5, 1919. He received the decoration as an Officer d'Acadamie (palms, French). Prof. Dobie is the author of several law treatises.

FATIGUE MAY CAUSE COMMON COLD

System is More Susceptible to Infection When One is Exhausted

Nearly every cold that is suffered got its start when the afflicted was "tired out." A fatigued person is easily chilled, and when this condition occurs the sneeze and sore throat make their appearance.

Since most every one experiences fatigue in mid or late afternoon, it is wise to overcome this condition by eating or drinking something sweet. Candy, cookies, sweetened beverages and ice cream are quickly digested, and the energy in the sugar is ready at once to restore vigor. For children, a slice of bread and butter sprinkled with sugar is an appropriate "pick-up."

In these winter days, the importance of diet in relation to the resistance of the system should not be overlooked. The person who eats a wide variety of wholesome food fortifies himself against disease. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.

Miss Young Joins Working Girls' Ranks

Daughter of Reparations Head Scorns Society for Industry.

"KEEPING Up With the Poor Little Rich Girl" should be the theme of the newest exposition on the activities of young society women with jobs. The list of young women who choose the time clock at 9 and 5 rather than golf, contract and tea has for its newest recruit Miss Josephine Young, daughter of Mr. Owen D. Young, one time chairman of the reparations committee, and Mrs. Young, whom some members of the Democratic party would elevate to the White House.

Miss Young, a young lady with ideas, is doing research work for a national broadcasting company and organizing programs for the educational department. Tiring of Europe, New York and the desert winter home of her parents near Phoenix, Ariz., Miss Young has "set to work" with a vengeance.

Another recruit is Miss Estaire Filbert, daughter of Mr. William J. Filbert, comptroller of the United States Steel Corporation, who works in a department store and likes it.

Already attuned to the chimes of the time clock is Miss Natalie Hammond, versatile daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hays Hammond, of whom Washington so seldom catches a glimpse these days but who has on exhibition at the Corcoran Gallery of Art some distinctly original drawings which display tricks as interesting as the young woman herself.

Playing with line and color Miss Hammond has made of the group of prehistoric paintings religious pictures which are not pious, satiric ones which are not too amusing, weird designs which are not fantastic.

Miss Hammond has not only attained an enviable position as an artist in this country but in Europe as well. In 1927 she was the youngest exhibiting artist of the Royal Miniature Society in London, and, after a second exhibition there the following year she won the title of associate of that society. In Paris her exhibitions also met with outstanding success, her work having been acquired by the French government.

Devoted to her work Miss Hammond has given up most of her social activities usually indulged in by daughters of wealthy parents. During her debutante days in Washington she took part in the entertaining at the Hammond Mansion on Kalorama road. But recent years have found her passionately interested in creative work to which she devotes nearly all her time.

The United States Minister to Siam, Mr. David E. Kaufman, will arrive in Washington today and will be a guest at the Mayflower.

Miss Helen Eames Doherty entertained young people at the dinner dance at the Shoreham Hotel last evening, the party later occupying a box at the "Festival of Nations."

The guests were Miss Katherine Lowman, Miss Helen Walker, Mr. Howard Prescott Gatley, Lieut. James White and Mr. Duke Warrington.

Capital Folk At Wedding In New York

Bishop Freeman With Others See Miss Bowen Married.

A wedding of interest to the Capital took place yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, in New York, when Miss Mary Cochran Bowen, daughter of Mrs. Cochran Bowen, became the bride of Mr. John Thomas Hjorth, son of Mr. John L. Hjorth and the present Mrs. M. L. Wendekier. The ceremony was performed in the home of the bride's mother on Fifth avenue, the Rev. Ralph W. Sockman, of the Madison Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, officiating. The Lohengrin wedding march was played by an orchestra, and during the ceremony Mr. Rafaelo Diaz sang, with organ accompaniment. During the benediction the meditation from "Thais" was played followed by Mendelssohn's wedding march.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. William F. Cochran, of Baltimore and wore a gown of cream-color satin with a rose point lace veil, which was worn by her mother at her wedding. The bride carried a prayer book, with a marker of lilies of the valley. A reception followed the ceremony.

Among those who attended the wedding were the Bishop of Washington and Mrs. James E. Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ewing, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hamilton Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Mrs. Thomas Ewing, jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Ewing, Mr. and Mrs. William F. C. Ewing, of New York; the Second Secretary of the Canadian Legation and Mrs. Thomas Archibald Stone and Mrs. and Mrs. Newbold Noyes, of Washington.

Also Mrs. Lindsley Ayers, Miss Sanford, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Cochran, of Baltimore; Mr. William F. Cochran, jr. Prince and Princess Hohenloe Schillingsfirst, Mme. de Brabant, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Cornwell Leffingwell, Mr. Robert Underwood Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. John Maynard Harlan, Miss Masters, Mr. and Mrs. Maitland F. Griggs, Mr. Chandler Hale, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin A. Batcheller, Mr. and Mrs. Irving H. Chase and Miss Elizabeth Irving Chase, of Waterbury, Conn.; Dr. and Mrs. Harlow Brooks and Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Brevoort Barretto.

Mrs. Bayly Will Sail For France on May 6.

Mrs. William Hamilton Bayly will sail for France on the George Washington on May 6, with the first group of Gold Star Mothers. Mrs. Bayly will not return with the group but will spend the summer in Europe.

The 500 Club will entertain at dinner this evening at the Dodge Hotel in honor of their husbands and specially invited guests. Following the dinner the guests will play 500. Covers will be laid for the following: Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gatley, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Goodacre, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dilli, Mr. and Mrs. Colmer, Mr. and Mrs. Powell Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Ergood, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Schloser, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Edd Crane, Mrs. Murray Keiffner, Mrs. Grace Preston and Mrs. M. E. Booth.

Maj. and Mrs. James B. Mann will have as their guest the latter's mother, Mrs. Frank E. Hopkins, of New York, who will come to Washington on Friday.

Mrs. Hoover Plans to Visit In New York

Will Be Guest on May 6 of Maternity Center Officers.

Mrs. Hoover is expected to attend a luncheon on May 6 at the Park Lane in New York for the president and board of directors of the Maternity Center Association as a part of the association's national educational effort to enlist the interest of the public. The date of the event, which is headed by Mrs. Kermit Roosevelt, was selected to take advantage of an opening on Mrs. Hoover's calendar.

At the luncheon there will be brief addresses by Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Dr. Thomas Parran, jr., assistant surgeon general of the United States Public Health Service, and Dr. Philip Van Ingen, secretary of the American Child Health Association.

This educational effort of the Maternity Center Association is attracting wide interest. The list of patrons and patronesses includes not only the State health authorities of 25 States and Miss Grace Abbott, director of the Children's Bureau, and Surgeon General Cumming, but representatives of society and politics, the presidents of 26 State Federations of Women's Clubs, and the wives of the Governors of Maine, Illinois, Montana, North Dakota and North Carolina.

The President and Mrs. Hoover received the Daughters of 1812 yesterday at 5 o'clock at the White House. Several hundred members of the organization met at the Willard last night for the formal opening of the thirty-ninth associate council. Last night the President was honor guest at the Gridiron dinner and Mrs. Hoover attended the Festival of Nations at Constitution Hall, given for the benefit of the Girl Scouts of America, of which she is national honorary president.

Dean John Donaldson, of the Columbian College of George Washington University, and Mrs. Donaldson will entertain at dinner at the Shoreham Hotel this evening in compliment to President Cloyd Heck Marvin, of George Washington University, and Mrs. Marvin.

Among the delegates to the World Congress of the International Chamber of Commerce which will be held in Washington next month is Mr. H. L. F. Legercrantz, former Minister of Sweden, who is on the high seas, having sailed from Gothenberg on the S. S. Gripsholm.

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

PLEASE tell me the first step in lawn-making. I do not want directions for making but rather for keeping a lawn. We have just moved into a home with a fair lawn. The grass last year I understand was fine. I want to know whether it should have a tonic this spring.

FRANCIS McC.

Select the first mild day and give your lawn a raking, then apply a liberal amount of grass seed to the bare places. Next an application of plant food should be made, using a mixture of bone meal and sheep manure or well-balanced plant food. After applying give the lawn a thorough watering to wash the food down to the hungry roots, thus helping the turf to develop a healthy and vigorous root system.

Do red-hot poker plants require a light, sandy soil and a great deal of sun?

ELSIE T. P.

They require a great deal of sun, but they demand rich, moderately heavy loam.

I have a primrose which has been beautiful all winter, but is now dying down. Can I plant it outside when spring comes? I also have a trailing coleus and calla lily which are not doing well. Please help me to improve their condition.

MISS ANNA M.

Would suggest that you plant your primrose in the open when the weather permits. Keep it well watered all summer and in late August give it some liquid manure or bone meal. Both the coleus and the calla lily require a great deal of moisture, sun and fresh air. The coleus will improve when the weather permits placing it in the open. Try giving the calla at this time some liquid manure or bonemeal. Also be sure to keep the surface soil in the pots quite loose.

Please let me know the care to give the plant from which the inclosed berry was taken.

MRS. S. L.

The berry was crushed when it reached my desk, but I feel sure from the accompanying leaf and the color of the seed that your plant is a Jerusalem cherry. This plant requires water every day and a cool but sunny situation. The warm, dry air in the house always causes the leaves and fruit to fall.

Please tell me of some perennials that can easily be raised which will bloom the entire season. I have just purchased a new home and know little about flowers. I am especially anxious to have a showing of bloom throughout the fall. Are jonquils hard to raise?

FANNY L. P.

Sweet Williams, iris, columbine, peonies, gaillardia, larkspur, hollyhocks, hibiscus are all easily raised. For fall bloom I should suggest several varieties of chrysanthemums, some hardy asters and gysophila. Plant some shaggy, pompon, button and single varieties of chrysanthemums. Also plant a few annuals, especially petunias and zinnias. They make a splendid showing of color.

Jane Interprets the Mode

This pink tweed morning coat dotted in gray and white has interesting slanting lines. (Courtesy of Jenny, Paris.)

New York, April 27.

WITH these short-sleeved coats this season you must be extremely careful of the type of sleeve of the frock worn beneath. Under the tiny cap sleves the sleeves of your dress should be long and plain and cuffless for greatest chic. The three-quarter and elbow-length variety allow you a greater choice in the kind of sleeve worn beneath them—sometimes the frock sleeve is exactly the length of the coat sleeve, but in this event the bare arm must be covered with long gloves.

Three-quarter sleeves are very lovely indeed when the frock beneath has sleves with very ornamental puff cuffs or slashings showing. Or again, they are quite as lovely and certainly quite as chic when worn with a gauntlet glove to complete them.

Jenny shows any number of three-quarter sleeved coats with gauntlets, the cuffs of which were incrusted with the material of the coat. The point is not to have your arm look out of joint or too long in the forearm, or in the upper arm—as it would certainly look if you had a tiny cap sleeve on your coat, an elbow sleeve on your dress, and very short gloves. The idea is not to have you arm look as if it were pieced together and the danger in these sleeves is that if you're not very careful they give you a haphazard and fussy look about the arms, which is sure death to chic!

• • • •

One very great advantage to these new coats, my dears, is that they can be made to do double duty, if that means anything to you! A black diagonal wool coat with bell sleeves could be worn with a daytime dress in plaid or checks or stripes, with gay and morningish results. While the same coat, worn over a frock of afternoon material, such as chiffon or georgette, becomes, presto! a dressy afternon ensemble.

• • • •

Jenny has caught the essence of Spring itself and embodied it in this morning coat of pink tweed, flecked with gray and white dots, that I have sketched for you today. It's a coat that makes any morning stroll a happy event—for what Madame Elegante is not made happy by envious glances of passers-by? And what passer-by wouldn't look twice at a coat with interesting slanting lines given it by the side pockets and incrustations, 'n' this slanting motif is repeated in the scarf. Here's for more and longer strolls, n'cest ce pas?

Once upon a time, my children, there was a Lovely Lady—strange as it seems—who just wouldn't wear pyjamas which was her only bad habit. When she relaxed at home she put on a loose and unbecoming dress and just slumped around in it. But ONE day, there came a knock on the door, and in walked that BEE-youtiful young man she had met the week before and she had to waste fifteen minutes of his wonderful and unexpected call in getting into a pretty frock and erasing hot and bothered expressions from her face. For you see, my dears, this Lovely Lady was not a Dare' reader, and she didn't know all about the joys—and the economy, too—of owning pyjamas that are o-o-oh so comfy to lounge around in, and lovely enough to wear if a dozen unexpected and BEE-youtiful young men dropped in. This week's leaflet telling all about this pyjama notion, and combining it with a smart street suit for economy, has been prepared just for you, and you can get your copy right away by sending your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare department of The Washington Post.

Brand new spring ensembles—are you interested? Then read Dare's weekly fashion letter in next Sunday's big Washington Post.

Au revoir.

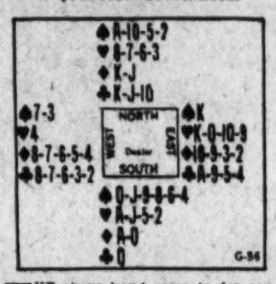
WORK ON BRIDGE

A QUESTION OF FINESSE.



THE above hand came in for considerable comment, when it proved the decisive factor in a Duplicate Contract match between two prominent clubs.

At both tables, South bid two Spades and North had more than enough to bid four Spades, which closed the contracting.

At Auction South would bid one Spade and North probably would preempt mildly by bidding two. East might have chanced a lead-directing bid of two Hearts, but would not risk three.

At both tables West led the Four of Hearts. When partner has not bid, and the leader does not hold four trumps to an honor or a high honor-sequence in another suit, a singleton lead is a good gamble. At both tables South's Ace took East's Queen.

At Table No. 1 South played the Queen of Spades to trick 2. West the Trey and Declarer paused to count his tricks. South felt sure that West had led a singleton Heart, and knew that a finesse with ten in suit would gain more often than it would lose, but South also knew that disaster threatened if East held the singleton Spade King, in which case West would ruff a Heart with the remaining Spade. He correctly decided that his best chance for game was to play the Ace of Spades and immediately set up his Clubs. If the King of Spades did not fall it would win eventually; but unless West had all the adverse Spades, discards on Clubs would limit the losses to one Spade, one Club and one Heart. When the King of Spades dropped, South played a second round of Spades, established Clubs, and lost but one Club and one Heart.

When South led the Queen of Spades at Table No. 2, West false-carded with the Seven, West hoped that the false card would make South think that East had the Trey, and reason that if East had the King, it was guarded and sure to win. South was deceived and took the finesse. East won and played the King of Hearts; when he saw West discard, he led the Ten of Hearts. South played the Jack and West trumped with the Trey of Spades. South still had to lose a Club and another heart, so he was set two tricks.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"TAURUS."

IF April 28 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7 a. m. to 9 a. m., from 2:30 p. m. to 4 p. m., and from 11 p. m. to midnight. The danger periods are from noon to 2 p. m. and from 6:30 p. m. to 8 p. m.

The signs predict that destiny of Fate will direct your actions on this date, do, think or say what you may. The straw which will break the back of further resistance pertaining to something of vital interest to you will be blown your way. Social affairs taking place during the evening are marked for success.

The children born on this April 28 will be inclined to be selfish and self-centered, and will be bigoted and stubborn-minded. They will be patient workers, exact and precise in their methods, and attentive to small details. They will be fond of ease and comfort, and will work for the luxuries of life.

Born on April 28, there are many impractical planks, a few weak ones, but none which are vicious, in the platform of your character. Your faults react against yourself more than they unpleasantly affect others. You scatter your energies, whereas another would bale them. You try to keep too many balls rolling at the same time. Your generosity is so extreme that it becomes a fault instead of a virtue, as far as you are concerned. You not only give until it hurts, but many a time until you are ruined. He who seeks your sympathy never turns away without receiving some balm. Your happiness lies in doing for others.

You have considerable pride, and you like to go one better than the other fellow, to make a splash of your own. You act on the spur of the moment and, prompted by impulse rather than logic, you often pull a "boner." You have the soul if not the fingers or technique, of an artist. You are a child of nature, and her beauties are not lost upon you. Your heart bleeds for the suffering of animals, and you are an active fighter for their cause.

You are not in the least reserved, and are a most approachable person. You seem to find something good in everybody, and the nice things you say are not all blarney. It is difficult to pick a fight with you, for your good humor disarms everybody. You will reap the rewards of a kind heart and you will never be spiritually poor or chronically unhappy.

Successful people born April 28:

James Monroe, fifth President of the United States.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

WASTING HER TIME?

DEAR Frances McDonald: I am very young and, like Dorothy, who wrote about her cheap boy friends, I want to get set straight at the start. Here is my question. I met last summer an awfully sweet and congenial man. He has several times come some considerable distance to visit me here. Now he is nearer and comes more often still. When away he writes regularly; is interested in every little thing I do; always praising me; tells me I am going to be the finest woman ever, and all that. But he does not come out and ask me to marry him, or even to wait for him.

Far from being cheap or niggardly, he sees that I have a wonderful time when he comes. Takes me everywhere and is always planning for my pleasure, as well as for what he calls my "mental development," suggesting books, &c. But that is not getting anywhere—is it? I am only seventeen, but nevertheless I do not want to waste my time on a man who has no serious intentions toward me.

Should I treat him coolly and let our friendship either end where it is or come to something definite before I waste any more time on him? Naturally the object of such friendships is marriage and if the man has no such thought there is no sense meeting trains, getting water waves and otherwise running temperatures—do you think?

Please tell me whether you think he would go on as he has if he really cared. It is nearly a year now, and he is 26. Am I just wasting time?

SEVENTEEN.

Well, well, well! That is surely getting down to brass tacks! He is charming, congenial, entertains, is devoted and admiring and Miss 1931 without turning a hair could send him packing! This new generation is going to be the death of us. Between the girls who pay the dinner check in their eagerness to have something allegedly male at the table, and those who apparently have no feeling whatever for the poor man who is dreaming his dreams, we do not know how to take the so-called "girl of today." She is one girl at seventeen and quite another at 25. And we just wonder whether it is what a girl is and does at 17 that determines her status at 25.

When a girl looks upon all men as mere prey at 17 is she very likely to be dependent upon the inferior men at 25? There is something all wrong in the attitude of girls toward men and men toward girls in this self-seeking day of ours. Nothing of the sincere interest that is the very heart of understanding. How can this child or any other call it a waste of time to enjoy such a friendship, such a courtship as she describes so unfeelingly. How can a hope to know men and understand her own when he appears, if all contact with men has been to her a "waste of time" if unaccompanied by routine avowals? Is there nothing to be gained by delightful contact? She even begrudges the water waves! What is happening to woman anyway? She can not go on palpitating as her maiden aunts, but surely there should ever be joy in giving the utmost in beauty in return for the tribute laid at our feet. Where will we turn for joy when man ceases to be a joy to us? Just what will we do with the time we do not waste in learning from him and teaching him?

Read again that letter from "Seventeen". Will she at 25 be wondering why life has passed her by, and be paying some gigolo's dinner chick just to have a man around to notice her water wave?

YOUR NAME — WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

By HARRY A. DEFERRARI, Ph. D.

THE family name "Maddox" is found throughout Great Britain, but it is ultimately of Welsh origin. It means "the son of Maddock." "Maddock" (also spelled "Maddick") is derived from the Welsh "Madog" which means "goodly" and "beneficent." A certain Kenwrec Maddoc is mentioned in the Pipe Roll, an important record of twelfth century English names. In Ireland the family name "Maddock" occurs especially in Kilkenny, Tipperary and Waterford.

The family name "Tully" has come down to us from two main Celtic sources. Frequently it is derived from the Irish "O Maoltuile," which means "the descendant of Maoltuile." The personal name "Maoltuile" means "devoted to the will of God." Some families which originally bore this name have since changed it to "Flood" because of the mistaken belief that its translation is "the chief of the flood." Another source of "Tully" is the Irish "O Talthligh" which means "the descendant of Taithleach." The personal name "Taithleach" means "quiet," and "peaceful." In some cases "O Taithligh" has become the modern Irish family names "Tally" and "Tilly."

The family name "MacTavish" is of Scottish origin, although it is now common in Irland and in parts of England. It means "the son of Thomas." The personal name "Thomas" is ultimately of Hebrew origin, and means "the twin."

The family name "Pilcher" is found in the earliest English records. It means "the pilch-maker," and indicates the occupation of the persons who were first so called. A pilch was a kind of a fur gown. The Hundred Rolls mentions a certain Hugh le Pilecher and a Nicholas Pilchere.

3 cups milk.
2-3 teaspoon salt.
¼ teaspoon celery salt
¼ teaspoon paprika.
2 tablespoons chopped pimentos.
1 egg, beaten.

Melt the butter and add the flour. When blended add the milk and seasonings. Cook until creamy sauce forms. Stir constantly. Add the cooked eggs and the beaten egg. Cook 1 minute. Stir constantly. Serve at once, poured over hot, buttered toast. Garnish with parsley.

Sugar Cookies.

2-3 cup butter.
1½ cups sugar.
2 eggs.
1 teaspoon vanilla.
1 teaspoon nutmeg.
2 tablespoons cream.
¼ teaspoon salt.
2½ cups flour.
2 teaspoons baking powder.

Cream the butter and sugar. Add the eggs, vanilla, nutmeg, cream and salt. Beat 2 minutes. Add rest of ingredients. Chill dough. Break off bits and flatten down, 3 inches apart on greased baking pans. Bake 12 minutes.

Spring Dessert.

6 squares angel food cake.
2 cups whipped cream.
½ cup sugar.
1 teaspoon vanilla.
½ cup diced marshmallows.
1-8 cup blanched almonds.
1 cup canned peaches.

Mix and chill the cream, sugar and vanilla. Add the almonds and pile on cake. Spread with peaches and serve at once.

To remove the oder of fish or onions from the frying pans after the food has been removed, boil 1 cup of vinegar in the pan for five minutes. Rinse well and wash in hot soap suds and there will be no odor.

YOUTH KILLS FATHER TO PROTECT MOTHER

Charges Not Yet Preferred After Fatal Shooting Near Harrisonburg.

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., April 27.—Rockingham officers tonight had not preferred any charges against 14-year-old Randolph Shiflett, who Sunday night shot and killed his father, George E. Shiflett, 52, to protect the life of his mother at their Ford home, 15 miles southeast of Harrisonburg.

Officers said they will not prefer charges until after the funeral of the victim, tomorrow. Mrs. Shiflett is suffering severely from shock. Commonwealth's Attorney Wampler D. Wampler Earman said the case might be presented to the next circuit court grand jury for investigation.

The elder Shiflett is said to have thrown his wife to the floor and was kicking and beating her when the boy walked into the room.

The lad stepped back into the kitchen and obtained a shotgun. He fired at his father about 6 feet away. The charge tore away the upper half of the skull, the father dying instantly.

The son said he knew his father carried a pistol and that he shot to save the life of his mother, after the older Shiflett threatened to kill her and made a move as if to draw the pistol. A weapon was found on the body.

The boy, after the shooting, telephoned Deputy Sheriff W. E. Lucas at Elkton of the tragedy. He also summoned the neighborhood storekeeper to the home. The officers and neighbors found Mrs. Shiflett suffering from shock and bruises and requiring medical attention.

Committee to Study New Parking Rules

A study of the parking restrictions enforced between 8 o'clock and 9 o'clock in the morning, recently put into operation by the District Commissioners, is to be made by the committee on transportation of the Washington Chamber of Commerce, it was announced by George Kneipp, chairman of the committee, following a luncheon meeting of the committee yesterday at the Hamilton Hotel.

The study will be made with a view to determining the effects of the no parking regulations on the motor traveling public. The result of the study, with recommendations, will be made public in a report in about a month's time, it was announced by Mr. Kneipp.

Jury Awards $1,000 In Automobile Mishap

A jury in Justice Siddons' Court yesterday awarded a $1,000 verdict to Gertrude Clark, 622 Otis place northwest, for an injury she suffered March 30, 1928, when struck by an automobile at Ninth and R streets northwest.

Lena Hyatt and Hyman Hyatt, of Four-and-a-half street near K street southwest, owner and operator, respectively of the machine that struck Miss Clark, were assessed the award. Attorney Alvin L. Newmyer represented Miss Clark, who sued through her mother.

DAUGHTERS OF 1812 PAY OFF MORTGAGE

ers of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, who flew over both the North and South Poles and the Atlantic Ocean, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Chief of Staff of the United States Army.

It was decided some time ago to present these medals, and the presentation will take place at the annual dinner at the Willard tonight.

Both of the mothers to be honored are Virginians, and both members of old families that have been producing heroes and leaders for several generations. Mrs. MacArthur, an invalid, too ill to leave her room at her son's home at Fort Myer, Va., has commissioned her soldier son to receive the medal for her. She is probably the first woman in all history, and certainly the only one in American history, to be both widow and mother of a chief of staff.

Mrs. Byrd is expected to be present at the ceremony. At many a triumph for her son she has been present, but she has insisted on keeping in the background. Only once has she asserted her mother's priority claim and had Richard come home to her in Winchester, Va., and that was at a mass meeting which had been planned at the University of Virginia some time ago while Byrd was there lecturing. He realized her eagerness to have him with her and went home.

Other guests at the banquet will include Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, president general of the D. A. R.; Assistant Secretary of the Navy David S. Ingalls, and Representative J. Charles Linthicum and Mrs. Linthicum, of Maryland.

Former Gov. Leslie M. Shaw of Iowa, was principal speaker at the night session yesterday and Harry Rimmer, president of the Research Science Bureau, of Los Angeles, was also a speaker. He spoke on "The Past Cries Out to the Present."

Both the morning and afternoon sessions today will have to do with various committee reports and organization business. In addition, there will be the reports of the State presidents, and a hearing on the resolutions and recommendations by Mrs. Henry James Carr, of Pennsylvania.

Miss Alice Bernheim, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Bernheim also entertained a party at dinner last evening at the Shoreham when her guests were Miss Margene Musser, Miss Elsie Alexander, Miss Barbara Truby, Miss Edwina Davis, Maj. Reinhardt, Maj. Roy Stout, Mr. Paul Caraway, Mr. Earl Mays, Lieut. H. Peterson, and Lieut. William Thompson.

Peirce Guild to Give May Party on Friday.

The Peirce Guild, of which Mrs. Wendell P. Stafford is president, will give a May Day party on Friday at the new Washington Home for Foundlings, at 4610 Forty-second street, west of Wisconsin avenue, at Tenleytown. The guild is named in honor of Joshua Peirce, who donated the original site for the home at Fifteenth and R streets. The members will act as hostesses throughout the afternoon, welcoming visitors who will be greatly interested in seeing the little tots in their attractive new environment.

Tea will be served from 4 to 6, under direction of Mrs. J. A. Van Orsdel, Mrs. Frank W. Mondell and Mrs. Carl A. Droop. Others assisting will be Mrs. James E. Baines, Mrs. William Hamilton Bayly, Mrs. Aldis B. Browne, Mrs. Frank L. Browne, Mrs. H. C. Browning, Mrs. J. B. Church, Mrs. James M. Green, Mrs. George A. King, Mrs. John C. Letts, Mrs. H. B. Wilson and Mrs. Simon Wolf.

Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and Mrs. George Maynard Minor and Mrs. George Thatcher Guernsey, honorary presidents general, will be the guests of honor at a reception to be given tomorrow evening by the Captain Mollie Pitcher Chapter, D. A. R., at the Washington Club.

The reception will be followed by an illustrated lecture on "Williamsburg" by Mrs. Bates Warren, vice chairman of the Eastern division, committee on patriotic lectures and lantern slides. Mrs. Warren, who wrote the lecture, had the slides prepared from priceless old cuts of Williamsburg in the days of its glory as the social center of young America. The lecture has been presented as a gift to the D. A. R. and is the latest addition to the society's library of patriotic lectures, which are available for use all over the United States.

Among others who are expected to attend the reception are Miss Helen Harman, State regent of the District D. A. R., and the State regents of Maryland and Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Compton have as house guests Prof. and Mrs. Arthur Compton, of Chicago University, and Mr. Karl Compton, president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Mrs. Compton who are attending the National Academy of Science meeting.

Mrs. John S. McFarland, of Indianapolis, Ind., has taken an apartment at Wardman Park Hotel, where she will make her home during the summer.

Miss Ruth Bryant, of Washington, will be one of the bridesmaids at the wedding on May 29 of Miss Anita Mary Bradshaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Bradshaw, of Morristown, N. J., and Mr. J. Brooks Nichols, jr., son of Col. J. Brooks Nichols and Mrs. Nichols, of New York and Convent, N. J. Col. Nichols will be his son's best man.

Lieut. Col. Cortland Parker has been assigned to the American Embassy in London, where he will be military attache. With Mrs. Parker, he plans to sail early in July for Europe to assume his new duties. Col. Parker will succeed Col. John Thomas, present military attache, who will return to this country early in August and will be detailed to Fort Bragg, S. C.

Hollin Hall Open For Inspection Tomorrow.

Hollin Hall, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Peyton Wilson, in Fairfax County, Va., will be open to the public tomorrow and Thursday for the Wakefield Garden Pilgrimage, under the auspices of the Garden Club of Fairfax Courthouse. Mrs. Amos Chilcott and Mrs. F. D. Richardson will be in charge.

This is the first time this estate has been opened to the public. Arrangements were perfected Saturday to make this addition to the previously announced tour. The house is built at the highest point along the Potomac River, on the site of the home built by George Mason for his son, Thompson, which was destroyed by fire. Visitors to the park and garden this week will also be shown, without extra charge, the original spinning house, where the Mason family lived after the fire, and the guest house, where the Wilson house parties are entertained.

For benefit of Women's Army and Navy League a rummage sale will be given tomorrow and the rest of the week. The committee includes Mrs. Lutz Wahl, Mrs. Merritte W. Ireland, Mrs. William P. Connor, Mrs. George S. Gibbs, Mrs. Stephen O. Fuqua, Mrs. Hugh A. Drumm, Mrs. Charles Bridges, Mrs. James McKinley, Mrs. Harry L. Gilchrist, Mrs. John W. Gulick, Mrs. Harry L. Steele.

Grinnell College Alumni Have Memorial Dinner.

The alumni and friends of Grinnell College in Washington met at the Dodge Hotel for dinner last evening, followed by a memorial meeting in honor of President John Hanson Thomas Main, who died April 7. In June President Main would have completed his twenty-fifth year as president of Grinnell College and 39 years of service there.

Among the guests at the dinner were Dr. Charles Noble, retired professor of English at Grinnell and Mrs. Noble; Mrs. Mary Grinnell Mears, daughter of Josiah Grinnell, founder of the town of Grinnell; Mrs. Mabel Lanphier Beck, of the class of 1881; Dr. and Mrs. Irwin Mather, and Mr. George Authier, all of whom gave short appreciations of tribute. Miss Anna Tiede presided.

A number of luncheon parties were given preceding the lecture yesterday, at the National Women's Country Club. Mrs. Woodrow Wilson was the ranking guest of Mrs. Mark L. Bristol; Mrs. Walter R. Tuckerman, president of the club, entertained a company of ten in honor of Miss Janet Richards, the speaker of the afternoon, having with her also Mrs. Edward Walker, Mrs. Arthur MacArthur, Mrs. Andre Brewster, Mme. Gregor, Mrs. Robert O'Donnell Hinckley, Mrs. E. K. Patterson, Mrs. Rushmore Patterson, Miss Eleanor Tucker and Miss Anne Tucker.

Mrs. Guy V. Henry was hostess to a group which included Mrs. George W. Goethals, Mrs. James L. Ackerson, Mrs. James Robinson, Mrs. Marvin Wright and Mrs. Robert Ralston.

Mrs. Camden R. McAtee entertained a company of ten, having with her Mrs. James J. Rady, wife of Rear Admiral Rady; Mrs. John C. Gotwals, Mrs. Thornton Boland, Miss Bertha Coontz, Mrs. John R. Walker, Mrs. A. C. Waller, Mrs. Howard Ford, Mrs. Moncure Burke and Mrs. George Whitecotton.

Mrs. Lucian A. Clarke had in her company of guests Mrs. Charles W. Fairfax, Mrs. Theodore Chandler, Mrs. Ogilvie Shumate, Mrs. Hines, wife of Gen. Hines, Mrs. William Morgan, Mrs. Anne Walsh, of Atlanta, Ga., and Mrs. John W. Walker.

Others noted in the luncheon parties were Mrs. John Walker Holcombe, Mrs. Bates Warren, Mrs. Ryan, Mrs. Virginia White Speel, Mrs. James E. Hughes and Mrs. Perry Heath.

Former Attorney General and Mrs. A. Mitchell Palmer entertained at dinner Sunday evening at the Carlton in honor of former Ambasasdor to Japan and Mrs. Roland S. Morris. The other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Walter V. Briggs, of Detroit, and their guests on their yacht Cambriona and also Representative and Mrs. Fred A. Britten.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Teague had as their guests at the Mayflower for the week-end their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Briggs, of Philadelphia.

THE BEST PENS EVER OFFERED AT $5.00

Five reasons why this five dollar pen—No. 94—is the most "ownable" pen you can find at the price:

No. 94 may be had in any one of Waterman's pen points to suit any style of writing.

No. 94 is in smart modern design—with balance, weight and diameter just right.

No. 94 clips low in the pocket and fits comfortably in the hand.

No. 94 has an unusually large ink capacity—and an extra-large gold point.

No. 94 comes in blue, grey and brown—all colors men like, and wear.

Another excellent buy at $5 is the Waterman's special woman's pen—LADY PATRICIA.

Waterman's Inks make any fountain pen write better. Always use them and get real pen satisfaction.

Every Waterman's is guaranteed forever against defects. Service Stations are maintained at the addresses below for the purpose of making good our guarantee and for servicing our pens as required.

Neuritis

There is no pain like Neuritis. There is nothing quite so torturing—so utterly unbearable as Neuritis. It robs life of all joy—and makes people desperate. But Neuritis is not hopeless—it responds to proper treatment. A well-known physician has written us, "Have been drinking Mountain Valley Water for six weeks for Neuritis and am feeling better than I have for two years." Mountain Valley Mineral Water from Hot Springs, Ark., brings relief in Neuritis because it gets at the root of the trouble—it tends to neutralize the acids which are irritating the nerves and retards the further accumulation of these acids by aiding healthy, normal elimination through the kidneys. Renew your hope—learn how Nature can help you. Phone for our booklet today. Met. 1062.

ADVANCED REFRIGERATION

You needn't do a daily dozen to reach the rice pudding in a Frigidaire!

Every part of every food shelf of a Frigidaire may be easily reached without acrobatics. Even the back of the bottom-most one is accessible—you need never stoop down as though you were about to touch your toes!

All Frigidaire food shelves are elevated—far enough from the floor to do away with tiresome bending-over . . .

How many millions of weary women have wished for the comforting convenience of the easy-to-get-at food storage that is a feature of every Frigidaire!

Indeed, if these sensibly placed shelves were the only outstanding advantage of this famous refrigerator, they would, in themselves, make Frigidaire well worth while to countless thousands of housewives!

Waist-high, easily accessible food shelves are one of the very real advantages of Frigidaire Advanced Refrigeration. There are many others. It is such advantages, developed by Frigidaire, that have made household refrigeration so healthful, convenient and economical. We invite you to come in to our showroom at your first opportunity and learn all about them.

TWO ZAIN CONTEST PERIODS COMBINED

More Than 565 Prizes Will Be Distributed in Third and Fourth Weeks.

Want $100 or a $165 A. B. C. Washer? Of course you do. Why not win the money or the washer in the Zain Amateur Ad Contest?

There are more than 565 prizes to be distributed in the third and fourth weeks of this contest which have been combined into one ad writing period. To the persons writing the best ads about the 35 participating concerns prizes like these will be given them: $100 in cash, first prize, and if you are a daily and Sunday subscriber to The Washington Post instead of the $100 you will receive $110. A $165 A. B. C. Washer, three strands of Triple X. Richelieu pearls and 526 merchandize awards are some of those other prizes worth winning.

All those special prizes which you will find in a box on this page will also be given to contestants submitting the best ads. Some of them are given weekly and others at the close of this contest. Be sure and read the list carefully. One of them can be yours; all you need to do is read the rules of this contest, read the list of concerns participating and write as many ads about each concern as you like and mail as many in one envelope as you can to the Editor of The Post-Zain Ad Writing Contest.

Write One Ad On Each Firm.

In order to win that grand award of $1,000 which will be given to the author of the best ad submitted in the seven weeks of this contest, you must write at least one ad about each concern. The more you write the better you write, therefore keep on writing ads every day. Each day you write ads brings you that much closer to winning that $1,000 grand award. While you are working toward that goal the daily ads that you mail to the Zain Ad Test Editor will win one of those worthwhile weekly prizes for you.

Ad writing is very easy. You will find it interesting, educational and very profitable. Send your ad in the form that suits you best. It can be a poem, a slogan, a testimonial or a witty phrase. The idea is what counts, not grammar, punctuation, or layout. Learn about those concerns with which you are not familiar. Call at their places of business. They will be very glad to help you obtain information.

Suppose you want to write an ad about Emile, Inc. How would you go about it? First of all you know it is the largest beauty salon in Washington, with a staff of 55 competent operators. Mr. Emile was first to introduce permanent waving to Washington, and the third to introduce it to America.

Styles by Photoradiogram.

You will always find the latest in approved methods at Emile's. The instant styles are created in Paris you can depend upon it that Emile will bring them to you via cable, photoradiogram regardless of expense. Avail yourself of Emile's invitation to call at the shop, and this will enable you to learn more about it.

The Earl Theater is another concern about which contestants are asked to write. This temple of amusement is one of the largest and most beautiful theaters in Washington. It is better known to most of us as the home of that charming, vivacious "Thank You" girl, Miss Maxine Doyle. In writing your ad consider the musical program offered each week, the type of feature picture shown and the newsreel. Tell what you liked best of recent programs and what you would like included in them. State the Earl policy of courteous treatment and artistic appeal.

Write an ad about the Home Laundry. This concern has offered satisfactory laundry services to this community for many years. Each piece of your laundry is washed clean in soft rainwater, ironed on pressers and returned to you ready to wear or lay away. All shirts and boys' blouses are de luxe hand finished. Personal attention and cooperation given individuals has made many friends for this concern.

Furniture Store Is Listed.

Good living room suites are being shown at the P. J. Nee Furniture Co. These suites are upholstered in velvet, antique tapestries and damasks and present picturesque appearance. The company also carries a large selection of floor coverings, wonderful values. Let their courteous salespeople show you through this store where all the problems of remodeling the interior of one's home, in the furniture line, can be satisfactorily solved.

Everybody likes candy and ice cream. That's why Avignone Freres' delicious candies and ice cream prove such easy subjects about which to write ads for this contest. The thoughtful hostess always keeps a supply of Avignone Freres candy and ice cream for unexpected guests. Just the thing for a bridge party, an afternoon tea or a Post-Zain ad test party.

The more of these pure sugar confections of Avignone Freres you eat, the more sure you are that the last ad you wrote about them was not good enough—so keep on eating these delicious candies and ice cream and writing more and more ads. Call at the store and let them tell you about their products which assure ever-increasing popularity.

Write an Ad Each Day.

Do you know Washington's favorite drink? Of course, you do. It's Wilkins Coffee. Try an ad about this fragrant and fresh beverage. Blended from the finest coffees it has earned the Nation-wide phrase of "Just Wonderful." Try a cup and you will become a Wilkins enthusiast.

Write Post-Zain ads and win a prize, but if you keep putting it off from day to day it may be too late. Write your prize-winning ad today. Try writing one, increase the number of ads each day and soon you will find it not at all difficult to win prizes in this contest.

Turn your ideas into cash now. Mail your ads to Post-Zain Ad Test Editor, Washington Post, Washington, D. C.

ANOTHER ZAIN AD TIP

Here's an idea that will enable you to cop that $160 cash prize or that $165 A. B. C. Washer. We're going to tell you about the Washington Building which is just opposite the U. S. Treasury. That's pretty close to where this $100 bill will come from, and who can tell it just might as well be in your pocket book as anyone else's.

First, the Washington Building is ideally situated in the heart of Washington's business and financial district. Did you know that this is one of the busiest corners in the National Capital? Every feature for convenience and comfort may be found in this building. And the way those high-speed elevators take you to the top floor is remarkable. The operators are so competent and courteous, and when you arrive at the floor on which your office is located, a great abundance of light and ventilation will greet you as you step in your office. No other office building in the Nation's Capital offers more features of greater value at such reasonable rentals. The Washington Building's atmosphere is one of progress.

RULES FOR CONTEST

1—$10,000 in prizes to be distributed over seven weeks of amateur ad writing.
2—$1,000 in cash will be given for the best ad written by an amateur during the entire Post-Zain ad-writing campaign. To compete for this prize it will be necessary for contestants to write at least one ad about each of the 35 firms participating in the ad contest.
3—Grand weekly award of $100 will be given for the best Ad. written during the third and fourth periods of the ad-writing contest.
4—Fifteen merchandise prizes for each of the 35 concerns will be given during the third and fourth weeks of the campaign.
5—Ads for the third and fourth weeks of the Post-Zain ad-writing campaign must be received prior to noon, Wednesday, May 6.
6—Ads submitted in competition for the grand award of $1,000 must be received prior to midnight, May 27.
7—Any one anywhere may compete for the prizes with the exception of newspaper employes and members of the advertising profession.
8—There are no obligations. No coupons to clip, no entrance fees to pay, no subscriptions to buy. One person may submit as many ads as he chooses. The Post-Zain ad-writing contest may be entered at any time. Ads may be written about one or all concerns.
9—Write your ideas on one side only of a sheet of paper at least twice the size of a postcard. Place the name of the concern about which you are writing in the upper left-hand corner of the page. Place your own name and address, also telephone number, on the reverse of the advertisement and the envelope. Your contribution may be a slogan, a poem, a regular advertisement, a letter of testimonial, or an essay.
10—Winning advertisements will be selected by a committee of advertising experts. In the event of a tie like awards will be made to both.
11—All advertisements received become the property of the concerns about which they are written.

Ad-Writing Suggestions.

Prizes are given for ideas, not for grammar, spelling, punctuation, art work or layout.
Your ideas are likely to be new and original; your idea may win one of the prizes.
If you are not familiar with the advertisers about whom you are asked to write ads, study their service and merchandise; visit their shops, ask questions, and then jot down your ideas simply. Be brief and to the point.
If you can write a letter, you can write an ad. Get members of your family and your friends interested. Encourage them to write winning ads. Send in your amateur Ad. to the Post-Zain Ad-Contest Editor, Washington Post, Washington, D. C.

BURKE SENTENCED TO PRISON FOR LIFE

'Most Dangerous Man Alive' Pleads Guilty to Slaying Michigan Policeman.

St. Joseph, Mich., April 27 (A.P.).—Pleading guilty to the slaying of Patrolman Charles Skelly, of St. Joseph, Fred Burke, was sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor in the Michigan branch prison, at Marquette, by Circuit Judge Charles E. White today.

Burke, who has been called "the most dangerous man alive," received the maximum penalty under the Michigan law with unconcern. A crowd of 500 persons witnessed his appearance in court with a guard of a score of State, city and county officers. Burke made his plea through his attorney, Charley W. Gore, of Benton Harbor.

Judge White sentenced Burke for second degree murder, holding that there was evidence that Burke had been intoxicated when he shot the patrolman and had not been able to premeditate the act.

Early tomorrow morning Burke will start for Marquette under heavy guard. Two automobile loads of State and county officers will comprise the party.

Patrolman Skelly was slain when he attempted to question Burke about a collision between his car and one driven by Forrest Kool on the night of December 15, 1929. Before sentence was passed today Judge White heard routine testimony from Kool and Dr. Clayton Emery, who attended Patrolman Skelly just before he died.

Burke was brought to Michigan March 29 after a Nation-wide search had ended with his arrest in a Missouri farm house. The slaying of Patrolman Skelly and Burke's flight from St. Joseph where he had been posing as Frederick Dane laid bare the trail which had been covered for several months.

As Frederick Dane, Burke had been a respected member of this southwestern Michigan community. Mrs. Viola Brennerman, of Kankakee, Ill., had been living with him as Mrs. Dane.

In Burke's home near St. Joseph officers found a collection of machine guns and pistols, as well as $310,850 in bonds stolen from a Jefferson (Wis.) bank some months before. Ballistics experts said some of the bullets fired in the Chicago St. Valentine's Day massacre came from guns left in Burke's St. Joseph home.

Grantley E. Burch Seeks Bankruptcy.

Grantley E. Burch, of Twelfth street, near E street northeast, yesterday filed a bankruptcy petition showing that he had debts totaling $67,209 and assets of $50,150. A house at 1125 Maryland avenue northeast is listed by Burch as being the principal item in his assets, the value being $50,000.

Widow Left Life Interest in Estate.

Mary Rhados Collins, widow of Paul V. Collins, is given a life interest in his estate, the will of the husband provides. Mr. Collins, a writer, directs that upon the death of his widow the estate is to be divided between his sisters, Laura A. and Cordelia V. Collins. Attorney John Paul Jones filed the will.

Butler Law Club Will Dine Tonight

Winner of Debating Contest Will Be Announced at Carlton.

With Associate Justice Pierce Butler of the Supreme Court as the guest of honor the annual dinner of the Butler Law Club of the Georgetown University School of Law will be held tonight at the Carlton Hotel.

Judges in the debating contest held by the club yesterday morning at the school withheld the name of the winner, who will be announced tonight. The contest was for the prize offered by Assistant Dean Hugh J. Fegan, a photograph of the Supreme Court, autographed by each of the nine justices.

Those taking part in the contest were James A. Sullivan and Meryn T. Grosjean, seniors, and Peter J. Toner and J. R. Cummins, second year classmen. J. C. Cromelin, William E. Furey and William H. Collins, assistant United States attorney, were the judges. They are all graduates of the law school. In addition to Justice Butler, various members of the law faculty will be guests at the dinner.

Divorce Granted to Mrs. Oliver.

An interlocutory decree for divorce was awarded Mary Anna Oliver, of Farragut street, near Eighth street northwest, by an order signed by Justice Jennings Bailey. The decree also restored to Mrs. Oliver her maiden name. Attorney Godfrey L. Hunter represented the wife.

In the home—as in the laboratory—the simple faultless mechanism of the Monitor Top refrigerating unit has proved its freedom from attention or adjustment. Sealed-in-steel—self-oiled—dust-proof and tinker-proof, it has shielded owners from upkeep expense. Come in today and let us explain the many exclusive features of the General Electric Refrigerator—the all-steel cabinet with new porcelain lining that resists fruit acids—the three zones of cold, accessible regulator for fast-freezing, new sliding shelves for quick access to foods, broom-high legs, new modern hardware and other advancements. Come in and see the new models. Make your choice now.

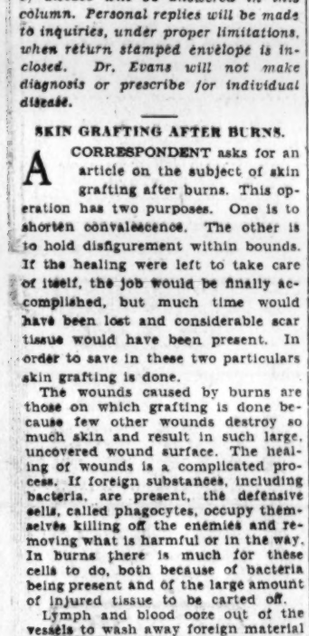
HOW IT BEGAN

By Russ Murphy and Roy Sermabeg

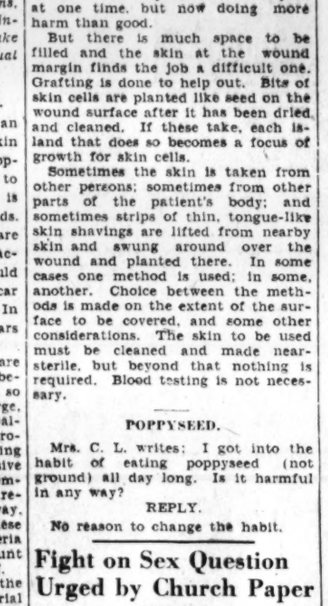
When Cane Carrying Became Stylish

IN EARLY ENGLISH DAYS IF A WOMAN COMMITTED A CRIME, HER HUSBAND WAS PUNISHED FOR IT. THE ONLY RECOURSE HE WAS PERMITTED WAS TO BEAT HER WITH A CANE, THE THICKNESS OF WHICH WAS LIMITED BY LAW TO THE SIZE OF HIS THUMB. SO ALL GOOD HUSBANDS CARRIED CANES.



The Constable's History

CONSTABLES WERE ONCE "COMES STABULI" OR COUNTS OF THE STABLE, IN THE EASTERN ROMAN EMPIRE. LATER THE TERM WAS APPLIED TO GUARDIANS OF THE KING'S CASTLE AND FINALLY TO POLICE OFFICERS IN A GIVEN AREA.



To Go By The Board

THIS EXPRESSION WAS FIRST USED BY SAILORS TO APPLY TO ANYTHING CARRIED AWAY OVER A SHIP'S SIDE OR OVERBOARD. NOW WE APPLY IT TO ANYTHING COMPLETELY DONE AWAY WITH OR THROWN OVER.

SKIN GRAFTING AFTER BURNS.

A CORRESPONDENT asks for an article on the subject of skin grafting after burns. This operation has two purposes. One is to shorten convalescence. The other is to hold disfigurement within bounds. If the healing were left to take care of itself, the job would be finally accomplished, but much time would have been lost and considerable scar tissue would have been present. In order to save in these two particulars skin grafting is done.

The wounds caused by burns are those on which grafting is done because few other wounds destroy so much skin and result in such large, uncovered wound surface. The healing of wounds is a complicated process. If foreign substances, including bacteria, are present, the defensive cells, called phagocytes, occupy themselves killing off the enemies and removing what is harmful or in the way. In burns there is much for these cells to do, both because of bacteria being present and of the large amount of injured tissue to be carted off.

Lymph and blood ooze out of the vessels to wash away foreign material and to plug openings. The connective tissue and blood vessels build up repairing tissue, called first granulations, and, eventually, scar tissue. The skin cells, at the margin of the burn, are throwing rafts of new cells over the top near the edge to make a coating of new skin.

Eventually, in the healing process, the bacteria have been routed, the wounded cells have been washed away or carted away, and the wound hole has been filled in by granulations. The time has come to put the finishing touches on the job. The oozing from the vessels must be stopped, the phagocytes must cease accumulating, the formation of granulation tissue must come to an end. To have skin grow over the wound accomplishes just this purpose. In some way the growing epithelial cells restrain all these processes, so helpful at one time, but now doing more harm than good.

But there is much space to be filled and the skin at the wound margin finds the job a difficult one. Grafting is done to help out. Bits of skin cells are planted like seed on the wound surface after it has been dried and cleaned. If these take, each island that does so becomes a focus of growth for skin cells.

Sometimes the skin is taken from other persons; sometimes from other parts of the patient's body; and sometimes strips of thin, tongue-like skin shavings are lifted from nearby skin and swung around over the wound and planted there. In some cases one method is used; in some, another. Choice between the methods is made on the extent of the surface to be covered, and some other considerations. The skin to be used must be cleaned and made near-sterile, but beyond that nothing is required. Blood testing is not necessary.

POPPYSEED.

Mrs. C. L. writes: I got into the habit of eating poppyseed (not ground) all day long. Is it harmful in any way?

REPLY.

No reason to change the habit.

Fight on Sex Question Urged by Church Paper

Richmond, Va., April 27 (A.P.)—The Richmond Christian Advocate in an editorial in its latest issue says the church of Christ must attack the sex question and conquer it or it will conquer the church. The editorial states that the church must emphasize the teaching of purity of thought and conduct.

"We must assail lust and licentiousness more, and dabble in scientific theory less," the paper says. "Far more can be accomplished," it continued, "by condemning impure thoughts in the sight of God than in preaching on sexology."

SELLING FEATURES STOCK MARKET LIST

Rally In Last Hour Cuts Losses; Day's Sales Total 3,600,000 Shares.

New York, April 27 (A.P.).—The stock market expressed its dissatisfaction with the current state of trade and finance in an active general selling movement today. Prices rallied during the last hour, but only enough to reduce rather than eliminate extreme losses in a large majority of active issues. Sales totaled 3,600,000 shares.

Suspension of an exchange member, the second such action in less than a week, was followed, although not immediately, by a resumption of liquidation which broke U. S. Steel, New York Central, Standard Oil of New Jersey and Allied Chemical to new lows for the bear market on drops of 2 to 5 points.

The announcement that West & Co., a Philadelphia house, could not meet its obligations, caught the market on the way down, but it was an hour or more later before the selling became very strenuous.

Pressure Is Relieved.

News of the week-end reorganization of Continental shares relieved pressure against shares in which that investment trust was substantially interested, and the gains shown by Goodyear, Republic Steel and the stock of the trust itself were among the few instances of improvement.

In general, net declines averaged between 1 and 2 points. New York Central, which had been down 5, closed 2¾ lower. U. S. Steel's 3-point loss was cut to 1 and Standard Oil of New Jersey's similar break smoothed out to 1⅝. Bethlehem and American Can finished fractionally off after losing 2 points. American Telephone turned a loss of 2¾ into a gain of ¾, and General Electric's new low was exchanged for net advance of ⅞. General Motors dropped a point but fully recovered.

Off the stock exchange, the day's most interesting development was in the credit markets. The New York Reserve Bank cut its bill buying rate on all maturities and a similar reduction, amounting to ⅛ of 1 per cent, was made by dealers. The bank's new 90-day asking rate is 1½ per cent, or ¾ below the rediscount rate, and of course the permanence of the latter at 2 per cent would appear to be questionable.

Effects of Cheap Money.

Cheaper money here might be expected to serve two immediate purposes: Prevention of further gold shipments from France and stimulation to the bond market. Conditions in the latter are unfavorable for the foreign financing which many bankers believe is a prerequisite of international economic recovery. As for gold, successful diversion from this market to London would be welcome.

Wheat rallied, advancing ⅛ to ¼ net in sympathy with dry weather in the Northwest and a decrease in the visible supply. Cotton met liquidation and lost 14 to 18 points, while corn, also heavy, closed ¼ to ½ lower, reflecting weakness in Buenos Aires and favorable weather.

The cut in bill rates helped sterling exchange, which ruled around the year's high. Other foreign currencies were largely firm.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, April 27 (A.P.).—Grain prices rebounded today after corn and oats had broken bottom records unequaled in many years. Giving stimulus to upturns were substantial reductions of United States visible supplies of wheat. Another bullish factor was word that the Saskatchewan Supreme Court had decided the grain marketing act unconstitutional.

Wheat closed irregular, a shade lower to 1¼ cents higher; corn, unchanged to ¾ down; oats, ¼ off to ½ up, and provisions 5 to 12 cents advance.

Wheat led from fluctuity in grains and throughout the day showed stubborn resistance to declines. The maximum setback prices, 2 cents a bushel in corn, carried that cereal to within a cent of half a dollar a bushel, almost duplicating a record of 50¼ cents in 1921. Weakness of corn was associated with persistent liquidating sales by holders of May contracts and so instability shown by securities. Notice was also taken of reports of an immense surplus of corn in Argentina, with no adequate European outlet. An Argentine government estimate, however, placed Argentina's 1931 corn production at figures much below private estimates.

Aside from the bullish effect of curtailed visible supply figures on wheat, the interest of grain traders finally centered on news that the Saskatchewan legislature, in adopting a grain marketing statute which provided for a 100 per cent pool by farmers, had exceeded its powers. The result was that in the few minutes' trading which not only recovered from preceding downturns, but scored a decided advance for many future deliveries. Another outcome was notable improvement of shipping demand here for corn and oats.

Export buying of North American wheat was moderate. Winnipeg reported 1,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat purchased Saturday for overseas, but today's takings were only 400,000 bushels. Cables said Australia had effected sales of 54,000,000 bushels of wheat to the Orient, leaving an Australian exportable surplus of but 28,000,000 bushels. Oats shipping sales in Chicago totaled 330,000, the largest amount in some time.

Provisions responded to a rise in hog values.

BOND PRICES SLUMP TO NEW LOW LEVELS

Losses Greatest in Foreign Issues; Savings Banks' Lists in Demand.

New York, April 27 (A.P.).—Liquidation was the dominant influence in the bond market today, and it carried a large number and variety of issues to new low prices for 1931.

The slump was most apparent in foreign obligations. Such bonds as Peruvian first and second 6s, New South Wales 5s of 1957, State of Sao Paulo 8s of 1950, the two issues of Uruguayan 6s and several Argentine bonds made net declines ranging from 1 to 6¾ points and sold at new low levels. Smaller losses were fairly common among other foreign bonds. Steady selling pressure was apparent in the two issues of Brazilian 6½s, which lost more than 2 points each.

Lower prices characterized the market in corporate issues also, but the slump was less severe among them.

Missouri Pacific series I 5s touched a new low at 83¼, but closed at 84. General Theaters Equipment, with which both West & Co. and Pynchon & Co. had affiliation, declined temporarily, but closed higher. The report of railroad earnings for March showed decreases in net earnings, with March, 1930, but the rate of decrease was much less than that of February.

Notwithstanding the general decline, there continued a good demand for issues suitable for savings banks and trust funds. Trading in the over-the-counter market was fairly active in such issues, but quiet in others. American Telephone collateral 5s, Atchison general 4s, Consolidated Gas of New York 5½s and Pennsylvania 4¾s of 1963 and Consolidated 4½s either closed steady or with slight gains.

ACACIA LIFE ELECTS ALL OFFICERS AGAIN

Reports of Company Show Trade Upturn Reflected by Insurance.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Headed by William Montgomery, president, who has been managing executive for 38 years, the entire list of officers of Acacia Mutual Life Association has been reelected for the ensuing year, it was announced yesterday following a meeting of the board of directors.

The directors also elected Howard W. Kacy, who has been assistant counsel of Acacia for the past eight years, to the post of general counsel, heading the association's legal staff. Mr. Kacy is a graduate of the law school of Indiana University, was an assistant State's attorney in Indiana and served in the United States Navy during the World War.

The complete official list of Acacia Mutual Life Association is now as follows: William Montgomery, president; J. Harry Cunningham, vice president; J. P. York, secretary and actuary; J. Claude Keiper, treasurer; Charles E. Baldwin, assistant secretary and secretary to the board; John B. Nichols, medical director; Howard W. Kacy, general counsel.

Improvement Is Reflected.

Reports made to the board indicate a gradual, but steady improvement in general conditions as reflected in life insurance sales and in the materially better lapsation record.

Telephone operating revenues of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. in March were $766,951, the report of operations just filed with the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia show. Total operating income after deducting taxes and uncollectible, was $190,722.

Telephone operating revenues for the three months ended March 31 were $2,264,510, as compared with $2,126,572 for the same period last year. Total operating income after deducting taxes and uncollectable for the first three months of this year, was $528,411, as compared with $402,229 for a similar period in 1930.

Net Income Gains.

Balance net income for the three months ended March 31 was $419,603 as compared with $311,901 for the same period last year. Taxes during March were $56,837, which was an increase of $9,553 over the same month last year. Taxes for the first three months of this year were $163,699, also an increase of $25,000 over the same period last year.

Capital expenditures for new plant and equipment added to the company's system in the District for the three months ended March 31 totaled $529,213. Gross retirements during this period were $277,340, making net additions $251,873.

Washington was served by 170,929 telephones on March 31, 2,449 having been added to the system since January 1. During the month telephone users made 18,010,000 calls, which was an increase of 1.5 per cent over the number made the same month last year.

Attends Chamber Session.

Norman E. Towson, assistant treasurer, Washington Loan & Trust Co., is attending the convention of chambers of commerce at Atlantic City.

The preconvention dinner of the District of Columbia Bankers Association at Columbia Country Club tomorrow night will begin at 7 o'clock.

President William D. Hoover, National Savings & Trust Co., has returned from an outing at Virginia Beach.

Treasurer Charles E. Howe, American Security & Trust Co., has been elected treasurer of the Washington Federation of Churches.

Canadian Grain Body Arrives in New York

New York, April 27 (A.P.).—The Canadian grain commission, headed by Sir Josiah Stamp, which is endeavoring to ascertain the effect of trading in grain futures, arrived today to prepare its fact-finding report, before Sir Josiah sails for Europe, Wednesday.

The royal commission which has just completed its investigations in Winnipeg, Calgary, Regina, Minneapolis and Chicago will make its report to Premier Bennett shortly. Members of the commission revealed they had informally interviewed Alexander Legge, chairman of the Federal Farm Board, in Chicago.

Wheat Farming Firm Sued for Receivership

Topeka, Kans., April 27 (A.P.).—A petition asking appointment of a receiver for the Wheat Farming Co., of Hays, largest of the farm corporations in Kansas, was on file today in Shawnee County District Court.

News of the receivership action became public after Roland Boynton, State's attorney general, announced he would file ouster proceedings against the company and other farming corporations, in accordance with a resolution adopted by the House of Representatives at the recent session of the Legislature.

Prices Again Are Cut On Low-Grade Gasoline

Chicago, April 27 (A.P.).—Leading gasoline producers, that only recently marketed a new third-rate product to compete with independent cut-rate distributors, have again reduced prices on this grade to new lows.

The Sinclair Refining Co. led the field last Saturday by inaugurating a competitive grade at 8¼ cents a gallon, plus tax. For the present, the gasoline is for consumption only in the Chicago area but, officials said, it would be sold throughout the Midwest eventually.

16 WASHINGTON: TUESDAY, APRIL 28, 1931.

NATS DEFEAT YANKS IN 12TH, 9-8, BY RUN FORCED IN

Sam Rice Hit by Weinert With 3 on, Ending Game; Nats Rally to Tie in 10th

Spencer Doubles to Score Two and Prolong Contest.

Many Errors Figure; Burke Gets Credit for Victory.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

THE New York and Washington teams picked up yesterday where they had left off on Sunday, only with the "boners" ruled out of order, and the 2,000 or more half-frozen fans who stuck through twelve innings of good and bad baseball finally were rewarded with a home victory, 9 to 8.

A blow on the wrist of Sam Rice broke up the ball game. The hit batsman resulted with the bases loaded and two out in the twelfth and forced Harry Rice home with the deciding run. This happened after Harry had opened with a single. He was sacrificed along by Bluege, and Phil Weinert intentionally passed Hargrave and then accidentally passed Hayes, up for Burke, to pack the aisles.

The Nationals deserve little credit for allowing the game to go into extra innings, for they should have won in regulation time. They are entitled to plenty of credit for not quitting, however, even after the Yankees apparently had sewed up the game by scoring twice in the tenth.

Spencer's Double Ties Score in Tenth.

Instead of folding up, the Nats kept on battling, with Roy Spencer jumping into the limelight by doubling home the runs needed to knot the count after two were out in the home half of the tenth. In fact, they made a bid for the decision in that round, and only a great diving stop by Jimmy Reese prevented them from doing so. He went behind second for Myer's single, and while he was spinning around on his head and shoulders, Jones, who replaced Spencer on second, tried to score and was nipped on a pretty peg.

Seven errors were made during the game and most of them figured in the scoring. Three in the fifth let the Yanks score four runs and overcome a three-run Washington lead with the aid of but one hit, while, except for a misplay by Cronin, the visitors would have been held runless in the tenth. This was a wild throw on Gehrig's grounder which would have made the third out, with Chapman on second at the time. It gave Lazzeri his opportunity and he took advantage of it by doubling and scoring both runners.

Errors Help Nats To Run in Eighth.

Two New York errors helped the Nats mold their marker in the eigth, and but for a misplay by Byrd, they might have scored only one in the tenth when they needed two to tie.

Seven pitchers were used, McCarthy starting Herb Pennock, who was soundly pounded for three runs in the first round and who then worried along until the tenth. He gave way to George Pipgras with two gone in round 10 and it was the latter's first offering which resulted in Spencer's game-extending double. When Burke was passed, so was Pipgras, Weinert succeeding him and being charged with the defeat.

Johnson gave the assignment to Irving Hadley and he had little trouble making the three-run lead his mates gave him stand up until the fifth. With one run over, the result of a walk to Pennock, Comb's single and Harry Rice's two-base error, Hadley walked Lary and then temporarily lost his bearings on Chapman's tap to the box. Instead of stopping the runner trying to score, he wheeled and tossed wildly past Cronin, who was covering second. Then he walked Gehrig, filling the bases, and gave way to Wally Tauscher.

Tauscher Starts Double Play.

Tauscher took Lazzerri's grounder and started a double-play, first nipping a runner trying to score, with Spencer getting the ball to first in time to nail the runner. Chapman stole home on the front end of a double steal and then Manush made an error on Byrd's liner, the result being a four-run inning with only a single being credited the Yankees.

Manush's double and Cronin's single, both coming with two out in the home half made the score 4-all and the enemy became 2 up by scoring a run each in the sixth and seventh. Singles by Reese, Pennock and Combs were responsible for the run in the sixth, which brought "General" Al Crowder into action, while a homer by Sammy Byrd came in the next frame. Bobby Burke, who was credited with the victory, came in action starting the eighth and pitched shutout ball except for the tenth.

Meanwhile the Nats kept on plugging and finally knotted the string at 6-all by scoring in the seventh on Pinch Hitter Dave Harris' triple and Myer's single and in the eighth on Harry Rice's single, Bluege's helpful out, and Spencer's pop-fly which eluded Gehrig and fell fair, in both instances by a matter of inches.

Game Ends After 3 Hours, 19 Minutes.

All of the extra frames provided thrills and it is safe to say that not a cash customer left the park until the game finally ended after 3 hours and 19 minutes of play under football-weather conditions.

In numbers, Harry Rice and Earl Combs showed the way in hitting each getting four safeties, with Myers, Cronin and Spencer being the only other players getting more than two, this trio cracking out three each. Although each was charged with a miscue, Reese and Manush turned in the best fielding plays of the game both making a pair of pretty plays which came in mighty handy for their teams.

JONES FACES YANKEES TODAY

Veteran Will Oppose Ruffing; Beat N. Y. 4 Times in 1930.

NEW YORK and Washington meet again this afternoon in the third game of the current series, and, in the hope of making it three in a row, Manager Walter Johnson plans to call on the veteran Sad Sam Jones. This old-timer handed the Yanks four trimmings last saeson and always seems to have an advantage over their hitters. Charley Ruffing, who has played the outfield recently owing to injuries to Ruth, Hoag and Cooke, is expected to do the allen flinging.

With thre of his five outfielders absent, Marse Joe McCarthy, of the visitors, finds himself distinctly up against it for fly-chasing talent and has had to do some shifting, which gives the Nats quite an advantage. Bennie Chapman has been moved from second to right, with Jimmy Reese, who teamed up with Lary on the Coast a few years back, holding down the second sack. These changes were tried out yesterday and will be effective until one of the regular outfielders returns.

Infielder Jimmy McLeod has been sent out on option by the Nationals, President Clark Griffith announced yesterday, and is now performing for the Dallas Club, of the Texas League. Gordon Phelps, sent by the Nats to Chattanooga, has been returned by the Lookouts and shunted to Hagerstown, where he will be reconverted into a catcher. He was picked up as a back-stopper and later became an outfielder.

Allen (Dusty) Cooke, injured in Sunday's game, was sent to New York yesterday, where he will recuperate for a time in St. Vincent's Hospital.

Outfielder Sammy West has been testing out his ailing arm in batting practice for the past two days with no ill effects. If his club-swinging does not bring back a recurrence of his ailment, he likely will be back in the line-up in the next series.

As a result of standing in the muddy coaching box in Sunday's game, Manager Walter Johnson has pulled up with a bad cold. He was on the job yesterday, though.

Gehrig made a fine stop of Judge's hot grasser in the first frame yesterday but could not beat the Nat first-sacker to the bag so the blow, which scored Manush, went as a hit.

Play was stopped momentarily in the Nats' second while Coach Al Schacht chased some newspapers blowing over the infield. After gathering them up, Al offered them to Pennock but the Yankee pitcher was too busy to do any reading at the time.

Hadley struck out two Yanks in both the second and fourth frames. In the latter, he whiffed Perkins for

RUTH LIKELY TO PERFORM SUNDAY

Babe Making Quick Recovery From Leg Injury.

NEW YORK, April 27 (A.P.).—Babe Ruth is recovering rapidly from the effects of his bruised leg and should be back in uniform next Sunday, when the Yankees return to their home grounds, in the opinion of his trainer, Artie McGovern.

The Babe's first day at home, in his apartment overlooking Riverside drive, was the signal for a demonstration by photographers, newspapermen and other well-wishers, but the big slugger, on orders from Mrs. Ruth, remained mostly in seclusion.

He was visited by Dr. Edward S. King, the Yankees' physician, as well as by McGovern, who will work on the Babe's leg muscles twice daily in an effort to speed his recovery.

Ruth told friends he was impatient to get back in the game, but on the advice of his doctors he has given up the idea of attempting to return in time for the series the Yankees play against the Athletics in Philadelphia this Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The team returns home Sunday to meet the Boston Red Sox. It was in a game with the Sox at Boston exactly a week ago that Ruth was injured in a mix-up at the plate with Catcher Charley Berry.

"Ruth, if he gets along as well as he has so far, ought to be back in the game by next Sunday," said McGovern. "He was able to walk around today without the aid of his crutch.

"Whether he will be able to go right in and play a full nine innings by Sunday is something else. Probably he will have to take it by degrees after getting back in uniform, and it may be two or three weeks before he is fully recovered."

G. U. Netmen Defeat Hampden-Sydney, 8-1

Georgetown University's tennis team turned in an 8-to-1 victory over Hampden-Sidney, Virginia college champs, yesterday on the wind-swept courts of Columbia Country Club, winning all singles matches and dropping the No. 3 doubles only by 6—4 in the last set.

Gregory Mangin, sixth ranking player in the country, gave the Hilltoppers their first win by volleying through Talbot, ace of the Virginia team, 6—2, 6—2. Dooly Mitchell, No. 2 player for Georgetown, ran into difficulty against Doug Thomas, of the visitors, and yielded the second set.

Thomas combined with Paulette to hand in the only Hampden-Sidney win, defeating Ferguson and Burdett, of the Hilltop, 6—2, 3—6, 6—4.

SINGLES.

Mangin (G. U.) defeated Talbot, 6—2, 6—2; Mitchell (G. U.) defeated D. Thomas, 6—3, 5—8, 6—1; Yeomans (G. U.) defeated Sloan, 6—2, 6—3; Berberich (G. U.) defeated H. Thomas, 6—0, 5—7, 6—0; McBride (G. U.) defeated Paulette, 6—3, 6—4; Ferguson (G. U.) defeated R. Thomas, 5—7, 6—3, 6—3.

DOUBLES.

Mangin and Mitchell (G. U.) defeated Sloan and Talbot, 6—2, 6—2; McBride and Berberich (G. U.) defeated H and R. Thomas, 6—2, 6—3; Paulette and D. Thomas (H. S.) defeated Ferguson and Burdett, 6—2, 3—6, 6—4.

WASHINGTON GOLF PLAY OPENS

Qualifying in Field of 337 Starts Today; Stars Practice.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

WITH the largest entry list in its history, the spring invitation tournament of the Washington Golf and Country Club will begin this morning, the number of entrants now aggregating 337. M. H. Robb, who for many years has never failed to be the initial starter in club invitation tournaments, will lead the procession at 7 o'clock this morning, his partner being Thomas S. Pitt, of the Argyle Club.

Miller B. Stevinson, of the Columbia Club, who won last year's tournament, and who will defend his title this year, was out playing a practice round yesterday, accompanied by his fellow members, Albert R. Mackenzie and W. Carlton Evans. The runner-up last year, Henry D. Nicholson, of the home club, was also out on the course with J. H. Herman, James G. Drain, jr., and Thomas D. Webb, jr., also members of Washington. Harry G. Pitt, former Middle Atlantic champion, played with Carl J. Quentell, J. B. Murphy and H. King Cornwell. M. F. McCarthy, former runner-up in the Beaver Dam Club championship, was also out on the course in a practice round.

High Winds Hinder Scoring.

The high wind which swept across the course made low scoring difficult and no cards were kept. All of the players commented upon the effect which the wind had upon the new ball and William Woods, the assistant professional, was led to predict that if adverse conditions continue the tournament will not witness any phenomenal cards.

Among the new entrants yesterday was Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, and it is hoped that he will present the prizes after the final rounds of the tournament next Friday. Several changes and additions to the previously printed list of contestants were announced yesterday by the golf committee, as follows:

Today—12:00, Dr. Robert Kelty and partner; 12:25, John T. Money, Beaver Dam, and B. P. Luscomb, Army-Navy; 12:55, Dr. S. T. Noland, Washington, and A. H. Gardner, Atlanta Athletic Club.

Tomorrow—8:45, Phelps F. Ferris, Kenwood, and F. L. Souder, Bannockburn; 9:15, Miles Taylor, Bannockburn, and R. L. Nagle, Kenwood; 9:20, E. J. Getchell, Rhode Island Country Club, and G. C. Carpenter, Rhode Island Country Club; 9:35, Joseph Kirchner, Bannockburn, and J. R. Sherrod, Columbia; 11:30, Everett Eynon, Columbia, and H. F. Cochran, Columbia; 12:20, O. M. Wiley, La La Country Club, and E. J. Gray, Kenwood; 1:30, H. H. Kidwell, Indian Spring, and Senator Pat Harrison.

BRAVES GAIN TOP BY WIN OVER PHILS

Seibold, Maranville Are Coheroes in 2-0 Victory.

PHILADELPHIA, April 27 (U.P.).—The Boston Braves, spring sensation of the 1931 major league baseball campaign, climaxed their brilliant drive today with a 2-to-0 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies and moved into sole possession of the National League lead.

Rated as no better than a sixth-place club in preseason estimates, the Braves are getting the best pitching in the league and have won five of their last starts. "Socks" Seibold, veteran right-hander, pitched today's game and held the Phils to four hits, while his mates bunched three of their six hits off Benge for two runs in the third inning, both being driven in by "Rabbit" Maranville."

Cards Ousted From Top In 5-3 Loss to Pirates

St. Louis, Mo., April 27 (A.P.).—The St. Louis Cardinals, pennant winners last year, dropped from first place in the National League race for the first time this season when the Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the Cardinals 5-3 in today's game.

Boston defeated Philadelphia today to climb into the top position vacated by St. Louis.

Gelbert's fumble, a walk, Traynor's single and a por throw to third paved the way for the Pirates' scoring spree in the first inning which gave the visitors four runs.

After Lindsey had relieved Rhem as the Cardinal hurler St. Louis staged a ninth inning rally when with two out the bases were filled and Delker doubled to score Gelbert and Wilson. With men on second and third, Blades struck out.

Goldstein Scores Knockout In U. S. Ring Tournament

Virginia Star Stops Cincinnati Boxer in New York; Two Washington Representatives Are Beaten.

Special to The Washington Post.

NEW YORK, April 27.—Bobby Goldstein, University of Virginia's Southern Conference lightweight champion, had the honor of scoring the first knockout in the opening of the national amateur championship boxing tournament in Madison Square Garden tonight.

Displaying impressive punching powers and a graceful style that caught the eye of experts, Goldstein made short work of Morris Moyer, of Cincinnati, Ohio, in the first round.

Goldstein sailed in from the outset and pounded his foe around the ring, finally scoring a terrific hook to the jaw that floored Moyer as the crowd rose excitedly in anticipation of a knockout.

But Moyer weathered the first storm and tried to slug it out, whereupon Goldstein sent him down heavily once more with a crushing left hook. The referee stepped in at this stage to stop the bout, awarding Goldstein a technical knockout. The time was 2 minutes 35 seconds.

The first battle in which a Washington boxer engaged came in the 112-pound class, where Louis Gevinson, of Washington, was defeated by Louis Salaca, of Brooklyn, N. Y., in a slashing bout during which both fighters pummelled each other from start to finish.

It was a clean-cut exhibition of hard slugging all the way, but the Brooklyn boy had a trifle the better of it and was awarded the decision on a vote of 2 to 1.

Then, in another 135 pounder, peppy little Robert Boyle, of Washington, lost a close decision to Peter Boscareno, of New Orleans, after a three-round slugfest during which the Washington boy had the best of things in the first two rounds, but faltered in the third to allow Boscareno to get in some telling blows. Boyle was floored in this chapter, but came back aggressively only to have his opponent score points on him with a vicious cross that gave him the bout.

Sharkey Bout With Primo Arranged

Principals Sign for June 10 Match at Ebbets Field.

Johnston Promoter; N. Y. to Recognize It as for Title.

NEW YORK, April 27 (A.P.).—With Jack Sharkey and Primo Carnera at the festive board in the same room where Gene Tunney formally retired from the ring, Jimmy Johnson today announced the signing of the two heavyweights for a 15-round world championship match at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, June 10.

The affair was much on the order of the get-togethers that used to mark important doings in the fistic world, with an elaborate luncheon served for all, flashlights blazing, the fighters and their retinues glaring across the board, glasses clinking, and speeches being made on all sides.

Terrific Hook Ends Bout.

Although the match still lacks the sanction of the New York State Athletic Commission, which withdrew title recognition from Max Schmeling for his failure to give Sharkey a return engagement, this matter probably will be attended to tomorrow. The commissioners have indicated that they will approve the match as for the heavyweight championship at the regular weekly meeting.

Formal anouncement of the match, forecast for some time, brings to a head a controversy over Carnera's services and sets up a brand new complication in boxing—two sets of fighters battling less than a month apart for the same crown, the heavyweight championship. Madison Square Garden, which claims a contract for Carnera's services this summer, will stage a title bout between Schmeling and young Stribling in Cleveland, July 3.

Hard Slugging Marks Match.

When Stribling and Schmeling signed their contracts with the Illinois Madison Square Garden, a subsidiary of the New York organization, for the July 3d match, Carnera also signed an agreement to meet the winner in September. He has repudiated that contract, but the Garden has notified all concerned that the matter will be taken to law if Carnera attempts to fight for any one but the Garden.

William F. Carey, Garden president, refused to comment today on Carnera's signing with Johnston, former fight manager and the new promoter at Ebbets Field.

Carnera is scheduled to open training in a local gymnasium May 4, Sharkey May 11.

Giants Score 6 in 1st To Beat Robins, 8-5

New York, April 27 (A.P.).—A big first inning in which six runs crossed the plate gave the New York Giants an 8-to-5 victory over the Brooklyn Robins in the first of their series today. Ten Giants went to bat in the opening inning as Joe Shaute and Clyde Day were driven to the showers.

Phil Gallivan, recruit hurler, finally halted the attack. Johnny Verger led the Giants offensive with his second home run of the season, a double and a single.

MARYLAND U. NINE BOWS BY 4-3

N. Carolina State Is Victor on Gift Home Run in Eighth.

By JACK ESPEY.

AN error in judgment by the usually reliable Paul Cronin, left fielder, turned an ordinary single into a home run for North Carolina State and enabled the visiting team to defeat Maryland University, 4 to 3, yesterday at College Park.

Cronin's fatal error came in the eighth inning, on a ball hit by Allen Nelms, Wolfpack right fielder, when Maryland was leading, 3 to 1.

With one out and mates on first and second, Nelms sent a looper to left, which, if fielded perfectly, would have yielded only one run at the most. But Cronin ran in too far and the ball bounded over his head, rolling almost into the next county, with Nelms following Turner and Gerock over home plate.

Maryland's Hopes In League Dashed.

The loss virtually killed Maryland's chances for top honors in the Tristate League of the Southern Conference and boosted State to a position close behind the leading North Carolina University eam. Maryland's record in the league now is six wins and four losses, and but two more league contests remain on the Terrapin schedule.

Until the big break came, the Wolfpack seemed due to bow to the pitching prowess of "Lefty Bill" McIlwee, who was having a good day in the box for the home club. Although nicked for five hits in the first seven innings, McIlwee looked stronger than big John Lanning, fast-ball artist of the invaders, who limited the Marylanders to five hits all told. Lanning, however, was a bit unsteady and the fielding of his teammates was worse, so that Maryland scored two of its runs without the aid of hits.

Maryland took the lead in the first

Eastern Nine Plays Tech Today

Lanahan, Batson Are Probable Starting-Pitchers.

Lincoln Park Team Favorite in Series Engagement.

THE defending-champion Eastern High Nine will attempt to move abreast of the high school league-leading Central outfit this afternoon at Eastern High Field when it engages Tech High in the fourth game of the series at 3:30 o'clock. For the occasion Eastern's mound will be manned by Dick Lanahan, all-high pitcher, while Tech will proffer the offerings of Jack Batson, or George Woods.

Because of Lanahan's slightly superior hurling, and the usually ominous tone of Eastern's bats, that team looms as favorite to down Tech. Eastern can back up its hitting and pitching with a good infield and outfield, but both these latter adjuncts have been the victims of over confidence this year, and in the event of a heated contest probably would be first to crack.

Tech Needs Hitters Badly.

Tech needs hitters badly and this fact will dog the team all season. Jack Batson is a capable enough hurler, and is backed up by a fair defense. The spark plug of the whole Tech combination however, is Everett Russell, first baseman, leading hitter, and relief pitcher

Coach Mal Edwards has shifted the Tech line-up a bit. Levy going to third from second while English will be seen at second.

If everything goes well—and that is not probable in high school baseball—today's game should result in a somewhat more civilized final score than the "French debt" numerals which have been the vogue this year. An average of 23 1-3 runs have been made in each of the three games to date, a figure which, while it is a bit more conservative than last year's counts in the same series, does not, however, represent all that is virtuous in baseball.

Lanahan Proves Class.

Lanahan's pitching, especially his drops, has proved baffling to the great body of high school batters. Batson, too, can produce a brand of good pitching, while Russell seems to have the greatest speed of the series pitchers. These three pitchers make up three-fourths of the good pitching in the high schools this term. Buscher, of Central, is the other. It augurs, therefore, that today hitting may play a secondary part to pitching.

Time will not cease for the other high schools while the series game is going on today. Western journeys to Ballston for a crack at Washington-Lee High, the team which defeated Eastern two weeks ago. Central entertains the remnants of Devitt Prep's team at Central Stadium in what should be pretty much of a walkaway for the Blue and White outfit.

In the remaining contest of the day Georgetown Prep plays host to St. Alban's.

SCHAEFER'S RIDE WINS FOR AIR PILOT AT PIMLICO

Salmon's Colt Victor Over Faireno

'Anubis Pays $109 in Opener of Program for Unemployed.

Hacky H. Disqualified After Winning 2d Race Easily.

By J. B. SNODGRASS.
Special to The Washington Post.

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, Md., April 27.—A powerful finish by the veteran Jockey Lewis Schaefer enabled Walter J. Salmon's Air Pilot, paying $12.50, the son of Swift and Sure—Snowcapt, to register a nose victory in the twelfth renewal of the Pimlico (spring) Homebred Purse, four and one-half furlong feature of the opening program of the Maryland Jockey Club's spring season.

Trailing Air Pilot to the wire came the Belair Stud's Fair Eno, which would have won but for a weak ride by Tony Pascuma. Third money went to Mrs. Walter M. Jefford's Golden Gate.

At the break, Donald Mergler drove Golden Gate into the lead. Coltiletti went right along with Misty and they ran as a team until swinging for home, where Misty had enough.

Fans Shouting At Finish.

At the eighth pole, Schaefer loomed up with Air Pilot to be leading within the next sixteenth of a mile. Within sight of the end Fair Eno joined Air Pilot and their finish had the fans shouting. It was so close that only the judges could separate them and they gave it to the Salmon colorbearer.

The proceeds of today's program will be turned over to the fund, which is being raised for Maryland's unemployed. Judging by the wagering on the first four races, the sum to be turned over will not reach that turned in by the Havre de Grace management.

Anubis Pays $109.60 In First Race.

The Interrogative, a half-mile sprint that opened the Maryland Jockey Club's spring meeting, found Mrs. Katherine E. Hitt's Anubis winning at the lucrative odds of $109.60.

Eddie Watters broke slowly with Anubis. In passing William Zeigler, jr.'s, Lead Off, the pacemaker bumped the latter, causing Ellis to snatch his mount up.

Anubis ran into a long lead, but had to be put under the whip all through the home stretch to stall off Lead Off's challenge. Third money went to Mrs. F. H. Hall's Dark Vision.

Hacky H. Wins and Is Disqualified.

Mrs. Rose Sullivan was handed the second race purse when her Battling On, after finishing second to J. P. McGovern's Hacky H., the favorite, was declared the winner. The latter was disqualified for cutting across his field soon after the start.

Hacky H. broke fast, despite his 127-pound burden, and cut across his field. After piling the field up, he ran into a long lead to win galloping from Battling On, with C. H. Sprague's Our Sis and J. E. Davis' Redoubtable finishing as named. Immediately after the race the stewards called Erickson, who rode Hacky H. into the stands and, after listening to his story, disqualified his mount, moving up Battling On, Our Sis and Redoubtable into the money positions.

The stewards gave the following statement late today:

Jockey H. Erickson is exonerated from all blame for interference caused by Hacky H. in the second race, for which the horse was disqualified."

Erickson without hesitation admitted the foul had occurred, stating the horse was a rail-runner and that he had called to the other riders to look out as his horse bore in through the stretch.

Sun Meadow Scores In Fast Time.

A new threat for the Preakness and Kentucky Derby appeared on the horizon when Mrs. Katherine E. Hitt's Sun Meadow, 3-year-old by son of Sun Briar—Red Clover, raced a mile and 70 yards in 1:42 2-5, just one-fifth of a second off the track record held by Shuffle Along.

Sun Meadow packed 112 pounds and beat a field of older horses, making it a double for his owner, as well as Trainer Tommy Roderick and Jockey Eddie Watters.

Equipoise Fully Recovered; May Compete in Preakness

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., April 27 (A.P.).—Equipoise, early favorite for the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness, was pronounced completely recovered today from the ailment blamed for his startling defeat Saturday.

Freddie Hopkins, Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney's trainer, who has had charge of the colt, America's leading money winner last year, expressed fear that his charge might not be ready for the $50,000 Preakness May 9, at Pimlico. But Dr. Henry J. McCarthy, veterinarian for the Maryland tracks, said today Equipoise was not thrown out of training.

The veterinarian blamed a slight kidney ailment for the poor showing of the son of Pennant in Saturday's race here, when, heavily backed, he ran last in a six-horse race.

Gallops Two Miles In Slow Workout.

The Whitney ace was given a slow 2-mile gallop today, and tomorrow will be taken to Pimlico.

Despite his poor showing Saturday, Equipoise remains in the runinng to top Gallant Fox as America's premier cash winner.

Equipoise started his career as a 3-year-old with $156,835 to his credit, and more than $9,000 would have gone into young Whitney's pockets had the colt won the $10,000 Chesapeake at Havre de Grace.

Gallant Fox did not start in all the rich races available for him last year, and he suffered defeat in one. In his nine victories he amassed $308,275, which added to the $19,890 he won as a juvenile, made a total of $328,165.

William Woodard retired him to the stud in Kentucky, the richest money winner of all time.

With his start of $156,835 won as a 2-year-old Equipoise remains in a position to break all records and capture a sum that may never be equaled. Jamestown, which won $151,925 last year, has not been entered in either the Preakness or the Derby, being held in reserve for later rich stakes.

Several Rich Stakes Later This Year.

Among the several stakes for 3-year-olds besides the Preakness and the Derby, both worth around $50,000 net, are the $60,000 Belmont, the $26,000 Withers at Belmont, the $65,000 classic at Chicago, the $30,000 Lawrence Realization at Belmont, the $27,000 Travers at Saratoga, $20,000 Potomac at the Havre de Grace fall season, and the $25,000 Riggs at Pimlico in the fall.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—ANUBIS, $109.60, $31.70, $20.60; LEAD OFF, $7.80, $4.80; DARK VISION, $8.30.

ANUBIS broke rapidly from the extreme outside and was rushed to the front, drew away first furlong. Watters hustled him along in stretch run to stand off LEAD OFF'S determined challenge. Latter broke free and had a clear passage throughout. DARK VISION moved up steadily rounding far turn, but was never able to get to leaders. CAPACITY broke slow and was shuffled back. He met with interference every time that Erickson made a move with him.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stall gates. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:05. Off at 3:07½. Winner, J. P. McGovern's b. or br. c. (4), by Oceanic—Maid at Arms. Trained by D. S. Fountain. Value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $150. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:48, 1:13 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BATTLING ON, $20.00, $9.30, $6.40; OUR SIS, $11.70, $7.80; REDOUBTABLE, $7.10.

HACKY H., hurried along from the start, moved into a good lead when leaving the back stretch, was given a breathing spell and came away in the final furlong when shaken up. BATTLING ON, prominent and going in his best form, held the others safe. OUR SIS worked her way up on the outside and finished with good energy. REDOUBTABLE had good speed for the first half mile and weakened. THUNDER KING was not persevered with. MISS CATALAN closed a good gap. ALWINGTON DOLLY was caught in a jam directly after the start and had to be pulled up. HOLIDAY was never a factor. HACKY H. bore over to the inside going to the half-mile pole, causing a jam in which ALWINGTON DOLLY was knocked back. HE was disqualified and the change in the placing made BATTLING ON first.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—COIN COLLECTOR, $7.80, $4.90, $3.70; TANSY, $8.10, $5.70; PHANTASIME, $8.70.

COIN COLLECTOR broke slowly. He began gaining after passing the half-mile pole and went around the leaders making the turn into home stretch, finished full of courage and shook off opposition last hundred yards. TANSY, quick to find her stride, carried WICKER and PHANTASIME along at a rapid pace and outgamed the latter in the final drive. PHANTASIME came again to outgame WICKER. The saddle slipped on SAPPHIRE SKY as back stretch and she was pulled up. SIR BYRON, shuffled back at start, raced on the outside and finished fourth.

FOURTH RACE—Four and one-half furlongs. Purse, $2,500 added. The Pimlico Spring Handicap. For 2-year-olds. Start good from stall gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:08. Off at 4:11½. Winner, W. J. Salmon's br. c. (2), by Swift and Sure—Snowcapt. Trained by J. R. Pryor. Value to winner, $3,550; second, $300; third, $200; fourth, $100. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:48 2-5, 0:55.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—AIR PILOT, $12.50, $6.40, $4.30; FAIRENO, $3.90, $3.30; GOLDEN GATE, $5.40.

AIR PILOT, outrun to top of home stretch, where he was taken to outside of leaders, gained steadily under punishment and hung on well after disposing of MISTY. FAIRENO came through on inside entering home stretch and was gaining all last furlong. GOLDEN GATE had lot taken out of her racing MISTY into submission. Latter quit last furlong.

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,500. The Druid Hill. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stall gates. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:44. Off at 4:45. Winner, C. V. Whitney's ch. c. (3), by Bunting—Miniato. Trained by T. J. Healy. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $300; third, $200. Time, 0:23 3-5, 0:47 3-5, 1:12 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—MAGNIFICO, $4.40, $2.70, $2.20; COLOSSAL, $3.30, $2.60; LADY CAPULET, $3.10.

MAGNIFICO went to the front with a rush and, drawing away into an easy lead first furlong, was rated under slight restraint; remainder of journey. Robertson saved ground with him at all of the turns. COLOSSAL easily disposed of LADY CAPULET last quarter. Latter hustled along rounding the far turn in an effort to get to the leader and she tired when put to a drive.

SIXTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,300. The Mount Washington. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stall gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:18. Off at 5:19½. Winner, K. E. Hitt's b. c. (3), by Sun Briar—Red Clover. Trained by T. Rodrock. Value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $150. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:47 3-5, 1:13 2-5, 1:38 2-5, 1:42 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SUN MEADOW, $6.30, $5.10, $3.30; HILLSBOROUGH (entry), $9.50, $4.20; FRISIUS, $3.30.

SUN MEADOW was rated off the pace to stretch turn, where he came through on inside, assumed an easy lead going to furlong pole, but was put to a mild drive last sixteenth to maintain his advantage. HILLSBOROUGH closed in resolute fashion when put to a drive and outgamed the tiring FRISIUS. Latter set a rapid pace, but the weight told on him in final stages and he weakened. MORSEL hung last furlong.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stall gates. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:52. Off at 5:54. Winner, Mrs. E. B. Chapman's b. g. (a.), by Nealon—Ina Kay. Trained by B. E. Chapman. Value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $150. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:49 2-5, 1:14 3-5, 1:41, 1:47 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—NEALON KAY, $7.70, $4.70, $3.20; CURATOR, $5.00, $3.10; BUDDHA, $4.00.

NEALON KAY, kept well up in the early stages, responded readily when put to a drive, wore the leaders down and, kept under pressure, drew into a long lead. He was bearing out badly all during the stretch run. CURATOR, bothered when attempting to move through on the inside approaching the half-mile pole, was taken to the outside and held on well. BUDDHA, away slowly, went to the outside to reach contention, was badly blocked nearing the stretch turn, but regained his stride after being taken up and finished stoutly.

MATE WORKS FAST MILE IN 1:42

Preakness Candidate of Bostwick Nearing Fine Edge.

Special to The Washington Post.

PIMLICO, Md., April 27.—A. C. Bostwick's Mate, candidate for the $50,000 Preakness on May 9, worked a handy mile in 1:42 yesterday. Trainer Jim Healy is bringing his colt along cleverly, and it may be that this one will be the winner of the 3-year-old classic.

C. V. Whitney's Equipoise, who suffered an attack of azoturia on Saturday at Havre de Grace, was galloped a slow 2 miles there this morning. Trainer Freddie Hopkins will send the colt a similar distance tomorrow, and on Wednesday will breeze the chestnut son of Pennant and Swinging.

If Equipoise comes out of his breeze on Wednesday as expected, he will be vanned down to this track.

W. Shea was an arrival from New York with five horses. He states that his Sandy Ford, winner of the Dixie last spring, won't start in this year's race, due to his being knocked out by the trip from Florida to Mexico, back to Bowie and then to New York.

There are 22 horses in schooling list with the adding of William T., Anchor's Aweigh and Mynheer.

The daily average handle at the recent Havre de Grace meeting was $581,000. It was the biggest meeting in the history of the Harford Agricultural and Breeders Association.

Mortimer M. Mahoney, pari-mutuel manager, states that "field horses" would be sold every day with the exception of May 2, when the $15,000 Dixie is offered, and May 9, when the $50,000 Preakness will be run.

Maxie Hirsch, who handles the strings of numerous millionaires, wired this morning from New York canceling his stalls. Hirsch said that none of his horses are ready to run, but that if he did get something ready before the meeting closes, he will van down.

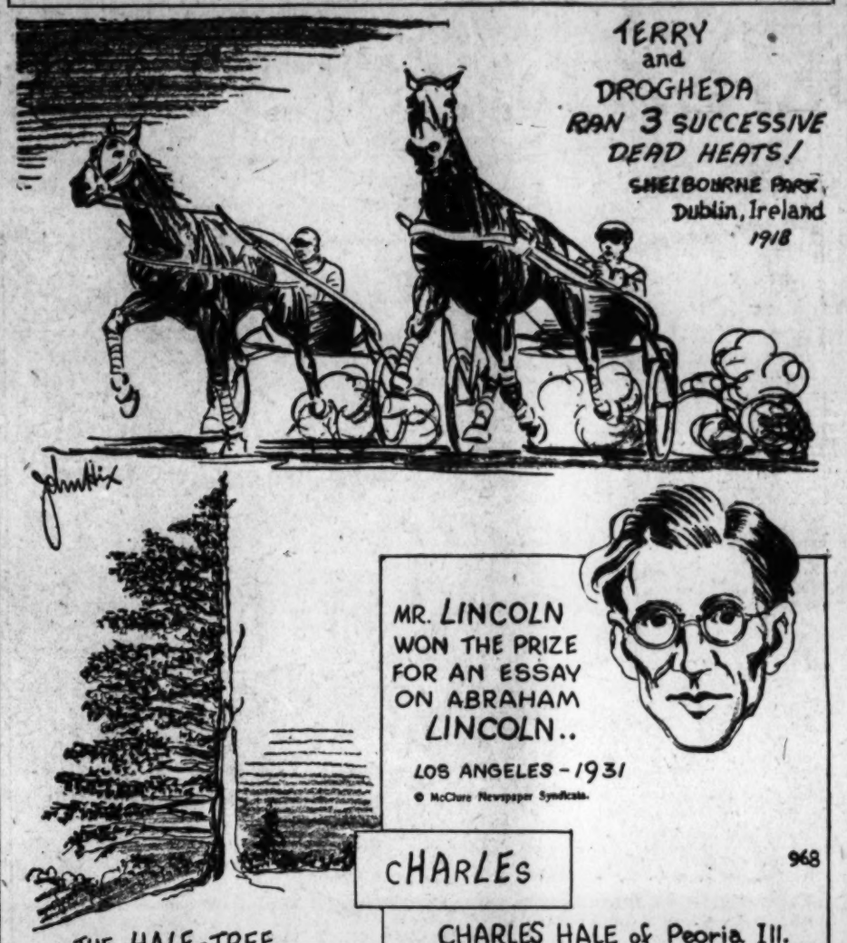
STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix



IN a trotting race at Shelbourne Park, Dublin, Ireland, in July, 1918, Terry and Drogheda deadheated. The first run off again resulted in a dead heat, and on the third running they again deadheated. The owners then decided to split the purse.

Sweeping winds are responsible for the oddly shaped half-tree. The tree, constantly buffeted by high winds, has been stripped of its branches on one side, while on the other there is a complete and perfect set of branches which stick out in a narrow plane barely wider than the trunk of the tree.

Any reader wanting further proof of anything depicted here should address the author, care of The Washington Post, and enclose a stamped and self-addressed envelope for reply.

JOHN HIX.

Ladder Is Favored Today In Field of Classic Eligibles

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, Md., April 27.—Fourteen 3-year-olds including several prominent Preakness and Kentucky Derby candidates, will contest the $3,000 added Jennings Handicap, which will feature the second day's racing at Pimlico tomorrow. The Jennings will be run as the fifth race and decided over the six-furlong route.

Walter J. Salmon's LADDER, which ran so impressively his first start as a 3-year-old at Havre de Grace, may win the Jennings. The colt beat Panetian and Mate in a swiftly run six-furlong dash. Panetian came back off that race and whipped Barrido and SISKIN. LADDER'S best races as a juvenile were run over

COMMERCE AND NAVY YARD WINNERS

1930 Champs Drop First Contest

Repair Shop Is Held Hitless by Riley in Short Game.

Naval Hospital Bows to Last Season's Rivals, 14-9.

A WILD slugging bee in one instance, a no-hit, no-run performance in another, and two stunning upsets marked hte openings in the Departmental and Government Leagues yesterday. The heavy hitting resulted from the meeting of Navy Yard and Naval Hospital, in the Government loop, in which the former outlasted their opponents to win by a 14-9 score.

In the Departmental circuit, Leon Riley auspiciously inaugurated his 1931 campaign by hurling the Commerce Team to a 2-0 no-hit victory over the D. C. Repair Shop nine. In each game the winners were runners-up to their victims for the title of their respective leagues last year.

Riley's feat was accomplished in six innings, darkness forcing Umpire Cox to halt the battle. As far as it went it was a pretty duel between the winning hurler and Rhoades, who was also in great shape, allowing only four hits during his sojourn on the mound. Four was all the Commerce crew needed, though, and they put these to good advantage in scoring their two runs.

King, Harvey Clout Homers for Sailors.

Manager Noonan elected old "Lefty" Kuhnert for mound duty against the Naval Hospital crew, and Lefty lasted exactly three and a third innings before Snyder came hustling to his rescue. Two of the nine drives collected from Kuhnert's offerings were homers by King and Harvey, the former's blow traveling almost all the way over the big field before Johnny Bleir could retrieve it. "Babe" Clapper, who served them up for the sailors, was the victim of both his own ineffective pitching and the poor support on the part of his teammates. Especially in the second inning, when the yardmen crossed the platter six times, was the fielding of the Naval nine ragged.

TARHEEL NETMEN WIN.

Chapel Hill, N. C., April 27 (A.P.).—Bryan Grant, of Atlanta, Tarheel ace, beat Teddy Burwell, of Charlotte, 6—2, 6—2, here today to give the University of North Carolina a 6 to 0 victory over the Sewanee Tennis Team. The victory enabled the Tarheels to keep their season record of straight shut-out victories clear.

Lacrosse Given Place In 1932 Olympics

Barcelona, Spain, April 27 (A.P.).—William Gurland, of Los Angeles, a delegate to the general meeting of the Olympic committee, which closed its sessions here yesterday, today said lacrosse would be included on the program of the 1932 Olympics at Los Angeles.

Lacrosse, a game said to have originated among North American Indians, was played at the 1928 Olympics at Amsterdam, but only as an exhibition among England, the United States and Canada. It had been planed to have those countries, Australia and perhaps two or three others, play an exhibition series at Los Angeles.

G. W. NETMEN PLAY.

George Washington's tennis team will entertain the Hampden-Sidney College netmen at Columbia Country Club this afternoon starting at 2 o'clock. In a match on the visitors' grounds last week, G. W. was victorious, 7 to 2.

Virginia Frosh Beaten By Petersburg High

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., April 27.—A three-run rally in the ninth gave Petersburg High a 9-to-7 victory over Virginia's freshman team here this afternoon.

The visitors, who came here with a record of ten victories in twelve starts, presented a clever twirler in Tipton, who fanned thirteen. He was nicked for thirteen hits, however, including six doubles.

Chinn, who started on the mound for the Freshmen, gave way in the fourth to Babcock, who yielded but two hits.

Elon Defeats Generals, 9 to 6, in 12th Inning

Lexington, Va., April 27.—Elon College's baseball team went on a rampage in the twelfth inning of their game with Washington and Lee here this afternoon and converted three singles, a double, an error and a fielder's choice into three runs to give them a 9-to-6 victory.

Billy Methvin, Washington and Lee portsider, had a two-run lead going into the ninth inning, but singles by Waters, Chandler, Fogleman and Abernathy and Stapleton's miscue gave the Carolinians three runs and the momentary lead. Jarrett singled in the Generals' half of the ninth, Violett sacrificed, and Jarrett scored on Methvin's squeeze play.

Marines Win Third From Temple Nine, 7-3

Special to The Washington Post.

Quantico, Va., April 27.—For the third time in succession the All-Marine Team defeated Temple University here today, 7 to 3. The game was hard fought and interesting until the eighth, when the Devil Dogs clinched the game by scoring three runs.

"Farmer Boy" Couch was again called into the game to relieve Smith. This gives the Farmer a record of pitching in all three games of the series, wininng two of them and saving another for Smith. The University boys played poorly afield, which was responsible for five of the Marine tallies.

St. John's Lacrossemen Rout Virginia, 12 to 0

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., April 27.—St. John's lacrosse team, using a revised line-up, this afternoon defeated Virginia, 12—0. The Cavaliers held visitors to one goal in first twenty five minutes of play, but the Johnnies' attack rallied and scored five times before intermission. Six goals were added in second half.

Coach Moore used only two seniors in the starting line-up of the national championship twelve. Capt. Pool shot ball into the crease after less than three minutes of action. Then the Virginia defense tightened and was not penetrated until within five minutes of half time when Pool put in two goals less than sixty seconds apart. Carpenter added two and Zeigler one before time was called.

Virginia's attack was ineffective throughout the hour of play, though the visitors' goal was threatened several times. Joh started counting for Johnnies after five minutes had passed, Zeigler got two goals and Athey, Trader and Lotz one each. Capt. Debutts and Bill Byrd stood out in Cavalier defensive play.

inning when Cronin doubled to left and Derr singled to the same sector. In the third Derr walked, went to third on an error by Furtado and counted when Duke dropped Chalmer's fly in center.

State got its first run in the fourth inning when Goodman singled to left, stole second, advanced on an infield out and crossed on Turner's pop single over Derr's head. Maryland made up for this tally in the sixth on a walk to Cronin, Berger's infield out and a two-base error by Gerock, State first baseman, who threw high over third base in an attempt to catch the runner.

the third out with men on first and third.

Judge did the unusual of getting a putout at second, ending the Yankees' hectic fifth, hustling to the middle sack to take the throw from Bluege when Byrd was trapped between second and third following Manush's error on his liner.

Sighs of relief were heard throughout the stands when Spencer camped under Gehrig's high foul to end the sixth with three Yankees on the runways.

Dave Harris' clout, while pinch-hitting for Crowder opening the Nats' seventh, was a prodigious one, hitting the fence to the left of the flag pole on the fly It netted Dave three bases.

Sam Rice made a nice try for Pinch-Hitter Ruffing's liner in the ninth but the ball bounced out of his hands when he fell trying to make a shoe-string catch.

Combs personally retired the Nats in their ninth, making all three putouts. He had to come in fast for Myer's short looper opening the session for the natives.

Gehrig was credited with his third stolen base of the game in the tenth, when he pilfered with Chapman on third. Spencer bluffed a throw to second and then pegged to Bluege, but too late to get the runner hustling back.

N. C. DEFEATS GENERALS ON TRACK

W. and L. Nosed Out in Final Events; Williams Star.

Special to The Washington Post.

LEXINGTON, Va., April 27.—Washington and Lee's track team failed by points here this afternoon of putting to an end North Carolina University's eight-year reign in Dixie Fields as the visiting Tarheels carried off an exciting meet 64 2—3 to 61 1—3.

A large crowd watched unexpected upsets shift the lead in scoring first one way and then the other. With two events remaining, the broad jump and the half mile, the Generals needed a first and two seconds or two firsts to win. Broderick ran a game race in the half-mile, failing by inches of catching Watkins at the tape. Williams took the broad jump, but Howard and Brown, of Carolina, nosed out Hill for the deciding place.

Williams Tops Scorers.

Leigh Williams, Washington and Lee's four-sport star, discarded his baseball suit to win the quarter-mile and broad jump to lead in point scoring. Finklestein with a first and second in the hurdles was second with eight points.

Brown, Carolina field star, with a first in the javelin, a second in the shot, and thirds in the broad jump and discus, gathered ten points to lead his mates. The only track record bettered was the high hurdles when Algy Speer, Generals' veteran performer, lowered his own record two-fifths of a second by running the event in 15 seconds flat.

Penn Noses Out Duke, 11-10, Rallying in 10th

Philadelphia, April 27 (A.P.).—A four-run rally in the eighth inning gave Pennsylvania an 11-to-10 victory today over the Duke University Baseball Team. It was the Southerner's first defeat of the season. The Red and Blue worked two double steals during the free-hitting contest, and Martens, Penn's first baseman, stole home in the fourth inning. Harrington, who played center for Duke, had three hits, including a double, in four times at bat.

Hagerstown Sponsors Own Team In League

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., April 27.—Hagerstown and Martinsburg will not operate a joint team in the approaching Middle Atlantic League race, Joe Cambria, Baltimore business man and sports promoter, announced here today. Instead, Hagerstown will have a club all of its own, while this city will be without organized ball.

Last winter Cambria, following the collapse of the Blue Ridge League, was awarded a franchise in the Middle Atlantic loop, apparently for Hagerstown. Several weeks ago, however, he announced that he was undecided whether to place the club there or bring it to Martinsburg. Subsequently he considered dividing his home schedule between both cities.

The Baltimorean made it public here that Martinsburg had never sought his club, but that he had considered this city seriously up until the time the Maryland Legislature passed the statute legalizing Sunday ball in Washington County, in which Hagerstown is located. With baseball in the Hub city on Sunday, he declared, he had decided to remain there.

TUESDAY MORNING — The Washington Post. — APRIL 28, 1931.

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

SAFE IN CLARENDON IS ROBBED AT NIGHT

Virginia Public Service Firm Office Is Entered; Second in Week.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 500. Clarendon, Va.

Forcing the door leading to the bookkeeper's office of the Virginia Public Service Co. in Clarendon, thieves ransacked the safe sometime between Saturday at 5:20 p. m. and 7:30 a. m. yesterday.

The office is located on the second floor of the Spaulding Building and adjoins that of the manager, J. O. Burks.

Sheriff Howard B. Fields went to the building with Officers James D. East and Jack Conway. Efforts to find finger prints failed after inspection of the safe doors.

Manager Burks stated yesterday afternoon that the investigation into the loss revealed that about $900, including a number of checks, are missing, as well as some of his personal papers, including a $7,500 life insurance policy and stocks of the company amounting to $300.

Sheriff Fields said the work apparently was that of amateurs. The condition of the safe shows that a hammer and chisel were used to gain entry to the safe.

This is the second robbery of a similar nature reported to police in the past week. The other case was that of the smashing of a small safe in the office of Dr. J. C. Boston, in the Kelley Building, not more than a block away from the offices of the Virginia Public Service Co. This robbery was in daylight.

Selection of the personnel of the subcommittee on competition and awards of the county beautification contest committee has been made by Walter F. Sunderman, chairman of the committee.

Members of the subcommittee are: Mrs. Joseph Haley, chairman; oland D. Mitchell, Thomas J. Crack, Mrs. A. Dexter Davis, Mrs. Hugh Reid, Hat Hynes, Mrs. Harry A. Fellows, Claude H. Deaton, Mrs. John Maycock, Francis Van Doren and Mrs. Grace Donaldson.

The subcommittee will meet at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Joseph Haley, of Lyon Village, next Monday evening to determine what competitions are to be held in connection with the beautification program rules governing awards will be drawn.

Mr. Sunderman announced that selections will be made in the next few days of the personnel of the subcommittees on trophies and prizes, information and publicity, judges and public ceremonies for awarding the prizes at the conclusion of the contest on or about May 30.

Bids for construction of the new Community Methodist Church in Aurora Heights, Arlington County, were opened last night by the building committee, of which Clarence R. Ahalt is chairman. Of the ten bids submitted, ranging from $33,000 to $25,279, the lowest was that submitted by Samuel Anderson, of Arlington County.

The committee will meet tonight, at which time all the bids will be considered and the question of awarding contract determined.

Plans and specifications for the building, which will be of brick, were prepared by A. F. Thelander, architect.

Charged with carrying concealed weapons, Hunter Cooper yesterday was fined $14.25, including costs, and given a jail sentence of 60 days by Police Judge Harry R. Thomas.

Fire of unknown origin threatened the home of L. A. Brown, of Clarendon, yesterday afternoon causing damages estimated at $2,500.

Firemen called from Clarendon and Ballston found the roof in flames and, with streams of water soon playing on the roof, saved it from being destroyed.

Arguments on demurrers to a number of suits been filed by the State for the payment of delinquent real estate taxes will be heard Friday morning at 10 o'clock before Circuit Court Judge Walter T. McCarthy, at Arlington County Courthouse. The demurrers numbering about 23, were filed last December by Attorney's Jesse, Phillips and Klinge.

The suits were brought in the name of the State by Commonwealth's attorney William C. Gloth after former Judge Howard W. Smith had ruled that similar suits brought in the name of the county were unconstitutional.

The Fidelis Circle, of St. George's Episcopal Church, will give a benefit luncheon at the parish hall tomorrow from 12 to 11:30 o'clock.

The county health department reports that out of an enrollment in the public schools of 3,542, which does not include the Washington Lee High School, there have been 3,448 inspections made. The report is divided as follows:

Number of white children found with defects, 1774, colored, 410; number under weight, white, 641, colored, 35; defective teeth, white, 1734, colored, 328; defective eyesight, white, 343, colored, 92; defective hearing, white, 40 colored, 5; defective throats, white, 506, colored, 145; number found not vaccinated, white, 7, colored, 3. The total enrollment of white children is 2,964, colored, 578.

Dr. P. M. Chinchester, county health officer, stated that corrections are now being made.

Miss Daisy West, principal of the Thomas Nelson Page School at Ballston, announces the following list of pupils on the honor roll for the month by grades:

FOUR VIRGINIANS WIN UNIVERSITY AWARDS

Columbian Scholarships Will Go to Three Men and One Woman.

Richmond, Va., April 27 (A.P.).—Awards of 94 fellowships and scholarships for 1931-32, with a total value of about $100,000, including those to four Virginians, were announced here today in a communication from Frank D. Fackenthal, of the Columbia University council.

Twenty-seven alternates were also named. The recipients represent 55 American and foreign colleges and universities.

The Virginians awarded the Columbia fellowships were: Robert Smith Simpson, Cherrydale Postoffice, B. S., University of Virginia, 1927, M. S., University of Virginia, 1928, candidate for LL. B., Cornell University, 1931, in public law; Howard Hayward Hackley, Castleton, A. B., University of Virginia, candidate for LL. B., University of Virginia, 1931, law; Helen Ruth Henderson, Council, A. B., Virginia Intermont College, 1916, A. B., Westhampton College, 1921, Chambers Fellow, 1930-1931, education; and Frederick Deane Goodwin Ribble, University, Va., A. B., William and Mary, 1916, A. M., University of Virginia, 1917, LL. B., University of Virginia, 1921, law.

Sixty-six of the new fellows and scholars were men, and 28 were women.

Dust Explosion Tests To Be Conducted Today

The Chemical Engineering Division of the Bureau of Chemistry and Soils, of which David J. Price is engineer in charge, will conduct dust explosion tests at the Arlington Farm of the Department of Agriculture today at 11 o'clock.

The "dust explosion house" is protected from destruction by several swinging iron vent doors of various sizes. The demonstration will be given for the instruction of a group of battalion chiefs of the Baltimore Fire Department and officials of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co.

Curry Will Command At Maxwell Air Field

(Associated Press.)

Maj. John F. Curry, assistant commandant of the Army Air Tactical School at Langley Field, Virginia, has been designated to become commanding officer of Maxwell Field, Montgomery, Ala., with the removal of the Ttactical School from Langley Field to the Army's Alabama air base, about July 15.

Maj. Curry will succeed Maj. Walter R. Weaver. The removal of the school from Langley Field to Maxwell Field is part of the Army's recently announced reorganization of its aviation instruction system.

Youth, Victim of Auto, Will Be Buried Today

Special to The Washington Post.

Leesburg, Va., April 27.—Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock for Raymond Crouch, 21, of Leesburg, who died Sunday night at the Loudoun County Hospital from injuries received Sunday morning when he was struck by an automobile in Leesburg.

It is thought that young Crouch stepped in front of the car, said to have been driven by Robert Downs, of lower Loudoun County, and owned by him. It is reported that the Downs car was passing another car at the time of the accident. Burial will be in the Union Cemetery here.

Funeral Is Conducted For Mrs. Robert Davis

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., April 27—The body of Mrs. Robert H. Davis, who died at her home in St. Louis, Mo., reached here yesterday, and the funeral was held at 12:45 o'clock from the University Chapel, the service being conducted by the Rev. Robert F. Gibson, rector of the Christ Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Davis was a sister-in-law of Dr. John Staige Davis, of the faculty of the University of Virginia. Besides her husband, she is survived by two children, Robert H. Davis, jr., and Mathilde Davis.

USE OF PSYCHOLOGY BY DOCTORS HOPED

Dr. William A. White Talks at Fraternity's Rites in Charlottesville.

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., April 27.—That the physician of the future will come to the bedside of the patient as well equipped to administer to the psychology of the mind and the emotions as he is now to bodily ailments, was the hope expressed by Dr. William A. White, prominent psychiatris and head of St. Elizabeths Hospital, Washington, D. C., in an address following initiation of ten new members into Alpha Omera Alpha, national honorary medical fraternity, at the University of Virginia.

"The significance of phychological medicine," said Dr. White, "is that the human body is coming to be greater understood and its relation to the mind shown more clearly. In the practice of psychiatry there are what are called psychoses, defense, compensatory, malignant psychoses, which are worked with as the physician works with actual organisms. They are, it is true, a series of ideas, but their effect is so tremendously significant upon human behavior that they are coming to occupy a place of importance beside known physical phenomena."

It is in this broad conception of life, declared the speaker, this recognizing of the motions, that a vast future lies for the medical profession and the teaching of the human being as a human being and not as a "decapitated" series of connected organs that is hoped for.

Rites for Suicide To Be Held Today

Arden Farmer's Funeral to Be in Cove District as Note Requested.

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., April 27.—Because he stated in a note, written just before he killed himself yesterday at home with a target rifle, that he didn't want any preachers in the neighborhood to preach his funeral, arrangements were made today to hold the last rites for James William Frye, 69, Arden farmer, at the St. John Church in Cove District, 15 miles distant.

Burial will follow the service tomorrow at the church cemetery. Arden is near Philippi.

Ill health and financial troubles prompted the suicide. Just before killing himself, Frye stopped the clocks in the house. His widow survives.

Dry Officer Hurt In Auto Collision

Hobart Brink's Car Upset in Crash With Hearse in Baltimore.

Hobart D. Brink, 40 years old, prohibition officer in charge of Fort McHenry, Md., is in a serious condition in the South Baltimore General Hospital suffering from concussion of tthe brain and severe lacerations to his head, received when the automobile he was driving collided with a hearse yesterday afternoon in Baltimore. He told police he lived in Takoma Park, Md.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Jackson and Clement streets. Brink's machine overturned. He told police that he failed to see the hearse.

William Barlage, of Baltimore, who police say was driving the hearse, was charged with reckless driving and summoned to appear in traffic court. Brink will be charged with failing to give the right of way when he is released from the hospital, police said.

FAIRCLOTH TAKES STAND AS WITNESS

Former Capital Publisher Defends Self in Trial for Bank Fraud.

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Md., April 27.—Trial of John G. Faircloth in the United States District Court here was continued until tomorrow shortly after the defendant took the witness stand in his own defense today, the third day of his trial.

Faircloth is charged with aiding in the misapplication of funds of the First National Bank, of Mount Rainier, Md. He was indicted jointly with Clarence F. Schatz, former cashier of the bank, who is alleged to have misapplied $39,000 by kiting checks.

Faircloth asked for a separate trial, and Schatz has been one of the principal Government witnesses in the prosecution which is being conducted by Simon E. Sobeloff, United States Attorney, and O. Norman Forrest, Assistant United States Attorney.

The defendant is a former president of the Mayflower Publishing Co., of Washington, whose bank account, it is said, was used by Schatz and Faircloth in their check manipulations.

Beyond stating his previous business connections, Faircloth testified to little today. It is expected, however, that he will finish testifying tomorrow, and the case will go to the jury shortly thereafter.

Virginia Robber Suspect Is Freed in Skaggs Case

Norfolk, Va., April 27 (A.P.).—Judge W. H. Sargeant, in Corporation Court, today entered an order dismissing a charge of robbery against William Harper, Negro, previously convicted and then acquitted on a charge of criminally assaulting Mrs. Dorothy Skaggs, of Portsmouth.

In the robbery indictment he was charged with taking a purse and $1.50 from Mrs. Skaggs. The woman is now under indictment on a perjury charge as a result of sharp contradictions of testimony during the Harper trials.

Virginia Woman Suffers Stroke.

Lynchburg, Va., April 27 (Special)—Mrs. H. H. Harris, whose husband is a member of the State Board of Education and who recently resigned as president of the State Chamber of Commerce, suffered a stroke of paralysis at her home here Sunday. She was unconscious today and her condition is regarded as critical.

Rockville Jury Decides for Defendant in Auto Wreck Case.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

A jury in Circuit Court at Rockville yesterday found for Miss Marjorie Bernard, of Brunswick, Md., who had been sued for damages as result of a Baltimore automobile accident by Dr. David E. Wegleind, superintendent of public schools of Baltimore. The case had been removed to Montgomery County from Frederick.

Dr. Wegleind alleged that through negligent driving by Miss Bernard his car had been overturned and he had been seriously injured January 10, 1930, at the intersection of Edmondston avenue and Poplar Grove street, Baltimore. Miss Bernard testified that she had halted at the intersection and had then started across and had not seen the doctor's car until just before it turned over.

The right frotn bumper of the Bernard car had been loosened, but this was the only damage suffered by her car. The four passengers were uninjured. Dr. Wegleid was treated for a broken arm and lacerations on the scalp at a Baltimore hospital. Miss Bernard was represented by Attorneys Albert M. Bouic, of Rockville, and William M. Storm, of Baltimore. The jury was out about 20 minutes.

Montgomery County police at the Silver Spring substation no longer will be able to crow over newspapermen who go down to deefat before the checker clique. Chief of Police Alvie A. Moxley has decreed that there be no more checker games in the precinct.

Just why the chief decided against the innocuous game is not known. Perhaps he fell before the checks and double checks of "Charlie" Barnes, redoubtable checkster, or it may have been that he decided that inasmuch as card games had been prohibited at the headquarters in Rockville it was not fair for the suburban men to enjoy their leisure moments.

Whatever the reason, a notice was posted on the bulletin board yesterday: "To al lpolice in this station: There is to be no checker playing in this office at any time. By order of A. A. Moxley, chief of police."

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Takoma Park Volunteer Fire Department will serve a luncheon every Thursday from 11 a. m. to 2 p. m., it was announced yesterday by Mrs. W. T. Sabine. The luncheon will be served at the fire hall for benefit of the department.

Three Montgomery County policemen yesterday had the "watchful waiting" championship fairly well cinched, they believe. After more than two hours of patient searching they located a cache in which was hidden a five-gallon jug of alleged liquor. George Smother, 50 years old, colored, of Kensington, Md., was arrested and taken to the Rockville Jail on possession charges. He later was released on $500 bond.

The three policemen, E. R. Jones, John Butts and Paul Watkins, searched every section of the house and outbuildings without result until finally they unearthed the cache under a floor.

Frost Feared by Fruit Growers of Maryland

Special to The Washington Post.

Hagerstown, Md., April 27.—A dropping mercury tonight and forecast of a heavy frost in western Maryland tomorrow caused much apprehension among fruit growers in the great peach belt here. A bumper crop is in prosect and growers believed the danger period passed when the mercury today fell to 35, and even lower temperature is forecast for tomorrow.

Only on two occasions in the last 30 years has fruit been nipped by frost after April 25. Pear, plum and sweet cherry trees are also in full blossom, but apple buds are not out enough to be caught by a freeze.

ALEXANDRIA STREET WIDENING TAKEN UP

Meeting of City Councilors and Public Utility Men Goes Into Details.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

A special meeting of the city council was held yesterday afternoon to discuss the proposed ordinance providing for the widening of Washington street in places where traffic is most congested, or parking temporarily is habitual, by setting the curb line back, and also to acquaint the representatives of the various public utilities with the provisions for placing wires under ground and eliminating poles and wires from Washington street entirely. This, however, will not effect wires crossing Washington street where the poles are located on cross streets.

The present plan is to set the curb back 7 feet in the 100 block of north Washington street, beginning at the alley by the Methodist Protestant Church on the west side of the street, and in front of the Cawood Motor Co. Garage on the east side, and continuing south on Washington street, taking in the entire 100 block south, and the 200 block to the hospital alley on the west side and the Baptist Church alley o nthe east side, thereby widening the street well beyond the Confederate Monument, allowing for parking space in front of the new postoffice building, just south of the monument and in the 100 block of south Washington street, giving parking space in frotn of the George Mason Hotel, the Virginia Public Service Building and the Trinity and Methodist Episcopal Church South. While in the 100 block of north Washington street the widened thoroughfare allows for buses that stop on both sides of the street.

Representatives of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., the Virginia Public Service Co., the Alexandria Gas Light Co., the Alexandria Water Co. and the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companes were present to have the plans explained to them, and take up with their respective companies immediately the placing of wires underground, or relocating them, and the gas and water companies arranging for any needed work before paving of the Mount Vernoon boulevard is laid.

This ordinance also carries with it the revoking of the permits for two curb filling stations, those of the Alexandria Auto Supply, 104 South Washington street, and Ewald's, 701 North Washington street.

Work was started yesterday by the contractors of the Mount Vernon boulevard, and Washington street has been torn up from Hunting Creek to Wolfe street, coming north, and that street is now open only to southbound traffic; northbound traffic is routed over Patrick street.

This matter will come up for action at a special meeting of the council to be held on Thursday of this week, when a councilman will probably be selected to fill the vacancy still existing in that body. Several names have been mentioned for the place, but the one most prominently talked of is that of Orlando H. Kirk, of Braddock Heights, in the newly annexed territory, although Mr. Kirk is identified with the city in business, having, with his brother, Harry D. Kirk, succeeded his father, the late Harrison Kirk, in the wholesale grocery firm of H. Kirk & Sons, and since disposing of that business bought out the firm of DeW. Aitchesen, wood and coal. He is a former president of the George Washington Birthday Association, and is also treasurer of the Confederate monument committee.

Seth Gordon, president of the American Game Association, will be the guest of honor at a joint meeting of the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs at 12:30 o'clock today at the George Mason Hotel. The Rotary Club will be host to the Kiwanis and Judge William S. Snow, president of the Rotary, who is a member of the Virginia Game and Fish Commission, will be in charge of the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gibson have sold to Albert W. Higgins the colonial frame dwelling house at 523 South Washington streets, which is over 150 years old and was for five generations the home of the White family, the last owner of that name being the late Thomas W. White, who was a teller in the First aNtional Bank. Shortly after the World War the property was sold to Maj. Jeter Horton, U. S. M. C., who restored it and named the place Old Corners, and within the past year Mr. and Mrs. Gibson bought the property. According to tradition the house was a tavern in the time of George Washington.

Plans are completed for the recital at 3 o'clock this afternoon at St. Agnes Episcopal School, under the auspices of that school, by Mrs. Ethel Garrett-Kaspar, pianist, and Mrs. Lucy MacMorland, soloist. The recital will be followed by a tea, with Miss Marguerite Chapman, principal, presiding, assisted by the members of the faculty and the senior class.

Harry Hammond, chairman of the finance committee, and Col. John H. Trimyer, treasurer, have sent out a letter soliciting funds for the Boy Scout work in the city. They are asking for $2,300 to continue the program of work inaugurate din the pats several years.

The hearing of the suit of Earl Dodd against Police Sergts. Edgar Sims and Lawrence Padgett and Policemen Jones and Curtis for $5,000 for alleged unlawfully entering his home in the 600 block South Alfred street, will begin this morning in the corporation court. The jury selected is composed of John U. Reardon, William A. Royster, Joseph B. Collins, G. Raymond Gaines, Alfred Thompson, John D. Matter, A. M. Sherwood, Robert W. Schneider and David N. Hulfish.

Hoover to Start Lee Highway Work

President to Break Ground for Road Friday at Fort Buffalo.

"President Hoover, when he was Secretary of Commerce, presided at a meeting held in this city for the purpose of urging the triumphal entry of Lee Highway into Washington over a monumental boulevard 200 feet wide," said Dr. S. M. Johnson, president of the National Boulevard Association, yesterday, "and it is a source of great gratification to the association, to the State of Virginia and to the nation at large that he has consented to participate in the ground-breaking ceremonies Friday at 2:30 o'clock, at Fort Buffalo, Va."

Gov. John Garland Pollard of Virginia, who is to make the principal address on this occasion, has unqualifiedly expressed his enthusiasm for the work being undertaken, which is to eventually bring into reality a corridor 200 feet wide connecting Washington with Shenandoah National Park.

The ground-breaking ceremony Friday will inaugurate the work which is to be the culmination of several years of effort on the part of Dr. Johnson; of the central committee of the National Boulevard Association, whose chairman is George A. G. Wood; of the right of way committee, under the chairmanship of W. S. Hoge, jr., and their assisting committees.

PILGRIMAGE TO VISIT HOLLIN HALL ESTATE

Wakefield Garden Tour to Be Conducted Tomorrow and Thursday.

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 2324-W-2.

Officials of the Virginia State Garden Clubs and the Garden Club of Fairfax have perfected last-minute arrangements whereby Hollin Hall, in Mount Vernon District, of Fairfax County, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Peyton Wilson, will be included in the Wakefield garden pilgrimage tomorrow and Thursday. Mrs. Amos H. Chilcott and Mrs. Frederick D. Richardson, of Fairfax, will be in charge both days.

Hollin Hall stands on the site of the original house built by George Mason for his son, Thompson. This house was destroyed by fire. The original spinning house, where the Mason family lived after the fire, is still preserved, and, with the guest house on the estate, will be thrown open to visitors tomorrow and Thursday without additional charge. This is the first time Hollin Hall has been open to the public.

In improving the grounds, Mrs. Wilson has planted much boxwood, and has added a new English garden, willed in with old bricks, and many fruit trees are in bloom. The nautral park in which the house is located has a large number of dogwood trees in bloom.

Fifty per cent of the proceeds go to the Wakefield Memorial Association, and 50 per cent to the Fairfax Garden Club, of which Mrs. Wilson is vice president.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Volunteer Fire Department at McLean will hold its regular meeting this evening at the home of Mrs. Fred Magarity.

The Fairfax County Grange will hold its quarterly meeting this evening in the Woodlawn Community House near the entrance of Fort Humphrey on the Washington-Richmond highway. The Mount Vernon Grange, of Woodlawn, will act as host. Following the business session a program will be presented under direction of Mrs. A. Harmon Roberts, lecturer of the Pomona and Mount Vernon Granges.

The principal events on the program will be songs by the Mount Vernon Grange quartet; a talk on "Dairy Herd Improvement," by Mark Turner, of the Great Falls Granges, at Forestville; a talk on "Flowers Around the Farm and Home," by Mrs. H. H. Ankers, of the Pioneer Granges, of Masonville; a reading, by Mrs. L. I. Dolph, of Mount Vernon Grange; "The History of Farm Machinery," by C. C. Carr, of the Centerville Granges, at Aakton, and a talk by Wison McNair, of the Floris Grange, at Floris.

Carl E. Sebastian, G street northwest, Washington, and Ernest C. Cook, of Potomac street northwest, Washington, were treated for cuts and bruises at Alexandria Hospital yesterday afternoon by Dr. W. E. Beattie. They were riding a motorcycle when it skidded from the highway and overturned near Annandale.

The Sunday School Council, of the Chesterbrook Methodist Church will meet today at the home of Mrs. Gilbert Beall in Chesterbrook. Miss Etta Mai Russell, primary leader of the Baltimore conference, will be principal speaker.

The Woman's Guild of the St. John's Episcopal Church will meet this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Carl Chester Grimes, at Langley. Mrs. Bruno Wittig will act as joint hostess to the luncheon. The guild will elect officers.

The 4-H Club at the Fairview School, at Fairfax Station, will hold a business meeting this morning in the schoolhouse.

The night branch of the Woman's Auxiliary of Falls Church will meet tonight at the home of Mrs. Edward Fenwick.

The Rev. George Connor, pastor of the Crossman Methodist Church at Falls Church, has called a meeting of the Sunday school board for this evening, at the home of Sunday School Superintendent R. S. Holmes.

The woman's class of the Columbia Baptist Church Sunday school will meet this afternoon.

Miss Sarah E. Thomas, Fairfax County home demonstration agent, will give a demonstration on "Inexpensive Methods of Making the Home Kitchin Attractive," at the meeting of the Home Demonstration Club at Andrew Chapel this afternoon.

County Agricultural Agent H. P. Derr will give an illustrated lecture on "Farm and Garden Landscaping" this eening at Centerville School.

Montgomery Lays Social Fund Plans

Bethesda Gathering Is Told Amount to Be Raised Is $8,000.

Branch chairmen to conduct the annual campaign for funds for the Social Service League of Montgomery County which begins May 8, were chosen at a meeting of the finance committee last night in the County Building at Bethesda.

W. B. Armstrong, chairman of the finance committee, presided. He read a letter from Berry E Clark, clerk to the Montgomery County Commissioners, stating that the commissioners as usual would contribute $11,000 to the fund. The amount to be raised by private subscription is $8,000.

The campaign will be inaugurated with a banquet at the Manor Club, near Norbeck, the night of May 8, under direction of Mrs. George C. Chinn and Miss Estelle Moore.

Hours of Razor Sales For Shaving Limited

London, April 27 (A.P.).—During certain hours you can not buy razor blades in London's drug stores if you want them for shaving.

However, if you corn is bothering you the lowly razor blade becomes a "surgical instrument," and the druggist can legally sell one.

This fine point was settled when a druggist appealed to the courts for a ruling after arguing vainly with bewhiskered tourists who, despite the proprietor's knowing winks, insisted their corns didn't hurt.

Mules of Louisiana Thrive on Molasses

Baton Rouge, La., April 27 (A.P.).—Good results can be had by feeding a mule molasses.

Feeding six pounds of molasses in place of a similar amount of corn resulted in a saving of $20.50 per mule in a two-year period, the Louisiana State University Experiment Station reports.

Blackstrap molasses is a product of the sugar cane industry and is abundant in Louisiana at prices as low as six cents a gallon.

RELATIVITY OF NEWS.

WHAT do I care for Chile, Honduras, Spain?—Forsooth! Gimme some news that's vital— What are the facts on Ruth?

Scrap all those items Spanish— News of Alfonso's jam; Burn all that junk on China— Tell me about the "Bam!"

Scrap all that dope on Wall street, Burn all the stock news gray; What do I care for trade news— How is the Babe today?

This for King Carol's scandals! That for King George's gout! All that I want to know is When will the Babe be out?

SPEAKING OF TITLES—

The King of Siam is a golf enthusiast. And we'll bet he would gleefully swap those titles of Arbiter of the Tides, Brother of the Moon and Custodian of the Twenty Umbrellas for an official designation as Master of the Mashie Niblick, Daddy of the No. 2 Iron, Lord of the 20-Foot Putt and Supreme Archon of the Water Hazard.
